The Honorable Paul De Muniz, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, administered the Oath of Office to the Honorable Ted Kulongoski, Governor-elect.

The Honorable Ted Kulongoski, Governor of Oregon, delivered the following Inaugural Address:

“Speaker Merkley, President Courtney, members of the 74th Legislative Assembly, my former colleagues on the Oregon Supreme Court, Governor Roberts, friends and fellow citizens: I’m honored to share this day with you.

“Before I say more – I want to say thank you: First to the people of Oregon – and a special thank you to my wonderful wife Mary. To my children Ted, Kristin, and Justin, their mother Lynn, and the most important blessing I received in 2006 – my first grandchild, Peter.

“I also want to remember my mother-in-law, Elizabeth Oberst, and my father-in-law, Paul Oberst, who as lawyers in the 1960s helped bring the walls of discrimination tumbling down. My parents-in-law were a great inspiration. Their lives were a roadmap for me – and countless others – for how to live a life of integrity and moral courage.

“Today I am inspired again – by the thousands of Oregon soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines serving our state and nation in Iraq and Afghanistan. Over Thanksgiving I visited these Oregon heroes in both countries. Many of our troops gave me the telephone numbers of loved ones and asked me to call over the Christmas holidays with Christmas greetings from them – which I was honored to do. I tell you – these brave young men and women are the best Oregon has to give.

“They have sacrificed in ways we can hardly imagine. But their place in history is not hard to imagine. Shakespeare gave us the words: “This story shall the good man teach his son ... From this day to the ending of the world, we in it shall be remembered; we few, we happy few, we band of brothers.” With that I ask for a moment of silence in remembrance of the 77 Oregonians, including 15 from the Oregon National Guard, who have made the ultimate sacrifice in Iraq and Afghanistan – and their courageous families.

“In his second inaugural, President Lincoln noted that there was little new that he could say about the previous four years. His war-ravaged nation knew what it had been through. Our last four years have been difficult. But the people of Oregon know that. After all, it was their resilience; their hard work; and their deep faith that brought us back from the worst economic collapse since the Great Depression.

“So I am not here to talk about what was. I’m here to talk with you about what will be. This is a great moment of opportunity for Oregon. Our economy is strong. Our confidence is renewed. Our belief in the future is redeemed. I have another belief – that every citizen shares my vision for turning this great moment of opportunity into Oregon’s longest and strongest period of prosperity.

“We have the opportunity to fully fund education – from pre-school through workforce training – while building a reserve fund that will shelter us from the storm of the next recession.

“We have the opportunity to see that every Oregon child has access to quality health care.

“We have the opportunity to protect our quality of life and preserve our reputation as a people who honor our natural environment.

“We have the opportunity to make Oregon a leader in alternative and renewable energy.

“We have the opportunity to protect all of our citizens from all forms of discrimination.

“We have the opportunity to strengthen Oregon’s cultural legacy.

“And we have the opportunity to make sure that when a fellow Oregonian – faced with a global economy that moves jobs around the world like pieces on a chess board, and continually demands more education and greater skills – asks, “Does anyone care about me?” and “Who will give me a chance?” the answer comes back loud and clear from each and every one of us: We will!

“The next four years is more than an opportunity to build on the gathering strength of Oregon’s economy. It is an opportunity to remember why we love this place called Oregon – and wouldn’t live anywhere else.

“Oregon is the state that beckons us to search out and find where the sunrise begins and the river ends: Part nature, part spirit, part memory, part dream – and always asserting its independence and freedom to think different.

“There is nothing wrong with setting limits. And there is everything right about making sustainability the fundamental test of our social, economic and environmental policies. But we must never set limits on the spirit and conscience of Oregon, which is to always do better, see farther, think smarter, and imagine greater.

“Opportunity did not carry me across the finish line. But it did put me on the starting line. And that’s all I ever wanted. My story is not so different from your story – and the story of millions of other Oregonians. We weren’t asking for a guarantee of success – just an opportunity to find success. So in this gray and rainy season, I tell you that opportunity is the sunlight and water that will give every child in Oregon – from Ontario to Lincoln City – the chance to bloom.

“Opportunity transforms equity and fairness from moral words into social and economic action – and closes the gap, as we must, between those who have found the American Dream and those whose faces are pressed up against the window of that Dream.

“Opportunity lifts Oregonians – of every race and ethnic background – onto the economic ladder, allowing them to learn a skill, find a family wage job, purchase a home, pay for health insurance, and save for college. And opportunity is a message to every Oregonian worried about what tomorrow will bring.

“These fellow citizens did everything that was expected of them: They worked hard. Paid their taxes. Supported their schools. Raised their children. And kept our economy on track. So to every Oregon family and Oregon worker who feels insecure about the future, I make this promise: We will not abandon you. We have not stopped needing you. We will help retrain you – and see that you have the skills you need to compete in a global marketplace.

“Why should we pay so much attention to giving the gift of opportunity? Because opportunity is the Oregon way. We are not a place that tells our fellow citizens: You’re on your own. We care about each other – and watch out for each other. Our neighborhoods and cultural traditions are sewn together into one quilt – not separated by walls and fences, or mountains and valleys. We do not move ahead by leaving others behind. We move ahead by tapping the skills, creativity and potential of each and every one of us. That makes opportunity a two-way street. We invest in the individual – and that investment pays for itself many times over for all of Oregon.

“I said that we have reached a defining moment of opportunity for Oregon. But to seize that opportunity we must stand united. Too often we are defined by our differences – usually measured by our support or opposition to this ballot measure or that social issue, or by where we live – or our way of life.

“But defining ourselves by our differences can never move us forward. And opportunity is all about moving forward. I don’t expect any of us to give up our core values. And as long as we are a state made up of diverse people, from diverse places, contributing to the economy in diverse ways – we’re going to have lively debates.

“But sure as I am standing here, there is only one way that we can take advantage of the opportunity that comes with a growing economy, we must work out our different points of view by working together! Before we are members of political parties – we are Oregonians. Before we are shop owners or shop stewards – we are Oregonians. Before we are electricians or engineers, preservationists or developers, producers or consumers – we are Oregonians. And before we chose to call any one town or region home – we chose to call Oregon home. So let us commit ourselves to a new birth of unity. And with that unity – a new birth of shared responsibility.

“Government has an important role to play in my vision of shared responsibility. For Oregonians who simply cannot care for themselves, the only morally acceptable choice is for government to lend a helping hand. And government bears a special responsibility to children.

“Four years ago I said that when times are tough – children go to the head of the line. Well, times are much better now, but that changes nothing. Children still go to the head of the line. That is why I am asking this Legislative Assembly to make Head Start available to every eligible three and four year old.

“We know how important it is to introduce children to reading at a very early age. But pre-school is only the beginning. The time has come to make a real investment in children – starting with adequate and stable funding for every level of education – including our community colleges and universities.

“The same is true for health care. Every Oregon child – up to age 19 – needs, deserves, and must have health insurance. On this issue, the age-old questions still apply: If not now, when? And if not us, who?

“Insuring all children is the beginning, not the end, of our health care challenge. When no Oregonian goes to bed fearing the cost of their next visit to the doctor or hospital – then we will have met our health care challenge. If this sounds too difficult, I remind you what President Kennedy said: We do not do things because they are easy – we do them because they are hard.

“Government’s shared responsibility includes being a partner with the private sector in combating global warming – and making sure we attain energy independence and sustainable economic development. Let me ask you a question: How much do you think the war in Iraq is projected to cost? One Nobel prize-winning economist put the figure at 2-trillion dollars. I ask you to think for a moment about what we would have accomplished for America with a 2-trillion dollar investment in education, health care, and an energy policy that puts this nation on a path to energy independence.

“If you believe that the Iraq war was at least partially motivated by America’s addiction to oil – I have good news for you: There is a solution within our grasp: Reduce our demand for fossil fuels. I want Oregon state government to be a leader in the new movement away from fossil fuels. That means cutting our own energy consumption, shifting state energy use to renewable sources – and creating opportunities for green companies to grow and prosper here. We can – and will! – make Oregon the renewable energy capital of America.

“A generation ago Oregon led the nation by preserving our coastlines and beaches, and by our stewardship of public land. Today we must lead on global warming – and the development of biofuels and other alternative energy sources. Past is prologue. On energy independence, where Oregon goes, America will learn to follow.

“As for a sustainable economy – I’ll say simply this: Put aside the legalisms and complexities for a moment and remember why we care about the environment in the first place. Protecting our open spaces, our forests, and our rivers and wetlands defines us as Oregonians. It is who we are!

“Sustainability is another opportunity – an opportunity to stay true to ourselves, and to pass to future generations the same environmental treasure that our forebears – both native and pioneer – passed to us.

“As we start this New Year, we must also ask: What is the business community’s shared responsibility to make the most of this moment of opportunity for Oregon? I have traveled across this state calling for Oregon business leaders to be the strongest advocates for raising the corporate minimum tax and placing the corporate kicker in a reserve fund.

“Not because it’s the right thing to do – although it is. Not even because it’s the fair thing to do – although it is that too. But because it is the smart thing to do. No one has more riding on my commitment to fiscal stability and creating the best trained, best skilled, best educated workforce in the world than Oregon’s business community. The public wants this change. The business community needs this change. And the time has come for the Legislature to make this change.

“Let me close by talking about the shared responsibility of citizens. Last month, Oregon experienced the trauma of two heartbreaking rescues that literally captured the world’s attention. But it wasn’t just the search that people were watching – it was the searchers. Heroic Oregonians – some in uniform some not – put their own lives at risk to save strangers. Thousands more offered their prayers and support for the families.

“Our people know that we are each other’s keeper, and that we have a shared responsibility to look out for our neighbors, to teach tolerance, to be good stewards of the environment, and to do – in President Lincoln’s words – “right as God gives us to see the right.”

“As Oregonians, we have taken – and passed – this great test of our character and humanity many times before. But with every new challenge to our moral courage, and every old injustice not stricken from our laws or banished from our hearts – the test comes our way again.

“The test we face today is: Can we “see the right” in a time of prosperity? Or will we be too blinded by the light of our good fortune to notice the many among us who are just one opportunity away from their own good fortune? I said that opportunity is the Oregon way. But will we only admire opportunity from a distance – and remember it from our past? Or will we use the power of opportunity this year to raise hopes, change lives, and build a more perfect future?

“This is our moment to decide. This is our children’s moment to flourish. And by extending the hand of generosity, equality and opportunity to all – this is the State of Oregon’s moment to be reborn as America’s State of Grace.

“Thank you. God bless you. And God bless Oregon.

“Oregon My Oregon” was led by Captain Ramona Treat, Oregon National Guard.

The motion to terminate the call shall be in order when the Sergeant at Arms has reported that unexcused members cannot be returned within a reasonable time. Termination of the call under this subsection terminates the requirement that the Sergeant at Arms search for unexcused members. SCR 1 – Read. Carried by Merkley.

By unanimous consent, on request of Buckley, rules suspended to permit use of visual aid during debate of resolution.

By unanimous consent, on request of Boquist, rules suspended to permit use of visual aid during debate of resolution.

SCR 1 – On adoption of the resolution the vote was: Yeas, 46; Nays, 11 – Boquist, Butler, Flores, Gilliam, Gilman, Girod, Hanna, Jenson, Smith G., Thatcher, Whisnant; Excused, 3 – Burley, Minnis, Nelson. Resolution adopted.

Flores requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On January 17, 2007, the House of Representatives passed SCR 1 concerning retiming of the Oregon legislative sessions in Oregon. I was one of the 11 “No” votes on this Resolution and would like to provide the following information for future reference:

“I do not necessarily oppose the concept of annual sessions in Oregon. I do oppose circumventing the spirit and intent of the Oregon Constitution to accommodate “an experiment”.

“Webster’s Concise Dictionary defines “constitution” as “the fundamental laws and practices that normally govern the operation of a state or association.” The Oregon Constitution, Article IV, Section 10, states, “The sessions of the Legislative Assembly shall be held biennially...” In order to deviate from the binding authority of the constitution, a vote of the people is required. (See Article XVII Section 1). In fact, this constitutional change could be referred to the ballot in May 2007, and the people would have their absolute right to vote on a Constitutional amendment honored.

“Article IV, Section 10a, of the Oregon Constitution provides a process for emergency sessions of the Legislative Assembly. Webster’s also defines “emergency” as “a sudden, unexpected state of affairs calling for immediate action”. This resolution states that we are creating an emergency that will continue through February 2008. Creating an artificial emergency to accomplish a specific goal is a clear effort to circumvent the provisions of Article IV, Section 10a of the Oregon Constitution.

“Many statements were made in support of the “session retiming” resolution that would merit response. Here are a few examples:

“Statement: This resolution will ensure “excellence in government” because it provides a blueprint for timing.

“Response: If the blueprint provides a model for excellence in government, then we should be following a model of excellence as a matter of course and good business practice, not bypassing the constitution and ignoring the will of citizens.

“Statement: This resolution will ensure openness and transparency.

“Response: Openness and transparency are obviously negated when the citizens are denied due process in voting to change the constitutional provision.

“Statement: This resolution will engender less partisanship, more productivity and a more timely legislative session.

“Response: While the resolution sets out a timeframe for process, there is nothing to assure any of these things.

“Statement: The core of the resolution puts strict deadlines on the legislative body “Response: If the deadlines are sound business practice, we should be guided by them now, not circumventing the will and voice of citizens.

“Statement: This is a plan to get out of session by the end of June.

“Response: If this is the goal, we should be working to that end anyway. Why do we need to undermine the rights of voters in the process?

“Statement: This shows the citizens “we can do it”.

“Response: We should be demonstrating to the citizens that we can be self-regulating diligent as a matter of course!

“Statement: This is a “grand experiment”.

“Response: Sacrificing the rights of citizens to exercise their voting rights and privileges moves beyond “grand experiment” to a dangerous exercise in expansion of powers.

“Finally, on January 8, 2007, I raised my hand and swore to uphold the Constitution of the State of Oregon. My “No” vote on SCR 1 affirms my commitment to uphold the Constitution and to honor the citizens who elected me to serve them and are the ultimate authority to make any amendments to the Constitution.”

Richardson requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“The Nevada Legislature, as a result of a citizen’s initiative conducts a biannual legislative session that is limited by the vote of the people to 120 days every other year, except in true emergencies;

“The Idaho Legislature has annual sessions that typically last for 90 days;

“The Washington Legislature has annual sessions that meet 4 months in 1 year and 2 months in the alternate year;

“California has a full-time Legislature that is continually in session;

“The issue is whether or not Oregon should experiment with conducting its own version of annual sessions.

“With any change come concerns over unintended consequences:

“If the proposed off-year session is to last for more than three weeks, how will that time be spent?

“It is too short for normal committees to hold hearing and process legislation, and too long to serve as a super-E-board;

I voted to support SCR 1. I commend all who have thoughtfully introduced this political experiment for Oregon. Let’s use this experiment to see if annual sessions would benefit Oregon, and, if so, what version Oregon should send to voters for approval.”

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on SCR 1. I want to share with you some of my reservations concerning this resolution. I am opposed to a resolution that amends the Constitution of the State through legislative fiat as SCR 1 does. I suppose it is technically legal, as we just simply declare that an emergency exists. But in reality, no emergency exists. Who is able, a year in advance, to schedule the beginning and end dates of a so-called “emergency?”

“Another concern is that SCR 1 does not seem to envision a temporary trial period whereby we would bring the results to the public at some later date and ask their approval. So far, discussions have been about annual sessions, rather than about special sessions as outlined in SCR 1. It seems to me that this resolution is trying to set up an illegitimate process by which we can justify having annual sessions. In my view, this resolution is just an end run around the people of Oregon and the State Constitution. The right to change the system to this degree is a right vested only with the people. Changes, especially of this magnitude, should go through the correct process, and this isn’t it. The end simply doesn’t justify the means.

“In a year where the members of this body agree that the public has lost confidence in its legislature, and it is our mutual goal to restore the public’s trust, I believe that enacting a de facto Constitutional amendment without respecting the process which has been set forth, simply abuses that trust which has been given to us to protect.

“Additionally, we have stated our mutual goal of encouraging more public participation and more public comment. This resolution ignores that goal and shuts the public out of the legitimate process that has been devised for these types of sweeping changes.

“Generally speaking, I am open to possibly reforming our Legislative session schedule to provide a better check and balance against the other branches of government. As it stands, Oregon is managed for a short time by the people’s representatives, followed by an almost solid year and a half of management by unelected agency employees. The argument can be made that the government decisions that affect our constituents’ lives the most are made by people who they can’t easily change. So I would like to see better oversight of agencies, and an annual session could possibly help accomplish that. On the other hand, there is concern over the history of Legislative Sessions, with taxes or fees go up every time we meet jeopardizing public trust in the Legislature.

“Annual sessions may be a worthy goal, but to get a desired result in an inappropriate manner is something I cannot support.”

Richardson requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2360 expands the discretionary power of Oregon judges. The key provisions of House Bill 2360 are as follows:

“Section 1 (2): The court may not approve a trust that has the effect of terminating the conservatorship unless:

“(a) The trust is created for the purpose of qualifying the protected person for needs-based government benefits or maintaining the eligibility of the protected person for needs-based government benefits;

“(b) The value of the conservatorship estate, including the amount to be transferred to the trust, does not exceed $50,000;

“(c) The purpose of establishing the conservatorship was to create the trust; or “(d) The conservator shows other good cause to the court.

“In addition to its other consequences, House Bill 2360 Section 1 (2) (d) expands the authority of a court to enable conservatorship assets to be transferred to either revocable or irrevocable trusts when a court of competent jurisdiction determines there is ‘good cause’ to do so. This provision will empower Oregon judges to terminate formal conservatorships for minors and other legally disabled persons when a trust would better serve the needs of the person who was previously subject to the conservatorship. An example of this might be a minor who receives a substantial inheritance or recovery from a compensation claim. Pursuant to Oregon conservatorship law, a minor receives full distribution of the conservatorship assets at age 18. Pursuant to Oregon trust law, distribution of trust assets to the beneficiary of an irrevocable trust could be delayed, at least in part, until some later date or dates when the beneficiary might utilize a large distribution with greater maturity than often occurs when an inexperienced 18 year old receives a substantial sum of money.

“Giving greater flexibility to Oregon’s wise and prudent judges is a positive consequence of H.B. 2360. Therefore, I voted in favor of it.”

HB 2210 (B-Engrossed) – On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 53; Nays, 4 – Flores, Morgan, Scott, Thatcher; Excused, 3 – Esquivel, Lim, Minnis. Bill passed.

Flores requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On March 1, 2007, the House of Representatives passed HB 2210 by a vote of 53-4-3. The bill was the first in a series of three bills that day dealing with bio-energy. Having cast a ‘No’ vote, I want to clarify my reasoning lest anyone attempt to mischaracterize or misrepresent my motive at some future time for a dissenting position.

“I recognize that development of renewable energy resources is an important effort to help our country become less reliant on the purchase of foreign fossil fuel products. However, this bill has some problems that, while acknowledged, remain unresolved in the current form of the bill. There was discussion about many of the concerns being addressed on the Senate side, and my vote was an effort to call attention to these needs in the hope that the Senate will, indeed, take appropriate action.

“One concern is that this is a statewide mandate. While I support the substantial incentives that ethanol and biodiesel fuels receive in this bill, national data shows this bill runs counter to supply and demand economics. Mandating a market that requires companies to buy certain fuels, no matter what the price, can often lead to higher consumer prices.

“Since bio-fuels development is in its infancy, the technology is not developed to a point to prevent mechanical malfunction – and yet we are mandating that use. That is worrisome.

“One concern is that there is no provision that would preempt county and local jurisdictions from enacting their own fuel blend laws if this bill goes into effect with a statewide mandate. That is troubling.

“The State of Washington has a bio-fuels law which provides the governor with the authority to temporarily suspend the mandates based on environmental or economic issues or to protect the health and safety of its citizens. In the event of a documented pattern of product instability, the mandate could be suspended. This bill does not include such protections.

“This bill is highlighted as an economic development opportunity for the State of Oregon. However, most of the raw materials (corn and canola) used in ethanol production are transported into the state from the Midwest. It will be a number of years before we have the production capacity to sustain a thriving Oregon use and economy.

“It is my hope the Senate will give deliberate and serious thought on these and other issues to make this a better piece of public policy.”

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On Thursday, March 1, 2007, I voted ‘nay’ on HB 2210, the ‘bio-fuels’ bill. During floor debate I said I would like to support this bill 100 percent, but I believe there are some things that need to be fixed.

“For example, the bill creates a mandate for use of biodiesel and ethanol, saying Oregon must use a certain percentage in all fuel sold in the state when production capacity reaches a minimum gallon requirement. However, it says nothing about whether such production actually is taking place; only that the capacity must be there.

“So, if someone builds a biodiesel plant that creates the bill’s required capacity, but does not actually produce enough product, all fuel retailers in the state will still be required to use the biodiesel that the plant should be producing. This will likely cause a rise in fuel prices to Oregonians because fuel companies will have to do whatever it takes to comply with the law; regardless of cost to consumer.

“If the mandates cannot be removed altogether, a sunset on the mandates would be appropriate so the legislature is forced to revisit this issue and make necessary adjustments.

There should also be, at minimum, a ‘safety valve’ that allows the Governor and/or the Legislative Assembly to temporarily suspend the mandates in times of fuel, food, or other emergencies.

“I am also concerned there is no preempt on local jurisdictions enacting their own fuel blends; especially since the bill includes statewide mandates. If the mandates are not removed altogether, it would be reasonable and beneficial to create a single standard throughout the state that prevents local governments from enacting their own standards.

“I urge the Oregon State Senate to look at these critical issues carefully as it considers this bill, and make the changes I’ve addressed. If the bill comes back to the House of Representatives with these safeguards in place, I will gladly support it, 100 percent.”

Butler requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“Today I voted ‘no’ on HB 2589.

“This bill clearly violates Article I, Section 8 of Oregon’s Constitution: Freedom of speech and press; in that, ‘No law shall be passed restraining...the right to speak...freely on any subject whatever...’

“During floor debate, we heard testimony that Legislative Counsel has also raised the constitutionality issue regarding this bill.

“HB 2589 clearly is an unconstitutional attempt to remove that right to free expression, free job choice and opportunity for employment of ‘former’ elected officials (as well as their minimally paid staff) based upon an incorrect perception that it is improper to offer services, act as a resource for or volunteer (for expense reimbursement) for Boards and Agencies and the good people of Oregon.”

Flores requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On March 6, 2007, the House of Representatives passed HB 2589. I voted ‘No’ on this bill, and since I was warned that I could have this vote used against me in future campaigns, I wanted to provide the factual basis for my vote. So, if you are considering using this vote as a weapon, read on.

“The stated purpose of this bill is ‘to deal with public perception’. To effectively deal with public perception, proposed public policy should have depth, meaning and truly address a specific problem. This bill fails to meet that criteria.

“First, HB 2589 is ‘ethics reform lite.’ Here is a little historical background:

“In 2003, HB 3328 passed both the House and Senate but was vetoed by Governor Kulongoski on September 25, 2003. The Governor subsequently requested that the Oregon Law Commission review Oregon’s government ethics laws and prepare comprehensive revisions for recommendation to the 2005 session. The Oregon Law Commission agreed, subject to funding, to prepare comprehensive revisions of Oregon’s government ethics laws for the 2007 legislative session. They concluded the necessary work could not be accomplished in time for the 2005 session. A preliminary Legislative Session provided funding and direction to the Oregon Law Commission to prepare a further report and draft legislation on government ethics laws, campaign finance and lobbying for consideration during the 2007 session.

“That 2005 General Fund appropriation to the Department of Administrative Services to be paid to the Oregon Law Commission to fund the project was $224,000. House Bill 2594 which addresses the ‘revolving door’ problem of public officials benefiting from political appointments or lobbying was completely set aside to use HB 2589 to deal with a ‘perception’ problem. A quarter of a million dollars of taxpayers’ money was spent and the recommendations ignored for purely political reasons. That is an outrage.

“There is no way to measure ‘financial gain’ as set forth in HB 2589. The appointment of a person to a board, commission or taskforce can help build a resume that would ultimately lead to employment that would provide substantial ‘financial gain’; yet this bill does not address that very real scenario.

“The problems that deal with other public officials moving into positions by virtue of executive appointment are strangely absent from this bill. I we are truly here ‘to do the peoples’ business’, we should be honest and thorough enough to address the REAL issues, not the perceived ones. This bill does not do that.

“For these and other reasons, I voted ‘No’, because this bill is not good public policy. It puts lipstick on the pig – it deals with perception only and not the real problems.”

Girod requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2589 for the following reason; I believe this piece of legislation to be clearly unconstitutional. Additionally, I would like the record to reflect that my vote was not based on the merit of the bill.”

Boquist requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted ‘no’ on HB 2031 and HB 2707. Oregon has a revenue projection for a twenty per cent increase in tax collections. I adamantly support a rainy day fund supported by a percentage of the general fund. Furthermore, I support a referral to the voters to use the corporate kicker in the future i.e. SJR 3. The kicker was placed in the Constitution by the voters. It requires a vote of the people to repeal permanently. It can only be taken on a one-time basis in an emergency situation. No such dire emergency exists nor was it explained by leadership.”

Gilliam requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2301 and HB 2707. I adamantly support a rainy day fund, but we have revenue projections for roughly a twenty per cent revenue increase. We have to learn to live within our means.

“Seizing money from stockholders of corporations by taking away the cooperate kicker is not right.

“I was only interested in considering a one time use of the cooperate kicker if we included incentives for Oregon businesses that would actually encourage job creation and future economic growth.

“It was disappointing to me that any inheritance tax relief was taken off the table as was any capital gains relief. These bills compromise a tax increase of over 200 million.

“Finally, I was especially dismayed by House Floor statements that took credit for the fiscal discipline of the rainy day fund while hypocritically declaring that no taxes were raised.

“Thank you for the opportunity to clarify my votes and again state my support for a rainy day fund that truly sets our state on the path to fiscal restraint and integrity.”

Girod requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2031 and HB 2707 for the following reason; we have revenue projections for roughly a twenty per cent revenue increase. I adamantly support a rainy day fund supported by a percentage of the general fund. However, stealing the money from the stockholders of corporations by taking away the corporate kickers is not right. We have to learn to live within our means. Also, it is particularly a bad deal in that any inheritance tax relief was taken off the table as was any capital gains relief. These bills comprise a tax increase of over $200 million.”

HB 2707 (C-Engrossed) – Read third time as a Special Order of Business. Carried by D. Edwards.

Call of the House demanded by D. Edwards, joined by Cannon, Greenlick, Esquivel, Holvey and Buckley. All present except: Excused (not subject to Call), 3 – Minnis, Rosenbaum, G. Smith.

HB 2707 (C-Engrossed) – On passage of the bill the vote was Yeas, 47; Nays, 10 – Boquist, Butler, Dallum, Flores, Gilliam, Girod, Maurer, Morgan, Nelson, Thatcher; Excused, 3 – Minnis, Rosenbaum, G. Smith. Bill passed having received the required two-thirds constitutional majority.

Boquist requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted ‘no’ on HB 2031 and HB 2707. Oregon has a revenue projection for a twenty per cent increase in tax collections. I adamantly support a rainy day fund supported by a percentage of the general fund. Furthermore, I support a referral to the voters to use the corporate kicker in the future i.e. SJR 3. The kicker was placed in the Constitution by the voters. It requires a vote of the people to repeal permanently. It can only be taken on a one-time basis in an emergency situation. No such dire emergency exists nor was it explained by leadership.”

Butler requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“Today, I voted ‘No’ on HB 2707.

“This bill required a three-fifths majority to pass because it represents a ‘taking’ of the constitutional corporate kicker.

“While the intended proceeds of this taking is for the establishment of the Oregon Rainy Day Fund (and I wholeheartedly and unequivocally support the establishment of such a fund), there have in fact been no true ‘savings’ established to see such a fund.

“Until the Oregon legislature accepts that saving is a part of the establishment and maintenance of a true Rainy Day Fund, we have only given the tax-and-spend lobby a temporary adrenalin boost.

“In addition to the foregoing, no true emergency existed to effectuate such a taking – the ‘emergency’ exists only to increase corporate taxes in order to take the over-collected corporate income taxes for the current year.

“Finally, before taking the final vote today, I was informed that the State Senate only has 19 votes (1 vote short of passage) from members who will support this package as presented today in the House (jointly with HB 2031 in the package). I voted ‘yes’ on HB 2031 so as to assure the return of the kicker to the smallest Oregon corporate taxpayers.”

Flores requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On March 8, 2007, the House of Representatives passed HB 2707 by a vote of 48-9-3. In order to accurately portray the rationale for my vote, as opposed to having my vote misrepresented by political opponents, I offer the following:

“The one element of HB 2707 that I did – and still do – support was the creation of another Rainy Day Fund with one percent (1%) of the General Fund ending balance.

“The fact is Oregon does have a rainy day fund – its official name is the Education Stability Fund – and it’s working quite well.’ . . . ‘During the last recession when state revenues plummeted, the Education Stability Fund was tapped for hundreds of millions of dollars to protect services. The fund is now refilling – currently holding about $200 million – and will reach its 5 percent cap – $626 million – within four years.’ State Treasurer Randall Edwards, Guest Editorial in The Oregonian, November 2, 2006.) (emphasis added)

“As the 74th Legislative Session began, state revenues have grown by nearly 20% over the 2005-07 projected state budget. That 20% equals roughly two billion dollars more than two years ago – two billion dollars in excess collected taxes. It is my view that money should be set aside from the increase in income in order to build a new Rainy Day Fund.

“The Corporate Kicker is a constitutionally mandated tax credit for businesses (the personal kicker is an actual refund). The voters of this state have voted twice to preserve and protect the kicker – both personal and corporate. Once again this session, the members of this legislature have voted to abuse our state constitution. There is absolutely nothing to prevent ongoing and continuous votes to undermine the constitutional kicker provisions – so there really is no need for a referral to the people! The legislature just needs to vote to do it with 40 votes in the House and 20 in the Senate. And given the tax-and-spend mentality that is prevalent in the Capitol, that vote to suspend a constitutional provision will happen again and again.

“It is my political philosophy that government should: determine what the core functions are that government should be performing; prioritize the spending for those core functions based on the available resources; determine what government programs should be outsourced to the private sector or eliminated; set aside funds for a ‘savings account’ or ‘Rainy Day Fund’.

“This bill ignores all of those fundamental values.

“Again, the positive result of this bill is the creation of another Rainy Day Fund for Oregon – and that is great.

“However, the taking of the kicker without a vote of the people, coupled with an unwillingness to live within our current means, are negatives that override any positive. We can – and should – do better.”

Gilliam requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2301 and HB 2707. I adamantly support a rainy day fund, but we have revenue projections for roughly a twenty per cent revenue increase. We have to learn to live within our means.

“Seizing money from stockholders of corporations by taking away the cooperate kicker is not right

“Thank you for the opportunity to clarify my votes and again state my support for a rainy day fund that truly sets our state on the path to fiscal restraint and integrity.”

Girod requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2031 and HB 2707 for the following reason; we have revenue projections for roughly a twenty per cent revenue increase. I adamantly support a rainy day fund supported by a percentage of the general fund. However, stealing the money from the stockholders of corporations by taking away the corporate kickers is not right. We have to learn to live within our means. Also, it is particularly a bad deal in that any inheritance tax relief was taken off the table as was any capital gains relief. These bills comprise a tax increase of over $200 million.”

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On Thursday, March 8, 2007, I voted ‘nay’ on HB 2707, the ‘It’s OK to Steal From a Company in your Neighborhood if it’s Deposited in A Rainy Day Fund’ bill.

“Oregon’s individual taxpayers and corporate taxpayers have both overpaid their taxes and are each due a constitutionally guaranteed rebate on those overpaid taxes; unless, of course, the legislature declares an ‘emergency’ and decides to divert these rebates to bolster the government coffers. With over $2 billion in additional revenue this biennium, how can the legislature justify declaring a budget emergency?

“During floor debate I said that I support having a rainy day fund. However, I cannot justify stealing nearly $300 million of overpaid taxes from Oregon businesses in order to achieve it. The end simply does not justify the means.

“This Legislative Session, we have an additional $2 billion, or 20% more to spend than we did last Session. Yet we say we don’t have quite enough, plan to spend it all, and then take money from the very people who help our economy—businesses; businesses who build infrastructure, create jobs, invest in our communities, and PAY their taxes. They wouldn’t be eligible for a kicker if they had not paid taxes. The business community played a very large part in the 20% increase in state revenue we are now enjoying, and we show our appreciation by punishing them? The individual Oregon taxpayer should worry they could be next.

“While the legislature sits on the largest pile of money the state has ever had, why don’t we as legislators take a portion of that money and set it aside IN THE 2007-09 budget for a rainy day fund? Part of HB 2707 requires up to 1% of the ending fund balance to be contributed to this new fund so obviously the supporters of HB 2707 recognize this option has merit.

“Rather, we plan to spend every bit of that largesse on new or expanded programs, declare an ‘emergency,’ and remove more than a quarter of a billion dollars from the economy; all to set up a bail-out in the future because of today’s unsustainable spending appetite.

“Most Oregon families who save, take a part of their regular earnings and set some aside in case of an emergency. The Legislature should do the same. However, the message the House of Representatives sent to Oregonians on March 8, 2007 is that people don’t have to forego their wants in order to save; but instead it’s OK to steal from others as long as it’s put in a savings account for a rainy day. But, wait, that would land the regular Oregonian in prison, wouldn’t it?

“I urge the Oregon State Senate to look at this critical issue and very carefully consider what this bill does, and make appropriate changes. If the bill comes back to the House of Representatives without stealing money from our businesses and without raising taxes I will be more likely to lend my support.”

Beyer requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted in support of SB 426 because Oregon school districts cannot sustain the way they currently pay for health care insurance. If nothing is done, projected increases in costs for Oregon school districts could reach over $1 billion annually.

“Three different actuarial studies conducted by three different, independent actuarial firms concluded that pooling school employees into one insurance pool with save school districts and their employees millions of dollars per year.

“Money will be saved by eliminating duplications of services and reducing administrative costs. The savings will stay with our local schools and can be utilized in lowering class sizes, adding back vital programs and ensuring a full school year.”

Flores requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On March 13, 2007, the House of Representatives passed SB 426 by a vote of 36-20-4. Following are points to which I gave serious consideration before casting a ‘No’ vote. And, of course, this information is offered to accurately reflect my rationale for reference if my vote is ever mischaracterized.

“Lack of independent analysis – only competing actuarial studies from interested parties on both sides of the discussion. While the idea has been floating for approximately six years now, then, as now, there has been no effort to provide an independent look – only dueling actuarials.

“Lack of public input on the House side. This bill was heard in Ways and Means, was passed out of the Senate and moved directly to the House floor – all without due process on the House side. This flies in the face of the House leadership’s declarations to provide full, public and transparent processes in the 2007 legislature.

“Lack of longitudinal studies to compare and evaluate the effectiveness of this type of insurance pool. Only three other states in the country have this kind of medical pool model in place, so there is a distinct lack of history available.

“Information presented in the Ways and Means Committee lacked any detail about a defined level of coverage or any basis to compare projected costs.

“Many arguments by supporters of SB 426 again cite ‘what if’, ‘I hope’, ‘maybe’ – and challenge that legislation can be based on speculation because that demonstrates brave leadership. Games of chance are best left to the casinos, not public policy.

“Transferring authority to manage employee compensation from locally elected school boards to the politicians and the unions are a big step away from the ‘local control’ that we value as Oregonians. Arguments to the contrary were not persuasive, and the many school boards who weighed in on this matter by letter, e-mail and phone messages obviously agree with the lack of support.

“A document entitled ‘Statewide Impact Estimation of SB 426-Style Mandatory Insurance Pool: The First Look’ reveals that the vast majority of school districts will experience an increase in insurance costs – translating to less money available for kids in the classroom.

“A General Fund appropriation of $4,996,081 (nearly five million dollars) to fund another experiment that is unproven, lacks evidence and strips local school boards of their bargaining and management authority is a misappropriation of valuable resources that could and should be better invested in the K-12 General Fund budget.

“For these reasons, I opposed SB 426.”

Gelser requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“It was only after weeks of careful consideration and study that I cast my vote in favor of SB 426, which creates a statewide mandatory insurance pool for school employees. I came to the conversation about this bill with significant reservations about the impact on local schools. These reservations were increased by the impassioned and detailed comment I received from school officials in the districts I represent. I shared their concerns about unintended consequences that could lead to increased costs for local school districts.

"I did not cast this vote lightly, and I know that the vote will cause concern among some of those I trust and respect in my local school districts. However, as a school board member I often found myself in the difficult position of casting a vote for a policy decision that I knew was met by the displeasure of others I trusted and respected. In this case, I have listened carefully to my constituents, to local school district officials, supporters and opponents of this bill. I sought to address the concerns that were raised, and to do my own thorough, careful study of this issue. In the end, just as when I was a school board member, I cast the vote I believed best served my district after considering all of the elements of this issue.

"The primary concerns raised by officials in my legislative district included:

"The ability to maintain a self-insured program for vision and dental

"The concern about whether SB 426 could open the door to mandatory coverage of individuals employed on a less than part time basis

"The concern about whether school districts would retain the ability to negotiate benefits at the collective bargaining table

"The concern about whether school districts could still determine through collective bargaining caps on insurance rate increases, and the level of employee/employer contribution to benefit premiums

"The concern about whether the bill would require districts to newly offer Long Term Care benefits

"The concern about whether districts would be mandated to offer cash out options to employees choosing not to participate in benefit plans

"The concern about the validity of the hold harmless clause

"My research led to lengthy conversations with opponents and proponents of the bill, insurance executives, professional actuaries, legislative colleagues, the Governor's office and local school officials. I also sought a legal opinion from the office of Legislative Counsel. Following these discussions, and bolstered by the legal opinion, I became confident that SB 426 will not lead to increased costs for public school districts in House District 16.

"On the House floor, I had these concerns addressed on the record, and would like to restate them here.

"Corvallis School District will be able to maintain its self-insured vision and dental plan (source: Governor's Office and the legal opinion from the Office of Legislative Counsel)

"SB 426 explicitly exempts employees working on a less than part time basis from eligibility for benefits offered under the OEBC. In other words, school districts will not be required to extend coverage to less than part time employees who are not currently receiving benefits

"School districts will retain their collective bargaining rights. The bill specifically protects collective bargaining rights in Section 15, Sub 3. It reads: 'Nothing in sections 1 to 14 of this 2007 Act may be construed to expand or contract collective bargaining rights or collective bargaining obligations.' This was confirmed by the opinion from Legislative Counsel

"School districts will maintain the ability to determine through collective bargaining employee/employer contribution, caps on insurance premium increases, and plan design

"School districts will not be mandated to offer cash out options (again, confirmed by the legal analysis by Legislative Counsel

The Office of Legislative Counsel advised me that the hold harmless clause (benefits offered to districts when they enter the pool must offer comparable benefits at the same or lower costs districts had immediately prior to entering the pool) is legally enforceable. This would suggest that if OEBC cannot offer this type of benefit, the school district would not be required to come into the pool. The Oregon Attorney General has also opined that this clause of the bill is legally enforceable

"I joined efforts to support a neutral, third party study of the potential impacts of SB 426. In fact, I testified in support of an amendment that would accomplish this in front of the Education Subcommittee of Ways and Means on Tuesday, February 20. That amendment was not successful.

"I also advocated successfully for equal representation for management in the task force which will study the implementation of SB 426.

"Although I am satisfied that local school districts and community colleges will not be mandated by SB 426 to cover employees working less than part time, I will be supporting legislation that will tighten up language around this to provide even stronger protection to local school districts.

"Ultimately, I cast my vote in favor of SB 426 because I became convinced – through thorough study—that this bill will not increase costs for local school districts. I also believe that there is reasonable likelihood that the implementation of this bill will result in savings for some if not all school districts in Oregon. This, however, cannot be guaranteed based upon the available data. That said, in my judgment it is worth taking a measured risk in order to reach for the opportunity for potential savings for our school districts.

"The success of this program is dependent upon the actions of those who ultimately make up the Oregon Educators Benefits Board. I have spoken with the Governor's office, and declared openly on the floor, that the Governor should seek talented individuals who are skeptical and even wholly opposed to this bill to serve on the OEBC. It is critical that school districts' needs and concerns are heard during the development of administrative rules for OEBC, and that representatives trusted by the local school districts are at the table as this new program is designed and implemented.

"Additionally, it is crucial that the Legislature carefully monitor the implementation of this study. If school districts see a sudden increase in cost due to the implementation of SB 426, the Legislature should be prepared to act swiftly to remedy the problems and address the needs of the school districts.

"Finally, the Legislature must address the fundamental issues that create the basis of this debate: 1.) skyrocketing health care costs that create a tremendous burden for all public and private employers and 2.) the ongoing, inadequate funding of public education in Oregon.

"The Legislature should act quickly to pass a public schools budget that will allow districts to meet student needs, reduce class size, and reintroduce programs lost over the last two decades. It should also act to reform the double majority law so that school districts and other local governments can work with their communities to find local revenue to support critical programs and services."

Butler requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"Today, I voted 'No' on HB 2700.

"This bill dictates additional mandates to private insurance companies. Such private companies must provide contraception for women if the policy otherwise has a benefit for prescription medications.

"There is evidence that at the public hearings, the private insurance companies were not invited to come forward and specifically testify relative to this mandate. There was however, testimony provided that this and other insurance mandates will continue to drive up the cost of insurance coverage on Oregon insurance plans.

"Oregon already suffers from 576,000 uninsured people, at this time. Each additional increase in the cost of insurance coverage forces more employers to reduce or totally eliminate insurance benefits to employees. Cost of private pay will also be commensurately greater, forcing private pay to reduce or eliminate health care coverage. Those employers which currently offer some prescription benefits may abandon that coverage completely in order to affect insurance cost containment. Each 1% additional insurance cost may mean that 10,000 to 15,000 more Oregonians will be left without insurance protection. This increase could force Oregon's uninsured numbers to accelerate beyond 600,000!

"There was no evidence that Planned Parenthood and public health offices throughout the state do not already offer free or low cost contraception alternatives and the related counseling.

"Finally, there is no initial timing limit on the introduction of 'emergency' contraception measures. This means that 'morning after' pills could be freely offered in clinics and hospital emergency rooms and charged back to private insurance carriers."

Girod requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I voted yes on HB 2700 A-Eng for the following reason: In consulting with two key organizations, Oregon Right to Life and The Catholic Diocese, I learned that they had both taken a neutral position on this bill"

Krummel requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"Today I voted NO on HB 2700. The reason for my vote was because of Section 3 of the bill. This section contained a provision requiring insurance coverage of contraceptives. One of the primary drivers of healthcare cost increases are the many government mandates we have established. Even a small increase in cost to the insurance industry is translated in to much larger premium increases affecting all of us and the cost for even basic healthcare.

"The rest of the bill had provisions I support such as the care to be taken for victims of incest, rape, and assault. The bill also had provisions for information to be factual regarding reproductive health. These are all provisions I do support as mentioned.

“However, the tipping point was the increased costs we would all pay for healthcare due to the mandates. Had the bill not had section 3, I would have supported it.”

Nelson requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I write today to explain the reasons for my vote in opposition to House Bill 2700 on March 15, 2007. While I support the use of prescription birth control as a form of contraception, and recognize that available contraception will reduce unwanted pregnancies—and therefore reduce abortion—a number of flaws with House Bill 2700 made it impossible to support.

“The definition of ‘emergency contraception’ included in the bill is dangerously vague. The definition is ‘a drug or device that is approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration to prevent pregnancy after sexual intercourse.’ Nothing in this definition restricts use of emergency contraception to a specific time period following intercourse. Nor does the definition strictly limit emergency contraception to a treatment that prevents conception from taking place. This vagueness could result in requiring health care providers to give treatment outside the scope of legislative intent. Any treatment performed after conception affects not just the patient, but also the human embryo growing within. Because of this vagueness, I could not support House Bill 2700.

“Furthermore, House Bill 2700 includes a requirement that a ‘student health insurance policy’ provide coverage or reimbursement for prescription contraceptives. Student health insurance policies are intended to provide medical insurance to college and university students who do not otherwise have available health care. However, not everyone attending college or university is over the age of 18. House Bill 2700 could require the dispensing of prescription contraception to children under the age of 18. This is incompatible with public policy and laws concerning sexual intercourse with minors. Sexual intercourse with a minor under age 18 is statutory rape, and is illegal in Oregon. I believe that House Bill 2700, by allowing minors to obtain prescription contraception, would amount to a state endorsement of sexual intercourse by children under the age of 18. Because I believe my duty as a State Representative is to protect our children and uphold the law, I could not support House Bill 2700.

“Finally, House Bill 2700 is an unfunded mandate on health insurance providers. Unfunded mandates increase costs to consumers. Presently, employers can choose to offer employees health insurance plans that offer coverage for contraception. Likewise, individuals are free to obtain private health insurance plans of their own. Ultimately, every person can choose to purchase contraceptive drugs and devices out-of-pocket. The ability to choose which benefits will comprise a health insurance plan results in the lowest possible cost to the consumer. House Bill 2700 would take the power of choice away from the people. The net effect of the bill might help one segment of the population afford contraception, but would at the same time make the overall cost of health care more for all Oregonians. While I support more available and accessible contraception, a mandate that places a burden on health insurance providers is not the answer.

“For all these reasons, I voted NAY on House Bill 2700.”

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Thank you Mr. Speaker, colleagues. We’ve spent a lot of time in this building talking about making health care more affordable to Oregonians, yet every time we talk about more mandates, I’m afraid we’re doing just the opposite.

“In fact there’s a report from the Congressional Budget Office – it’s dated 1999 but I believe its applicable today, and it says that ‘a mandate that primarily affects insurance offered by large firms would be expected to lead to a smaller decline to one that primarily affects small firms. Small firms and their workers are more sensitive to premium increases and are more likely to drop coverage because of mandates.’ I will repeat that last line. ‘Small firms and their workers are more sensitive to premium increases and are more likely to drop coverage because of mandates.’

“The latest report from the small business administration says that in Oregon 98% of firms with employees are small firms. This may lead to more employers dropping coverage all together. I am a small business owner and I pay health care insurance and I see these rates going up every year and I’m always faced with the same questions. Shall I lay somebody off? Shall I pass more of this cost increase onto my staff? Should I just drop coverage all together? Adding more and more mandates to health insurance will only decrease access.

“It’s time to let the free market do what it does best – compete and deliver. It’s time to start saying no to more mandates. Thank you.”

Smith, P. Smith, Thatcher, Whisnant; Excused, 2 – Boone, Minnis. Memorial adopted.

Gilliam requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I would like to explain my vote regarding House Joint Memorial 9. There were sentiments expressed today from many view points on this memorial that personally resonated with me. Abhorrence of war, frustration with strategy and my responsibility as a citizen and public official all contributed to the seriousness of casting my vote today.

"As my colleagues offered sincere floor speeches for and against this memorial I felt many lacked clarity. All seemed to express frustration but in the end inconsistency, personal attacks, and deeply held emotions seemed to override any well founded defense of the memorial. The closing argument was particularly unconvincing as it cited poll results regarding our troops' feelings about the war.

"Like most Americans I am deeply troubled by the duration of this war and greatly concerned for all of our troops and their families. We are united in that concern, but that was not the issue before us. I witnessed tears on both sides of this issue today. House Joint Memorial 9 was worded and framed in ways that are objectionable to me and offer no compelling argument for its' support. That is why with much sadness I opposed HJM 9."

Girod requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I voted no on HJM 9 based on the following statement:

"In this building there is an old axiom 'You go with what got you here.' We all know the out come of the last state elections would have been far different if it weren't for Iraq.

"The state legislature has absolutely nothing to do with Iraq. We don't have any intelligence reports. We don't have any regional expert testimony. We don't have any expert military opinions. We only have what is in the media. God knows we play to the media.

"This decision is better left to those with the better information. In short it is way above our pay grade."

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Earlier today, I voted ‘No’ on HB 2650 which mandates a ‘cookie cutter’ nutritional scheme on schools. It is my belief that a cookie cutter is a bad way to reduce obesity.

“Second, I oppose the mandates in this bill. School nutritional programs should be decided at the local level by schools and school districts, not by politicians in Salem.

“Third, no consensus exists on what is ‘healthy,’ nor is ‘healthy’ something that is one-size-fits-all. Some argue that low carb, high fat diets would be the best way to curb obesity. Others say a low fat diet is best. Margarine may be lower in fats, but contains hydrogenated oils which could be harmful. What about controversial artificial sweeteners such as Aspartame, which lowers calories but arguably causes other problems?

“Fourth, the bill seems to have exemptions for schools participating in the federal school lunch program, and I have some concerns about passing a bill that gives broad exemptions without knowing the full scope of those exemptions.

“Fifth, the bill says nothing about candy sales for fundraising.

“Finally, the bill does nothing to encourage kids to learn healthy eating habits through education, which is the primary function of our schools. In other words, they should preach what they practice.

“I believe that encourage healthy eating is a worthy goal, but I believe this bill is not the proper way to bring it about.”

Chair ruled motion out of order citing Mason’s Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 505, subsection 5, “when a roll call has been interrupted by the absence of a quorum, the first business, when the quorum is secured, is to proceed with the roll call that was interrupted by the lack of a quorum.”

Richardson requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I strongly favor helping our children have safe and comfortable facilities in which to be educated. Nevertheless payment of these facilities should be made a priority and paid from current revenues and not placed on the shoulders of the next generation.

“My vote against House Joint Resolution 13 on May 1, 2007 was based on the following considerations:

“Oregon has more than $8.38 billion in current outstanding long-term debt, $5 billion of which is “tax-supported” debt. This debt will require principal and interest payments for as long as 25 years and in some instances even longer. Such long-term debt is a burden not only for ourselves, but for our children as well. It is bad policy for Oregon families to live on ever increasing debt load, and it is bad policy for Oregon State government to continually increase its long term indebtedness.

“In addition, the debt authorization contained in HJR 13 rewards those districts that have not allocated sufficient resources for maintaining their facilities, while penalizing those districts that have wisely maintained theirs.

“Finally, HJR 13 provides for additional indebtedness that will require payments at a time when our community colleges and universities are woefully underfunded. Before Oregon incurs additional long-term indebtedness, the State should ensure our current needs are fully funded.”

Smith, Thatcher, Whisnant; Excused, 2 – Boquist, Minnis. Bill passed.

Cameron requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2871 because the interest rate allowed to be charged should be tied to a variable rate that would allow the maximum rate charged to go down or up based on market rates. If the Senate amends the bill, I will vote to concur.”

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Earlier today, I voted no on HB 2871, which limit payday and title loans to 36% annually, among other provisions.

“First, let me say that I am opposed to the practice of usury, or lending at exorbitant interest rates.

“However, I am also opposed to telling private businesses what they can charge for a product or service.

“On this topic, we have heard from payday lenders who are concerned that with this bill and others passed by the Legislature limiting their ability to collect the rate of return they believe is needed. If they are forced to curb lending to high risk borrowers, where will these people go? To criminal behavior? Loan sharks? Will they face bank overdraft fees in excess of what they would pay to a payday lender?

“In addition, the interest rates charged sound exorbitant mostly because proponents of restricting payday loans express the interest in annual terms. However, these loans are not typically made on a yearly basis. Rather, as the name implies, they are short term, often times paid back within just a few days when the borrower gets paid. In essence, they are often a line of credit for people who would not otherwise qualify for such credit. A lender loaning money to a high risk borrower for a very short term must have enough financial incentive to make that loan. And that is why the rate may be very high, while the actual money the lender receives may not be all that much.

“It is also important to look at the alternatives that people typically are faced with. For example, according to the Community Financial Services Association (www.cfsa.net), an example of a typical fee for a $100.00 payday advance could be $15.00. This sounds completely reasonable until you express that in an annual percentage rate, which in this example would be 391%.

“But: The average bank overdraft fee on this same amount would be $26.90, or 701%.

“The credit card late fee on this $100 would be about $37.00, or 965%.

“A late/disconnect fee on a $100 utility bill would be $46.16, or 1203%!

“A $100 bounced check NSF/Merchant would be $54.04, or a whopping 1409%!

“As you can see, interest is a poor indicator of the expense incurred by a borrower in the case of very short term loans. And it is a tool used by proponents of the bill to make the loans seem unfair, when in many instances they can save the borrower from the much higher costs associated with not meeting their obligations. To take this option away from people who already have few options is, in my view, unfair.

“The broader issue is the failure to teach wise financial stewardship to young people, so that they understand the impact of poor financial decisions and the danger of products such as payday loans and credit cards, when these products and services are not used responsibly. And the principle involved here is whether or not it is correct to tell businesses what they can charge for a service they provide. This is a government intrusion on personal freedom that is not justified by the potential harm it tries to prevent.

“When willing buyers and willing sellers come together to do a transaction of a legal product or service, government should be very hesitant to come between them. In addition, we should be very hesitant to put price controls on products and services, as doing so has been proven time and again to lead to economic problems, such as shortages.

“Let’s educate our citizens about the wise use of money, protect them from real usury, and encourage the right to choose for willing buyers and willing sellers. To do otherwise will limit the options available to desperate people, and I fear for what will happen if this bill is signed into law.

Boone requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“The reason I was unable to support SB 400 in its original form rests with some concerns I had regarding mandatory subjects of bargaining. Local governments are required to deliver a wide variety of services. I heard from many of my local elected officials, police chiefs and fire chiefs on this bill. Their fears were that they might have to make reductions in one department in order to fulfill a mandated order to increase personnel in another.

“I am always concerned about the safety of all emergency responders and corrections officers. I am pleased that more work has been done on this bill and I am persuaded that the compromise language represented in SB 400-C Engrossed is responsive to my original concerns. The compromise language requires that the mandatory bargaining of staffing levels must be predicated on a “significant” impact on on-the-job safety. That standard is at least as rigorous as the current standard of a “direct and substantial” impact on on-the-job safety.

“SB 400-C recognizes that normal day to day functions of public safety official’s carries safety risks that can’t be changed or ameliorated by adding staff or even protection devices. People who carry defensive weapons and those who work in confinement facilities with criminal offenders face inherent risks in their jobs that can’t be changed by simply adding staff. The same is true of our firefighters.

“SB 400-C does not require bargaining a proposal to increase staff in patrol cars or on a fire engine for instance, and recognizes that the number of staff on certain shifts or staff working certain hours will not eliminate the higher risks associated with normal firefighting, police and corrections work (for example a proposal to place two officers in a car or require so many corrections officers per inmate incarcerated will not diminish the risks inherent to all the police or corrections officers and actually may increase the numbers of employees exposed to the risks – that is not a mandatory bargaining issue under this bill).

“SB 400-C does not require bargaining staffing levels, whether within an entire unit or section of a unit (e.g. patrol, or corrections) except under those very narrow circumstances where it is shown objectively using empirical data that there is a “significant” on-the-job safety issue for employees.

“SB 400-C does not require bargaining staffing levels over workload or caseload issues (e.g. level of service for law enforcement; caseloads for Community Corrections Officers).

“Finally, it is important to note what has not changed: we reaffirm the expectation that interest arbitrators will seriously consider all of the statutory criteria in reaching decisions. With this understanding, and the fact that local elected officials will retain their basic responsibilities to allocate scarce resources among competing needs, and the fact that the demands for public services outpace governments’ ability to provide that service, I can support the compromise language.”

Smith. Bill passed.

Dingfelder requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“HB 2766 requires a mandatory fine of $350 for the first offense and $1,000 for the second offense for alcohol violations committed by minors. I voted against this bill because I believe each young person needs to have his or her particular situation evaluated by the court on an individual basis to determine the most appropriate course of action. HB 2766 takes away much of the discretion to determine what consequences are the most appropriate for a minor who has committed an alcohol offense. Perhaps a fine of $350 is the most appropriate, or perhaps other sanctions such as alcohol treatment or community service are a better fit for the circumstances. Under HB 2766, though, the $350 fine will be imposed regardless.

“Under-age drinking is a serious problem, especially here in Oregon. However, I believe HB 2766 will have a disproportionate impact on minors who come from lower-income families. I also believe that each young person needs to have sanctions specifically tailored to his or her circumstances that will have meaningful and lasting results in deterring future alcohol use. For these reasons, I felt compelled to vote no on HB 2766.”

Thatcher requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On Wednesday, I voted ‘no’ on SB 838, which requires utility companies to get 25% of their energy from renewable sources by the year 2025.

“First, let me clarify: I have long supported the use of renewable energy sources. In fact, my business has installed solar panels in an effort to become more energy independent. In addition, I have supported incentives to encourage the use of solar power and other renewable energy projects during my time in the Legislature.

“Some may accuse me of being ‘in the pocket of’ big energy companies. The fact is both Portland General Electric and Pacific Power were in favor of the measure.

“So while I am a proponent of clean energy projects, SB 838 makes a misplaced assumption in its approach on how best to bring about the cleanest energy in the cheapest way. It assumes that “government knows best” and that government telling people what to do will be better than customers demanding cleaner energy at a fair market price.

“Specifically, here are my objections to SB 838:

“SB 838 is disingenuous: Hydropower projects are not credited toward the bill’s mandated renewable portfolio standard if they were completed before 1995. If we are really serious about clean energy, why would we exclude our number one renewable energy resource? Oregon should be creating more alternatives without ignoring the power of moving water, our most abundant resource. We are continually developing renewables without a government mandate which is why Oregon is ranked 3rd among all the states for clean air.

"SB 838 hurts ratepayers, and hurts the poor most: While 2006 saw a record number of people seeking assistance paying for heating bills, SB 838 would cause rate increases for power. Renewable development should be balanced with the financial impact on customers. When power is a necessity for modern life, it is irresponsible to create mandates that force people to pay more in order to finance a utopian agenda. The ratepayer protections the customers wanted in the bill did not get amended in. SB 838's 3% utility tax extension forces people to pay more as they try to keep their homes warm or cool, or their food cold and free from spoilage. As Salem Electric noted in the Statesman Journal (3-6-07), 'We struggled for two to three years to find something that was affordable. The 4.5 percent (of renewable energy) that we found raised our rates 1 percent. If we are talking about 25 percent, you can do the math.' 'Doing the math' gives you a 5.5% rate increase. It also gives a corresponding increase in the cost to produce, transport, and sell the products people need every day. As a result, we will see continuing increases in the costs of food, clothing, housing, medical care, etc. When costs are increased at each step along the way, the costs of goods and services rise exponentially.

"SB 838 is unnecessary and counterproductive: Oregon is already both a pioneer and a leader in clean energy. Oregonians value our environment and have proven time and again that we will lead in this direction without being forced to. Oregon has been touted as a model for voluntary clean energy progress. Again, we do not need the heavy hand of government to give us clean energy. If anything, government intrusion into the market will just make the process less efficient, less productive, slower, and more expensive, just as it does with most industries it tries to 'help along' through well-intentioned mandates.

"SB 838 is based on a faulty premise: SB 838 illustrates the fundamental difference between liberals and conservatives. Conservative 'free-market' economists believe companies will be forced to comply with customers' demands for better solutions at lower prices. But liberal economists believe that a 'planned economy' is both possible and ideal. It involves a great deal of mandate and regulation, and dictates to the market what it will produce, when it will produce it, and how much it will charge. I believe such an economy is destined, as Ronald Reagan once said, to end up on the 'ash heap of history.'

"I believe the noble values of Oregonians – wise stewardship of the natural environment among them – will continue to call us to ever cleaner, more efficient, and less expensive energy. Government meddling in the process through SB 838 will only serve to subvert these values and interfere with their implementation. And that is something that I cannot support."

“I would like to explain my vote in opposition of SB 5533 during the floor session today. As I have previously stated, I firmly believe that we must restore the level of Oregon State Troopers to an adequate level. Anything less than 24/7 coverage is unacceptable.

“We are currently poised to make this happen, with the budgetary means to fully fund 140 additional troopers. This bill falls short of that need, with the addition of only 100 new troopers, which is less than the level outlined in the Governor’s proposal.

“Thank you for the opportunity to clarify my vote and again state my support to adequately increase the staffing levels of the Oregon State Police.”

Bonamici requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“On June 1, 2007, I rose to speak on the House floor about HB 2827A. I expressed several concerns about the bill, including these:

“No Federal rules have been issued on the Real ID Act and the date for the rules is uncertain. This creates significant ambiguity regarding what Oregon needs to do to prepare for compliance as the bill intends;

“There are serious questions about document and information security with the Real ID Act, and as a Representative who is very concerned about identity theft, the notion of an electronic database that contains information such as social security numbers, birth certificates, and other personal information is extremely worrisome unless adequate safeguards are assured.

“During the Floor debate on this bill, I mentioned that my constituents are concerned about privacy and security issues. I also stated that they are worried about the possibility that under the Real ID Act, if Oregon is not in compliance, they may not be able to use their driver's licenses to enter Federal buildings or to fly on commercial airlines. Because of that possibility, I stated that I would hesitantly vote for HB 2827A. I also urged my colleagues to not lose sight of the need for a workable, secure, and affordable solution to the questions raised by these issues and this bill.

“As I listened to the remaining debate and reviewing the Fiscal Analysis of Proposed Legislation, I was convinced that HB2827A was not an adequate approach to the issues it seeks to address. First, it is my understanding that legislation is not required to request an extension to come into compliance with Real ID. Second, it is not until 2013 – if at all – that Oregonians will be barred from airplanes or federal buildings if Oregon is not in compliance with Real ID. There is more than adequate time to craft an appropriate solution to that issue if it ever appears to be a realistic possibility. Third, the policy decisions delegated to the Department of Motor Vehicles in HB 2827A are better made by the “Legislature than by an agency, especially when database security is an issue. Finally, and importantly, the Fiscal Analysis of Proposed Legislation shows millions of dollars of expenditures without a funding source. Although I understand that issues surrounding the Real ID Act and illegal immigration are a concern to many Oregonians, for the reasons listed above I voted no on HB 2827A.”

Dingfelder requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

"I voted no on HB 2827 because, if passed, it requires implementation of the federal REAL ID Act without serious evaluation of how to pay for it. The Legislative Fiscal Office estimates that it would cost the State of Oregon millions of dollars to fully execute the various provisions of the REAL ID Act, yet HB 2827 identifies no funding source. I also voted against this bill because there were serious questions raised about information security. The REAL ID Act would establish a national electronics database that contains social security numbers, birth certificates, and other personal information. But the security of this information has never been assured and a national electronic database poses very grave concerns about identity theft.

"Given the threats we face in today's world I understand the need for additional security measures. In fact it would be irresponsible for the federal government to do nothing. However, the only thing worse than doing nothing is providing the illusion of security by passing hastily-prepared legislation without considering the consequences to the states, to our civil liberties and to our privacy. For these, reasons, I felt compelled to vote no on HB 2827."

By unanimous consent, on request of Hanna, rules suspended and courtesies of the House and floor were extended to the Honorable Victor Atiyeh, former Governor and Representative from District 4.

C. Edwards requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“SB 694 creates an offense of the restrictive confinement of a pregnant pig. With the passage of this bill, Oregon pig farmers will be prohibited from using gestation crates to confine pregnant sows. “While I stand in opposition to animal cruelty, the reality is, by virtually all accounts gestation crates simply aren’t used in Oregon. This bill prohibits a practice that may be unsavory; however, it’s also simply irrelevant.

“SB 694 is a symbolic bill. Its passage will have little to no affect on the people or animals of Oregon.

“My vote against SB 694 was not a vote against the humane treatment of animals; rather, it was a vote against this legislature wasting time and energy on issues that don’t affect our constituents or their families. It is time for House members to check in with ourselves about what our most important priorities are. I want to spend my time supporting commonsense health care solutions, a robust schools budget, and improved public safety measure. Every minute we spend fighting a non-existent problem, like the use of gestation crates in Oregon, is a minute we’re not spending advocating for the Oregonians who are counting on us to get to work for them. “

On parliamentary inquiry, Barnhart questioned whether the affirmative vote of three-fifths majority is required to pass the bill as opposed to a constitutional majority of 31 since this measure has a referral to the people.

Speaker ruled that the bill requires the affirmative vote of three-fifths (36) of the elected members of the House of Representatives. He noted that Enrolled HJR 14 (1995 Regular Session), amended Section 25, Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Oregon by adding the language, "Three-fifths of all members elected to each House shall be necessary to pass bills for raising revenue." The measure did not provide for a different vote requirement for a bill referred to the people for approval. On May 21, 1996 (Biennial Primary election) the measure (Ballot Measure 25) was approved by the affirmative vote of the people. He further noted that Legislative Counsel has opined that it is likely the courts would hold that it takes three-fifths majority vote to adopt a bill that raises revenue even if the voters approve the bill at the ballot box, thus HB 2967 requires 36 affirmative votes to be declared passed.

Barnhart, joined by Witt appealed the ruling of the Chair.

Nelson requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I write to explain my reason for voting against HB 5044, the budget for the Oregon Student Assistance Commission. This budget has sacrificed two very important programs: the Jobs Plus Scholarship program, and the Rural Health Services loan repayment program. It also fails to replenish the Oregon Troops to Teachers program. These three programs are vital, yet they are not funded.

“This Legislative Assembly has consistently failed to support the Jobs Plus program, while at the same time spending more and more money on unemployment claims. We should be using taxpayer dollars to help the unemployed gain new skills and enter into new jobs!

“We face a health care crisis in Oregon. Rural areas are hit particularly hard. The Rural Health Services loan repayment program was created to help bring access to health care to rural Oregon. If we truly care about health care, we will fund this program.

“Likewise, we face a shortage of qualified teachers, especially in the sciences. The Troops to Teachers program allows highly skilled veterans, with real-world technical experience, to become licensed teachers. It also brings real heroes into our class rooms to be role models for our children. We must continue to fund this important scholarship program.

“Because these important programs have been left out of the Oregon Student Assistance Commission budget, I was compelled to oppose HB 5044.”

Nelson requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Now, the need is greater than before. Nearly 1,000 additional members of the Oregon national Guard will be deployed to Iraq and Afghanistan. The need for emergency funds could easily double over the next biennium. However, HB 5037 does not include additional funding for the Oregon Military emergency Financial Assistance Fund. The fund will remain dry.

“It was said during debate on this bill that the Oregon Military Department did not ask for this money. This is incorrect. While the original proposed budget did not include funding for this program, the Oregon Military Department did, in fact, request that this fund be replenished. When it became clear that HB 5037 did not properly address the needs of the Oregon Military Department, I sponsored HB 3198 at the request of Brigadier General Caldwell. This bill would have added an additional $500,000 into the fund. However, HB 3198 died in committee, leaving the fund empty.

“Before HB 5037 came to the floor of the House of Representatives, I made my colleagues aware that this important fund has been depleted with not promise of replenishment. Today, HB 5037 came to the floor of the House without including the Oregon Military Emergency Financial Assistance Fund. I moved that HB 5037 be re-referred to the Ways and Means Committee to fix this glaring omission. However, the motion failed, leaving HB 5037 short of vital funds.

This discrepancy, combined with other reductions in the budget, compelled me to vote against HB 5037. I cannot in good conscience support a budget for the Oregon Military Department that does not adequately address the real-life needs of our troops and their families in a time of war.”

Speaker in Chair.

On parliamentary inquiry, Girod questioned whether this bill would require the affirmative vote of 31 members of the House or 36 members of the House in order to be declared passed.

Speaker ruled passage of the bill would require the affirmative vote of 31 members of the House, citing a memorandum received from Legislative Counsel “HB 2575 is not a bill for raising revenue under section 18 or 25, Article IV of the Oregon Constitution. The Oregon Supreme Court strictly construes the phrase ‘bill for raising revenue.’ A bill for raising revenue must impose a tax or result in an increase in revenue available for general government purposes. HB 2575 would not impose a tax. Instead, it would charge an insurance premium for funding an insurance pool the sole purpose of which would be to ensure payment of family leave benefits. The premium that is charged benefits only those who pay it so it does not serve general government purposes.

In that respect, it is similar to a bill that imposes a fee which is also not a bill for raising revenue.”

Based on this opinion the Chair ruled that HB 2575 requires the constitutional majority of 31 affirmative votes of the House of Representatives to be declared passed.

Scott, joined by Dallum, appealed the ruling of the Chair.

Barnhart moved the previous question.

On parliamentary inquiry, Richardson questioned whether debate could be closed on an appeal of the ruling of the Chair.

Chair ruled in compliance with Mason’s Manual of Legislative Procedure Section 345, that “the previous question may be used to close debate on any debatable question,” therefore the motion to move the previous question was in order.
