The Honorable John A. Kitzhaber, Governor of the State of Oregon, delivered the following State of the State Address:

"Thank you Speaker Kotek, President Courtney and the entire Oregon Legislature for having me here today.

"Let me start by taking a moment to recognize a distinguished Oregonian, a man who has served his state and his country for over five decades. Major General Raymond F. Rees will complete his third and final tour of duty as Oregon's Adjutant General in July of this year. General Rees has served with great distinction and honor, commanding our national guard, overseeing Oregon's emergency management response and serving as my homeland security advisor. General, on behalf of all Oregonians I extend to you our thanks for your outstanding service to Oregon and to the United States of America.

"I also want to acknowledge and thank Jim Willis, who is retiring as director of the Oregon Department of Veterans Affairs after almost a decade of service. And to our veterans – and to all the men and women who wear the uniform of our country – we extend our gratitude, and especially to those serving overseas: our thoughts and prayers.

Also with us here today we have some of Oregon's finest first responders. Like all Oregonians, I was shocked and saddened by the tragic Clackamas Town Center shooting in December. We have learned from the horrifying details that if it were not for the courageous and immediate work done by local and state first responders, this incident could have been much, much worse. Please join me in recognizing Clackamas County Sheriff Craig Roberts, State Police Superintendent Rich Evans, State Fire Marshal Mark Wallace, and Fairview Police Department Chief Ken Johnson, President of the Oregon Association of Chiefs of Police.

"There are not words to express my sorrow for the families who lost loved ones, their friends and the broader community impacted by this tragedy, a sorrow that extends to the people of Newtown, Connecticut. Please join me in taking a moment of silence for the victims of gun violence everywhere – and a prayer that, together, we can lift this stain from our land.

"Today we welcome Oregon's 77th Legislative Assembly, and I am reminded of the rich history of this institution. It's a history that winds all the way back to Champoeg in 1841 and the first conversations about the formation of a Provisional Government. In the retelling, the tendency has been to elevate certain dates and events, creating a narrative – however incomplete – for Oregonians, as Oregonians. From statehood in 1859, to the Progressive Era and the creation of our initiative and referendum system at the turn of the 20th century, to more recent legislative history, like the oft-told stories about the Bottle Bill and the birth of land use planning – these have been touchstones that help define this state and our image of ourselves.

"Much has been said and written about our state's record of landmark legislation, but too little about the legislators behind it. Because the real history of this body and the true strength of this institution is that for more than 150 years, this has been a place of citizen legislators. This is the people's institution, and it has represented well the hopes and dreams, the priorities, and yes, the prejudices, of Oregonians.

"The very first Legislative Assembly was a group of ranchers, shop owners, and farmers – so many farmers, in fact, that the very timing of the sessions was influenced by harvest schedules. Those early citizen legislators did not check their day jobs at the door. And it has been the same ever since.

"Betty Roberts was one such Oregon pioneer, relying on her own experience to guide her and using her time in the Oregon House and Senate to champion equal rights for women.

"As the Oregonian's Susan Nielsen wrote in a tribute after Betty's death: "She tackled everything, large and small: the ability to keep one's name, the power to make financial decisions without a man's permission, the option to escape an abusive marriage – and yes, the right to reproductive choice."

"Another pioneer was Representative Paul Hanneman, who served for 13 consecutive terms – 26 years. It is not possible to fully understand the history of the Bottle Bill and the motivation for its passage without knowing the story of Hanneman and his constituent, Richard Chambers (the father of Representative Vicki Berger). They spent four years fighting for the bill's passage. Hanneman, a Dory Fisherman, brought Tillamook County with him when he came to this building, and Oregon is the better for it.

"The giants of this institution, the heroes, have been those who caucused as Democrats or Republicans, but legislated as Oregonians. Astoria and Pendleton and Ashland and Portland were in their bones, but Oregon was in their hearts.

“The 77th Oregon Legislative Assembly has that potential. You are farmers and ranchers and small business owners. You are educators and caregivers – doctors and dentists, teachers and librarians. You are parents and you are retirees, from law enforcement and fire fighting and the military, and your unique experiences and wisdom are critical to tackling the challenges we face in getting Oregonians back to work and strengthening our communities.

“The state of our state is strong in large part due to the courage and commitment of its citizen legislators. You defy cynicism – all too common today – about a government somehow divorced from its people.

“And more than at any other time in Oregon history, this Legislative Assembly lives up to the ideal of being representative of all Oregonians. That’s not a guarantee of perfection, and it certainly is not a guarantee of agreement, but it does ensure a debate more inclusive of the diverse voices and needs of communities across the state. Do not underestimate the significance of this body continuing to look more and more like the state and the people you represent.

“When I was Senate President, I often drew inspiration from John F. Kennedy, who said, “Where nature makes natural allies of us all, we can demonstrate that beneficial relations are possible even with those with whom we most deeply disagree.”

“Over the past two years, you have shown that it’s not only possible to disagree agreeably, it’s also possible to move beyond what divides us and build instead on what unites us: a shared vision of a strong middle class, equal opportunity for every Oregonian in every community in the state, good schools and good jobs and a government that is fiscally disciplined and efficient.

“With this common vision, we have made much progress on behalf of Oregonians. It was just two years ago that our state faced a $3.5 billion revenue shortfall, double-digit unemployment, and an uncertain future. And here at the Capitol, we faced a divided Legislature, prompting many to say that any significant progress was unlikely.

“But then we discovered that our divided Legislature wasn’t that divided after all.

“Setting an example for the nation, members from both parties, and from both chambers, came together and did not shy away from the hard decisions necessary to set Oregon’s economy on an upward trajectory. We erased one of the largest per capita budget deficits in the nation with civility, not rancor; with bipartisanship, not gridlock – and we did it with a balanced budget that was built on priorities, not programs.

“Reforms in education and health care – and key investments in innovation – embody the change necessary to accelerate Oregon’s economic recovery and restore our shared prosperity.

“Today – compared to where we were two years ago – Oregon is clearly on the right track. We have gone from a $3.5 billion budget deficit in January 2011 to a balanced budget today and improved our state credit rating from AA to AA+. We have cut our unemployment rate more than two points and created nearly 40,000 jobs while being home to the second fastest growing economy in the nation.

“We have come a long way since 2011, and we should celebrate our progress because we did it together, and it did not come easy. But at the same time we must acknowledge that in spite of our efforts we are still leaving far too many of our fellow Oregonians behind.

Our great challenge is to ensure that the next phase of Oregon’s economic “recovery” reaches all Oregonians and ends the income stagnation that continues to erode the middle class, exacerbates inequality, and for the first time threatens a generation of Oregonians with the prospect of a declining standard of living.

“We cannot settle for an uneven, unequal and hesitant “recovery.” The word “recovery” loses any useful meaning if it describes a state where the Portland metro area returns to pre-recession employment levels, while much of rural Oregon continues to suffer the economic and social consequences of double-digit unemployment, outdated infrastructure and an aging workforce. The word “recovery” is warped if it is used at a time when the unemployment rate for white Oregonians is falling, but for African Americans and Latino Oregonians it continues to rise.

The word “recovery” is the wrong word to use for a state with a 24 percent child poverty rate.

“We still have much work to do. Oregon will not be a great place for any of us to live until it is a great place for all of us to live.

“There may be no quick fix, but you can be sure there can only be a fix with an intentional strategy that is not limited to getting Oregonians back to work. It must also include raising per capita income and reducing poverty in all communities in Oregon. This is the legislative session to ask and answer the tough questions about what it will take to deliver that:

- “How do we ensure more of the jobs created in Oregon are living wage jobs?”
- “And how do we get more of those jobs in rural communities?”
- “What will it take to put people in poverty on a path to living wage jobs?”
- “How can the state help to eliminate barriers to growth and success for our homegrown small businesses?”
- “How do we better align our fragmented workforce training programs to deliver better results for more Oregonians and better meet the needs of expanding businesses?”

“The Oregon Business Plan, which has guided our work over the past two years, is built on three pillars: creating 25,000 jobs per year through 2020; raising Oregon’s personal income levels above the national average by 2020; and reducing Oregon’s poverty rate to 10 percent by 2020. These three pillars recognize that private sector job creation is the foundation of an enduring prosperity – but they also recognize that prosperity must lift people in every community in every corner of our state; and that without reducing poverty, all Oregonians will not have their shot at the American Dream.

“And that means that over the next two years, our commitment to these second two pillars must be no less than our commitment to the first.

“Far too many Oregonians continue to struggle with unemployment, debt and the rising cost of health care. That is the urgency you bring with you to the 77th Legislative Assembly. And that sense of urgency is at the core of the budget I sent you last month – a budget that reflects the priorities that have guided us over the past two years: putting children, families and education first; investing in jobs and innovation; and reducing the cost of government. It is also a budget built on the assumption that even with constrained resources, we cannot wait to begin reinvesting in children, in families and in education.

“When I first came to the Legislature in 1979, kids could drop out of Roseburg High School in the 10th or 11th grade and get jobs in the woods and the mills with good wages and benefits. Those days are long gone – and over the past few decades, the economic benefits of education have steadily grown. In 1979, the average college graduate made 38 percent more than the average high school graduate. Now, the average college graduate makes over 75 percent more. And more than 60 percent of the jobs in the next decade will require at least a technical certificate or associates degree – yet only 67 percent of our students are graduating from high school, taking them off the path to economic security.

“If, as I believe, it is the promise of equal opportunity that lies at the heart of the American Dream – the promise of upward mobility; the promise that if you work hard you can build a better life for yourself and your family; the promise that each subsequent generation will be better off than the last one – then public education is the vehicle through which the American Dream is most directly fulfilled today.

“Although we have made huge progress – moving toward a seamless integrated educational system from early childhood through college and career – we’ve not yet had the resources to seriously invest in our 40-40-20 goals. It is clear to me that the entire enterprise of public education is underfunded at all levels. And it’s also clear that we can’t meet our 40-40-20 goals without a significant reinvestment of resources into the classroom.

“To make that happen, a couple of things are required. In the long term, we need comprehensive reform of Oregon’s system of public finance. That's going to take time, it's going to take a strategic approach, it's going to take discipline – and over the past eight months, we have begun to build the coalitions and the infrastructure necessary to make that happen.

“But we can't wait for comprehensive revenue reform to begin to reinvest in the classroom if we hope to achieve the educational and economic goals we have set for our state. It will not be an easy task but it is an urgent one. We may have succeeded in erasing our budget deficit, but we continue to face severe fiscal constraints – which means we need to make room in our current budget to being reinvesting in the classroom and other in other crucial public services today.

“I am prepared to stand with you in making the difficult choices that will be necessary to do so, which include: reducing the cost of health care and corrections; reducing the cost drivers that are diverting resources from the classroom; and undertaking serious review of Oregon' tax expenditures.

“Let me start with health care, which is perhaps the fastest growing cost for individuals, families, businesses and state government. The new care model being developed by our Coordinated Care Organizations is projected to hold medical inflation in the Medicaid program to 3.4 percent starting in the second year of this biennium. That will save $100 million in the general fund in 2013-15; nearly $200 million in the 2015-17 biennium and $400 million the following biennium. In other words, the delta created by holding medical inflation constant creates a huge and growing opportunity for reinvestment as we go forward.

“Therefore, our long-term ability to reinvest in public education depends to a large extent on our success in proving up this care model in the next biennium and then to extend it into the private market. If, for example, we could move public school teachers and state employees into the same kind of high quality, low cost care model being developed by our CCOs, the estimated ten year state savings could be as much as $5 billion. This would be a game changer for state finances and could lead to a huge competitive advantage for Oregon businesses both large and small.

“Corrections is the second area where cost reduction is both needed and possible. Along with the cost of health care, the relentless growth in the Department of Corrections is one of the major reasons we cannot adequately invest in education; or in community corrections and other proven crime prevention measures at the local level.

“It cost $10,000 a year to keep a child in school but $30,000 a year to keep someone in prison. Our prison forecast predicts the need to build 2,300 new beds over the next decade at a cost of $600 million – and that most of those beds will be occupied by non-violent offenders. And the fact is that this $600 million – if spent on public education – would keep hundreds of people out of the criminal justice system in the first place.

“That is why Oregonians deserve the careful and objective consideration of the policy options forwarded by the Public Safety Commission to keep our communities safe while reducing the cost of corrections. There is an opportunity here to find alternative and effective ways to sanction non-violent offenders, invest in proven crime prevention and community corrections strategies instead of additional prison beds.

“I recognize that the politics around public safety reform are often difficult – the fear of being labeled “soft on crime” in the next election cycle. But I am asking you to find the courage and the honesty to recognize that if are unwilling act on this issue we will, by default, be choosing prisons over schools and condemning untold numbers of today's students to a future in our system of corrections rather than in our system of postsecondary education. We can do better – and the need has never been greater for the thoughtful deliberation of citizen legislators.

“Let me turn now to the need to reduce the cost drivers that are diverting resources from the classroom. I am well aware that my proposal to cap the cost of living adjustment for PERS retirees is controversial. At the same time, however, if we are serious about reinvesting in the classroom, we cannot ignore the fact that the crisis in school funding – as well as the crisis in funding things like child protective services and home health care – is not just a revenue problem: it has also become a cost problem.

“In this next biennium, the cost of primary and secondary education is going to increase by more than $1000 per student. Half of that $1000 –$500 per student – is accounted for by the increased cost of PERS alone; salary and other benefits account for another $430 per student. In short, we are faced with a situation in which we are going to increase our per pupil expenditure by $1000, and yet for this huge investment we will not see a reduction in average class size; we will not see the restoration of lost school days; and we will not be adding back programs like the arts or vocational studies.

“Let me be clear: this is not about the value of our teachers. It is not about the value of our public employees. It is also not about a major overhaul of a retirement system that continues to be one of the best funded in the nation. It is simply about trying to have a conversation that allows us to strike a balance between the cost of our retirement system and our ability to put dollars in the classroom today to ensure that our students are successful tomorrow.

“Like public safety, this issue, too, needs thoughtful deliberation by citizen legislators.

“Finally, with regard to tax expenditures, I am prepared to work with you to pursue opportunities to boost revenue. It is easy to aggregate the billions of tax dollars now going out in credits, incentives and deductions. It is more difficult to find opportunities for significant revenue. However, I think a compelling case can be made to reconsider and reassess the policies of the past in light of current fiscal realities and the need to make a significant reinvestment in public education and in other crucial public services. I would include the Senior Medical Deduction; the level of state deductibility of federal Schedule A income; and the possibility of capping total deductions and credits as areas worth further discussion.

“Again, this is yet another issue that can benefit from the thoughtful deliberation of citizen legislators.

“It will take all of us working together to reinvest in education, create jobs today while positioning Oregon to be more competitive in the global economy of the 21st century. It will take all of us working together to drive the state's per capita income back up above the national average. And it will take all of us working together to erase the troubling income disparities, which have existed for far too long in our communities of color and between our urban and rural communities.

“Which brings me back to where we began: the simple premise that everyone in the state deserves their shot at that vision of Oregon we all share: a state with a commitment to equity and opportunity for all, with secure jobs with upward income mobility, and with safe, secure communities where people have a sense of common purpose and commitment to one another.

“The same common purpose and commitment we see here in this building; and in this chamber today. And that should give us hope. In the words of Wallace Stegner:

““One cannot be pessimistic about the West. This is still the native home of hope. When it fully learns that cooperation, not rugged individualism, is the quality that most characterizes and preserves it, then it will have achieved itself and outlived its origins. Then it has a chance to create a society to match its scenery.”

“Here in Oregon, our Legislature – the men and women gathered together in this chamber today –is living proof that cooperation is the quality that best characterizes us; and that through cooperation, through trusting and relying on one another; and through hope, we can we “create a society to match our scenery.”

“It's easy, I think, for hope to fade when confronted with the list of all we have yet to accomplish. So for all of you in this grand room, and to people throughout our state, I want to leave you with this story. It's a story that I think offers perspective – both on how far we've come, but also on how far we still have to go.

“When I was in Coos Bay last November at the Annual Government to Government Summit between the State of Oregon and our nine federally recognized tribes, Diane Teaman from the Burns Paiute Tribe rose to speak. Now, the Burns Paiute is a relatively poor tribe in some ways ... they don't have the wealth of the Grand Ronde or the land base of the Warm Springs. But they have something else ...

“Diane told the story of her grandmother – then a pre-teen—who, after the Bannock war of 1878, was marched to Fort Boise, and then more than 300 miles to a reservation in Yakima. Shortly thereafter, she and another young girl escaped, swam the Columbia River, and made it another 300 miles back to Burns. It was there, where they no longer had any land or any resources, that they began to rebuild their tribe, and it is where Diane lives today.

“Diane said that when she looks out at the other tribes that are better off than the Burns Paiute, she is not envious. She remembers her grandmother and thinks: look how far we have come.

“There is a lesson here for us – and for our state. It was a long hard path from January 2011 to here, and a difficult and challenging road stretches out before us. So let us leave this place today – committed to partnership and a shared vision – so that when we gather together again in this chamber two years from now we can say once again: look how far we’ve come.”

Bill passed.

Barnhart requested the following vote explanation be entered in the Journal:

"The crossing of the Columbia together with the ports on the Columbia River, primarily the Port of Portland, is of critical importance to the economy of Lane and Linn Counties. Our export businesses are uniquely dependent on the infrastructure, including the crossing, on or around the Columbia River.

"This project requires and supports multimodal transportation development crossing the river. Washington citizens do not support light rail. Washington must agree to light rail or the project will not move forward. The plan will put in place facilities that can be flexibly modified as our transportation mix changes and our transportation system modernizes, becomes more efficient and environmentally sound.

"A major concern has been whether this very large project will negatively affect the ability of ODOT to carry through road projects we need in Lane and Linn Counties. The latest version of the bill, HB 2800A, locks this issue down. If Washington or the Federal Government fail to commit the amounts needed, or if a detailed study of traffic suggests that the toll revenue would not be sufficient, the bill puts the brakes on and does not allow the project to continue. I conclude that the CRC is unlikely to prevent us from going forward with the highway projects we need locally.

"The bill protects US content requirements and local construction employment requirements to help boost the economy of Oregon and southern Washington.

"I would like a better and less expensive plan, but this one is good enough with the major financing problems resolved, for me to cast a reluctant 'Yes' vote."

Whisnant requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted ‘no’ on SB 483, relating to ‘adverse health incidents,’ because the action created by the bill is not “tort reform.” The Governor promised the members of the 2012 Legislative Assembly that if we passed SB 1580 he would ‘deliver tort reform’.

“A bi-partisan advisory group met once in the interim to create legislation proposing ‘tort reform.’ The product which they created is described as ‘voluntary mediation.’ We tried voluntary mediation as a solution to the housing foreclosure crisis and it is not working.

“A member of the advisory group during floor debate on SB 483A on March 12, 2013 stated:

“This is not tort reform in any traditional sense. There are no caps on noneconomic damages, or medical review panels, or other reforms that have been proposed in the past and implemented in some parts of the country.”

“It is my strong belief that adequate and minimum ‘tort reform’ requires a limitation on noneconomic damages suits like the State of Oregon and Oregon Health Science University have.”

Richardson requested the following explanation be entered in the Journal:

"Senate Bill 1 would provide a state holiday on Veterans' Day for veterans.

"I am a veteran and I voted NO on Senate Bill 1. This is another example of 'feel good' legislation when the legislature should focus its attention on making Oregon a more business friendly environment for job-creating companies.

"I and my fellow veterans did what we did because it was our duty and an honor to serve our state and the United States of America. Living in a free land is enough payment for our service and we veterans do not need to be treated any differently than any other patriot citizen. In fact, by granting vets a special day off, we could even suffer a backlash from employers who, once this bill becomes law, will be required to show preference to one group of employees over the others.

"What Oregon veterans really need are more jobs where they can work and earn a living."

Bill passed.

Bailey requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I would like to record an explanation for my no vote for HB 3014.

"I strongly support the American flag and the opportunity to salute the flag. However, I believe current law is adequate, and the state need not impose additional mandates on school districts. Furthermore, children should not be placed in the position of having to make a choice on a daily basis of whether or not to stand apart from their peers."

Barton requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I am writing to explain my vote against HB 3014, which would mandate that students recite the Pledge of Allegiance of the United States daily during school hours. Although I revere the Pledge and everything it represents, I voted against this proposed legislation for these two reasons:

"(1) Elected school boards should allocate classroom time, not the Oregon Legislature. School boards are closer to their communities than is the Legislature, and Salem should defer to these community leaders wherever possible. The Legislature is increasingly asserting itself as a "super-school board," but we should resist the political pressures behind this trend.

"(2) Current law, which requires that students recite the Pledge at least weekly, better allows young students to appreciate the Pledge and its significance. Daily recital of anything, even a sacred oath, risks transforming it into unconscious habit, particularly among very young students.

"Public service has required me to attend countless government meetings, and I have concluded that the most important (and thankless) job in American government is serving on a school board. If I served on a board, I would support requiring daily recital of the Pledge among high school students, but I cannot support HB 3014 as written."

Bill passed.

Frederick requested the following vote explanation be entered into the Journal:

“I request the following explanation be entered in the Journal for April 24, 2013, regarding my vote on SB 822:

“As many others have noted, this vote was difficult. In this decision, we could neither fully do right by our public retirees nor fully do right by our school children and the future they represent. Several components, considered in isolation, continue to trouble me. I supported this bill because it was the best and most skillful solution to this dilemma that I have seen. I believe it is essential that we finish the session with the best budget we can, and one that is on solid legal ground, so that the agencies that do the work of government have the stability they need. I voted for this bill because I believe it is a necessary component in achieving that balance.”

Keny-Guyer requested the following vote explanation be entered into the Journal:

“I support SB 822 because of the need to rebuild our unsustainable PERS fund and reverse the rapidly increasing employer contribution rates. While the corrections made in 2003 were painful and necessary, we are still plagued by decisions made prior to that time, as well as the stock market crash of 2008.

“This is not the fault of retirees who devoted years of service to the public sector, providing the foundation upon which our private sector can thrive. But we are chipping away at that foundation by taking increasing portions of our public sector budgets to keep the retirement system solvent.

“This, in combination with reduced revenue (which I had hoped to address by passing the HB 2456-A for $275 million), has resulted in fewer teachers, home care and human services workers, and public safety officers. The remaining public sector workers face larger class sizes and bigger case loads. Forced furloughs reduce salaries, at a time that many are raising children who face increasing higher education costs.

“The co-chairs’ budget is a turning point to begin stabilizing K-12. I wish it could go further, to fully fund early childhood, K-12, community colleges, and higher education. With 24% of Oregon children living in poverty, I wish it could fully fund ERDC, the TANF jobs program, mental health, and addiction services that families desperately need to get back on their feet. I wish it could provide a safety net for low income seniors, people with disabilities, and others struggling to stay in their homes.

“SB 822 (along with the FULL revenue package of $275 million) is a much needed “shared sacrifice” to reinvest in our future. While not perfect, I appreciate SB 822’s attempt at balancing the needs of current retirees with the needs of current public employees and the people they serve. I appreciate the fairness by protecting the majority of modest pensioners. I recognize that the collaring will alleviate the immediate crunch on public budgets as we rebuild from the stock market crash, but feel strongly this should be done on a one time basis to protect our credit ratings.

“While this measure alone may not solve the PERS liability, I appreciate the compromise that allows us to take an important first step. I urge the legislature, the Governor, the Treasurer, the PERS board and local public sector entities to continue seeking a fair, legal, and affordable plan to sustain PERS for the benefit of all future retirees and for all Oregonians.”

Bill passed.

Gelser requested the following explanation of her vote be entered into the Journal.

“After much careful consideration, I cast an AYE vote for HB 3327 with the belief that it is a very narrow bill. The bill does not prevent the prosecution of sex crimes, it does not relieve any individual of serving their criminal sentence, nor does it relieve any individual of his requirement to register as a sex offender. The offender will still need to serve their sentence, and can only have the record expunged if there were no other offenses and the court determined that the individual met the stringent criteria for being removed from the sex offender registry. To date, only about 160 individuals (out of thousands) have successfully had their names removed from the sex offender registry. Because current law does not allow an individual to be removed from the sex offender registry if the victim is under the age of 14, the actual impact of this bill is even more narrow. It will only allow records to be expunged in the case of two teenagers having otherwise consensual sexual relations when the youngest individual is at least 14.

"If convicted these individuals will still face criminal sanctions and must travel a rigorous path to expungement. In these very few cases, it seems appropriate that an individual should have the ability to rebuild their lives after making a terrible choice as a teenager."

"I was among the 22 members of the Oregon House of Representatives to vote against House Bill 2387, to place a statue of former governor and U.S. Senator Mark O. Hatfield at Statuary Hall at the U.S. Capitol in Washington D.C.

"In order to make room for Hatfield, this bill would call for the removal of a statue of Rev. Jason Lee, one of Oregon's pioneers.

"The vote on HB 2387 is not one that I took lightly. There were very passionate people on both sides of this issue.

"But ultimately, I decided to vote against it.

"I feel that future generations, not contemporaries, should judge the status of someone who served the public. This particular decision would best be made by subsequent generations, once history has had the chance to truly take its course and provide the benefits of hindsight.

"Senator Hatfield is someone for whom I have the utmost respect and admiration. But on some level, I don't think this measure is something he would have wanted – not at this time.

"We are fortunate to be following in the footsteps of both of these men. Hopefully, leaders of their magnitude will continue to light the way for future generations and build a brighter future for every man, woman and child in Oregon."

On parliamentary inquiry, Berger questioned whether bill would require the affirmative vote of 31 members of the House or 36 members of the House in order to be declared passed.

Speaker ruled passage of the bill would require the affirmative vote of 31 members of the House, citing a memorandum received from Legislative Counsel dated May 21, 2013 which stated:

“The basis for the conclusion that HB 3477 is not a bill for raising revenue is principally the Northern Counties Trust emphasis on confining the meaning of the phrase ‘bills for raising revenue’ to only those bills that levy taxes in the strict sense of the words and excluding bills that merely incidentally raise revenue. The main purpose of HB 3477 is to eliminate the authority of foreign associations to ‘take, acquire, hold and enforce notes secured by mortgages or trust deeds.’”

“The repeal of ORS 317.057 by HB 3477 is simply a conforming change to completely achieve the elimination of a foreign association's authority to acquire or hold notes secured by mortgages, as ORS 317.057 exempts foreign associations from tax on income unrelated to property secured by mortgages while expressly subjecting income accruing to the foreign association from property secured by mortgages or the disposition thereof. Both the exemption from tax and inclusion of specified types of income into the tax base are eliminated by the repeal of ORS 317.057.”

Additionally, “. . . assuming that HB 3477 would raise the maximum amount of $1 million per biennium, that amount comprises less than 0.012 percent of the total General Fund/Lottery Fund. That relatively small amount constitutes only an incidental amount of revenue and therefore does not render HB 3477 a bill for raising revenue for the purposes of requiring a supermajority vote.”

Based on the above memorandum, Speaker ruled HB 3477 would require the constitutional majority of 31 affirmative votes to be declared passed.

Berger, joined by McLane, appealed the ruling of the Chair.

The decision of the Chair was sustained, the vote being: Yeas, 34; Nays, 25 – Bentz, Berger, Cameron, Conger, Davis, Esquivel, Freeman, Gilliam, Hanna, Hicks, Huffman, Jenson, Johnson, Krieger, McLane, Olson, Parrish, Richardson, Smith, Sprenger, Thatcher, Thompson, Weidner, Whisnant, Whitsett; Excused, 1 – Kennemer. "Because I wanted to ensure passage of HB 5041, I waited for the total count on HB 5041 to be completed to show passage before lodging my protest 'no' vote. "While both of these salaries are doubtless far lower than the private sector, the large discrepancy between these two legal positions in our public sector judicial system is unjustified, given the similar level of training, skills, and value to our judicial system."

"I voted against HJM 6 for two reasons. The first is that the Oregon Constitution, Article I, section 8, states: 'No law shall be passed restraining the free expression of opinion, or restricting the right to speak, write, or print freely on any subject whatever; but every person shall be responsible for the abuse of this right.'

"I don't believe the Legislature should send a Memorial to Congress that calls for action contrary to the Oregon Constitution.

"Second, if only natural people can assert constitutional rights, then what are the full consequences of that? For example, will the ACLU be able to bring an action to enforce religious liberties?"

"For the two reasons mentioned above, I voted NO on HJM 6."

"I would like to provide an explanation of why I voted 'no' on HB 3521 on Tuesday, June 25, 2013 for the record.

"I support the right of all registered voters to exercise their right to vote, and of all qualified electors to register to vote. I also support the bill's policy goal of universal voter registration. However, I represent four counties that have been economically depressed for decades and have great challenges funding basic public services. I have substantial concerns about the increased cost to be borne by counties to process an abrupt increase in voter registration and effectively implement this legislation.

"While I appreciate efforts to move to a more inclusive and representative form of democracy, I cannot in good conscience vote for a bill that will increase the financial burden on local governments without providing them the resources to reasonably carry out these duties."

“I ask that the following explanation be entered on my behalf in the Journal for June 27, 2013, regarding my vote on HB 3232, directing Oregon Education Investment Board to design and implement programs that make strategic investments related to education:

“I voted ‘No’ on HB 3232, directing the Oregon Education Investment Board to design and implement programs that make strategic investments related to education.

“I recognize that these initiatives aim to reclaim the educational status of the Oregon Department of Education, and begin to recreate it as an agency devoted to developing, sustaining and celebrating the best systems for teaching and preparing Oregon students. I also recognize that this is in contrast to a mission focused on Federal and State compliance that has been forced on the department over the past two decades. For those reasons I wanted to support the bill.

“But schools and school districts are struggling to provide appropriate class sizes, diverse and comprehensive curriculum, and appropriate equipment. Even small amounts of money matter when the fundamental mission is threatened by lack of resources.

“After much deliberation, I continue to believe that the initiatives in HB 3232 should have been more limited, and the money saved by doing so should have been dedicated toward building the comprehensive educational programs our state should have.”

Frederick requested the following vote explanation be entered in the Journal:

“I ask that the following explanation be entered on my behalf in the Journal for June 27, 2013, regarding my vote on HB 3233, directing Oregon Education Investment Board to design and implement programs that make strategic investments related to education:

“I voted ‘No’ on HB 3233, to establish a Network of Quality Teaching and Learning.

“I support recognizing teaching as a professional endeavor. I also believe that professional collaboration, professional development and professional judgment are key to solving the challenges of education in the 21st century. I support a focus on teaching and learning; for too long we have put faith in changing governance models and so-called “delivery systems” as if interaction between teacher and student were an anachronistic luxury.

“My biggest concern is the unknown long term cost associated with adoption of the Common Core State Standards and the associated mandated standardized tests. I remain skeptical that these initiatives will be implemented without narrowing the academic opportunities available to every student regardless of income or location, or without driving resources of time and energy as well as dollars away from instruction in favor of measurement.”

“I voted in favor of this bill in recognition that we still need to complete our debt service on the previous Oregon Appropriation Bond Fund ($28.9 mil) and the OHSU Bond Fund ($31.2 mil) for one more biennium, and because I am delighted that we are finally putting some of the Master Settlement Fund to its intended recipient: Tobacco prevention and cessation ($4 mil) and PE in K-12 schools ($4 mil), with the remaining amount going to the Oregon Health Plan ($116 mil).

“Tobacco remains the number one cause of preventable death in Oregon accounting for nearly 7,000 deaths and costing Oregon’s Medicaid program $287 million per year. Annual health care expenditures in Oregon directly caused by tobacco use costs $1.11 billion annually. It’s been estimated to cost twice that amount if you count lost productivity to our state economy.

“I feel strongly that we should shift more of these funds towards tobacco prevention and cessation, as the Fund intended, in the future.”

HB 2322 – Message from the Governor announcing he signed with line item veto to section 31 and approved the remaining provisions of the bill, signed on August 14, 2013.

August 14, 2013

The Honorable Kate Brown
Secretary of State
136 State Capitol
900 Court Street NE
Salem, OR 97301

Dear Secretary Brown:

Under Article V, section 15a, of the Oregon Constitution, the Governor has the power to veto "single items in appropriation bills * * * without thereby affecting any other provision of such bill." Exercising that constitutional authority, I hereby disapprove and veto Section 31 of Enrolled House Bill 2322 without affecting the remaining provisions of the bill.

House Bill 2322 is an "appropriation bill" that is subject to the line-item veto authority granted to me by the Oregon Constitution. The bill relates to state financial administration and Section 31 of the bill, in particular, appropriates money by placing money in a specified fund to be used for specific purposes. Section 31 also is a "single item" within the bill that is distinct and severable.

The public purpose charge is a three percent charge on the customer bills of investor-owned utilities, enacted in 1999. When adopted by the Legislature, the intent of the public purpose charge was to fund energy efficiency and conservation, new renewable energy resources, energy-related projects in schools, low-income weatherization and low-income bill payment assistance, as outlined in ORS 757.612. Public purpose charge dollars are separate and distinct from the State General Fund. After these funds are collected by the utilities, they are transferred to the Energy Trust of Oregon, Oregon Department of Energy and Oregon Department of Housing and Community Services for disbursement pursuant to the statute.

Section 31 of House Bill 2322 directs the Oregon Department of Housing and Community Services to transfer $4.8 million in public purpose charge funds from The Low-Income Electric Bill Payment Assistance Fund to the Clean Energy Development Fund for coordination of home energy efficiency assessments, and financing and contracting activities pursuant to the Governor's 10-year energy action plan. Though the intent of the Oregon State Legislature is that this appropriation help fund the work of Clean Energy Works Oregon this was not explicitly stated in Section 31 of HB 2322 and would therefore be subject to public contracting law.

The use of public purpose charge funds for this purpose is inappropriate. Public purpose charge funds are rate-payer dollars designated for specific purposes outlined in statute and held in trust to benefit the rate-payers of Portland General Electric and PacifiCorp, the people who pay the public purpose charge. The use of these funds required in Section 31 of House Bill 2322 is inconsistent with the direction of the public purpose charge as established in statute. If this section of the bill were to become law the effort would very likely result in lengthy and costly litigation.

Despite this line item veto, Clean Energy Works Oregon is a critical component to carrying out Goal 1 of the Governor's 10-year energy action plan and I will continue to work with legislative leadership, the co-chairs of the Ways and Means Committee, Clean Energy Works Oregon, and other stakeholders to ensure Clean Energy Works Oregon has the financial resources necessary to scale their business model. Energy efficiency and conservation is the least-cost way to meet our state's increasing demand for energy, reduces the need for new generation and transmission investments, creates local jobs that cannot be outsourced and saves customers money on their utility bills.

Clean Energy Works Oregon is a state-wide organization working to drive the market for home energy efficiency and conservation by focusing on total home retrofits for Oregonians. As a leader on High Road labor standards that ensure quality jobs and access to opportunity for historically disadvantaged populations, the organization has created over 350 new hires in the construction industry and more than 1200 workers have received paychecks from working on Clean Energy Works

Oregon projects. 56% of the trade and technical hours were worked by people of color and women at an average wage of $21.39 per hour. Clean Energy Works Oregon is not only creating a new market for energy efficiency and conservation in Oregon, but is a nationally-recognized model. Funded at the $10 million level, Clean Energy Works Oregon will reach scale and become a wholly-private non-profit organization, no longer in need of state assistance. In addition they will retrofit 5,000 homes, create or sustain 500 jobs and generate $72 million in economic activity.

To help Clean Energy Works Oregon scale, there are several appropriate funding sources I will pursue. First, I am working with Clean Energy Works Oregon and key stakeholders to leverage additional private capital investment for the organization through the sale of their loan portfolio. This additional private capital investment will create the revenue necessary to hold the organization harmless until February 2014. Second, if additional private capital is not available the state will provide bridge funding from the State's Energy Loan Program or the Strategic Reserve Fund. Third, I will pursue what performance-based incentives are available for Clean Energy Works Oregon to increase the adoption rate of home performance retrofits for their customers. Lastly, I will continue to work with legislative leadership and the co-chairs of the Ways and Means Committee to find an appropriate funding source to fully fund Clean Energy Works Oregon for the 2013-2015 Biennium. Clean Energy Works Oregon is a critical component in helping to meet Goal 1 of the Governor's 10-year energy action plan and I will continue to take those actions within my power to ensure the organization is able to scale.

Sincerely,
John A. Kitzhaber, M.D.
Governor

HB 5008 – Message from the Governor announcing he line item vetoed section 99 (4), 99 (5) and 100 and approved the remaining provisions of the bill, signed on August 14, 2013.

August 14, 2013

The Honorable Kate Brown
Secretary of State
136 State Capitol
900 Court Street NE
Salem, OR 97301

Dear Secretary Brown:

Under Article V, section 15a, of the Oregon Constitution, the Governor has the power to veto "single items in appropriations bills, without thereby affecting any other provision of such bill." Exercising that constitutional authority, I hereby disapprove and veto Sections 99 (4), 99 (5), and 100 of Enrolled House Bill 5008 without affecting the remaining provisions of the bill.

House Bill 5008 is an appropriation bill that includes actions regarding the legislatively adopted budget for the Public Employee's Benefits Board (PEBB) and the Oregon Educators' Benefit Board (OEBB). In my view, we should be expecting better value from our health care partners and creating a health care delivery system that is accountable for the money paid. PEBB and OEBB members have stepped up over the past two years with increased contributions and in taking greater responsibility for their personal health. It is now time to increase the accountability from our health system partner.

The budget from HB 5030 reflects my expectation that PEBB and OEBB not take the traditional pathway of budget balancing that only shift costs to members but rather fundamentally changes how care is delivered to members and their families. By improving health, eliminating waste and controlling costs, we want to ensure that PEBB and OEBC members have the care they need today and in the future. As a responsible employer, we want to continue to collaborate with our employees on how best to improve employee health. Together we have made headway on these fronts, and there is a lot more to be done. This is a step to get more value for the employee's and taxpayers' dollars.

Accordingly, I am exercising my constitutional authority to disapprove and veto Sections 99 (4), 99 (5), and 100 of Enrolled HB 5008 without affecting the remaining provisions of the bill.

Sincerely,
John A. Kitzhaber, M.D.
Governor
