“I’d like to thank the members of Confluence, the Willamette Valley’s LGBT community chorus, for bringing beautiful music into our chamber this morning, and thank you for joining us. It’s always good to have you here.

“And to all the family and friends of those of us on the floor today:

“Thank you for being here today and thank you – we’re moving a little slowly this morning – I know there are a lot of you here, so thank you for your patience.

“We want to thank you, on behalf of my colleagues, for all the love and support over the years. We would not be here doing this work without you. So, thank you. Thank you for being patient with us. Thank you for the support. We can’t do this job without you and you are an integral part of our public service. So if we could, round of applause for our family and friends here today for us.

“This is the fourth time I am honored by the Speaker of the House. I know that Oregonians across the state are expecting us to listen well, to listen to everyone, and find solutions through respectful debate. I know that all of us are up to the task.

“I have four requests of you today to help us do that work:

- First, I would ask that you please don’t be afraid to listen. Active listening is an important part of good policymaking.
- Second, I would ask that you not be afraid to listen to different perspectives because all voices in this chamber and in this Capitol need to be heard.
- Third, I would ask you not to be afraid to engage in robust debates. We must not shy away from any difficult conversation, if we are to do our work.
- And, fourth, I would ask that you not be afraid to be kind to each other and to have respectful conversations, even when the rest of the world is telling us to do otherwise.

“Because if we do those things together, I believe we, as a legislative assembly, will be successful.

“How we treat others, how we treat the staff who work in this building, and how we treat the public who come here every day to advocate for their issues impacts our ability to do the work our constituents sent us here to do.

“Because I have you here, I’d like to take a few minutes to address all of you about our shared responsibility to improve the workplace culture here in the Capitol.

“I know that we all value a workplace where everyone can feel safe from harassment and intimidation and where everyone can do their best work for the people of this state.

“We have inherited systems and structures that we need to recognize as outdated, and we need to commit collectively to adopting better policies and practices to reflect the world we want to live in today.

“For those of you who have not been to my office, those who have will know that you only have to look at the size of the bathrooms in my office to understand – the size of the men’s bathroom versus the size of the women’s bathroom – to understand that we have not always valued participation in this building equally.

“We all know our workplace is very complex. There are so many different people who come here every day, and as leaders, it is our responsibility to protect and support all of them.

“It’s important to remember that we are at the top of the food chain here in this building. Our power and our privilege affect everyone who works in this building and who visits this building.

“And if anyone is sitting on the floor today thinking they’re not the problem, I would ask that you catch yourself. We are part of the problem if we – each of us – is not modeling the best behavior. We are part of the problem if we are not intervening when we witness inappropriate behavior. And we are definitely part of the problem if we are engaging in inappropriate behavior.

“We all have to step up to improve the workplace in this building and every one of us has to step up to make it happen.

“The good thing is that, the upside of all of this, is that the Senate President and I, and our really hard-working staff, are providing solutions for all of us to do a better job. We have better mandatory trainings and we also have a set of recommendations from outside experts that help us find ways to improve our workplace culture.

“This week you are scheduled to have about 10 hours of mandatory training to help you be part of the solution. I’m just going to run through them because we haven’t had a chance to actually talk about this.

- On Tuesday morning, we’ll participate in a training entitled ‘Building Full Inclusion at the State Capitol.’ I would say consider this a training for a foundation of everything we need to do. The goals of the training are to improve personal awareness about inclusion, deepen our understanding about the value of inclusion to the Legislature’s success, and prepare us to take action to help ensure that equity can be a lived reality in our Capitol.
- On Wednesday morning – and this will be depending on the federal shutdown, whether or not we will have the training on Wednesday – we’re going to participate in the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission’s (EEOC) respectful workplace training. The branch in the building have already had the training. The Capitol Club and members of your staff will also be having the training.
- This training utilizes national best practices and focuses less on ‘what not to do’ and more on what we as supervisors and leaders should be doing as it pertains to respect in the workplace. It will help train us to stop hostile actions before they start by learning ways to treat everyone with dignity and respect. This training, if it’s not happening this week, will be rescheduled as soon as possible when the trainers are available.
- On Wednesday afternoon, we’ll participate in the branch’s ‘members as managers’ training so we understand our roles and responsibilities while maintaining a safe and supportive workplace.
- Finally, all day on Thursday, the National Institute for Civil Discourse will lead us through the training to help us keep civility front and center as we work to solve problems. We all know we work in a very difficult and emotional environment, and so any time we can find some additional tools to help us work together is beneficial because we need to be able to understand and appreciate everybody’s perspective.

“I know this is a lot of work to do and I know this is going to make for an exhausting week, and it’s work worth doing. So I want to thank you ahead of time for the work you’re going to put in.

“My expectation is that each of you will engage fully and seriously in the educational opportunities we have coming up this week. It’s really important, so thank you for taking them seriously.

“Our work to improve our workplace culture starts with this improved slate of training. However, this alone will not improve our culture here. Fortunately, we have a strong set of recommendations from the Oregon Law Commission that the Joint Committee on Capitol Culture will start to review next week. That committee will be changed later this week to be evenly split between both caucuses. It will be three Democrats and three Republicans, and that change will be coming later in the week.

“The Commission’s recommendations are an achievable roadmap that will help us to have the best Capitol in the nation to work in. If you haven’t had chance yet, please read the report from the law commission. It’s my hope that we will move forward with all of the recommendations as soon as possible out of the Capitol Culture Committee.

“I’m confident that working together, we can make the changes necessary for our Capitol. I know we want to have the model workplace and I think we can get there.

“Thank you for your attention. I appreciate your patience as I went a little bit into business here. Congratulations for being here today.

“We have a huge responsibility to represent our districts in the best way possible and I know that we have great people in this chamber today. I look forward to being with you on the journey ahead of us. So thank you very much for your time. I appreciate it.”

(4) All members must remain within the bar of the House until the vote is taken for which the Call was made. However, when the House is waiting for an unexcused member to return to the floor, or in order to access the facilities, or the presiding officer has announced that the House is "at ease," the members may have access to the area behind the rostrum. Members must then return to within the bar.

(5) A Call of the House shall be considered terminated when the question for which the Call was invoked has been voted upon or when a motion to terminate the Call is approved by forty members. The motion to terminate the Call shall be in order when the Sergeant at Arms has reported that unexcused members cannot be returned within a reasonable time. Termination of the Call under this subsection terminates the requirement that the Sergeant at Arms search for unexcused members. In the absence of a quorum after the report of the Sergeant at Arms is received, the House may terminate the Call by the unanimous consent of the members present.

(6) Upon a Call and until the proceedings are terminated, the presiding officer shall direct the Sergeant at Arms to authorize members of the Senate, representatives of the news media and staff identified under House Rule 17.01(1) to leave or enter the chamber.

(7) The minority report is subject to the requirements of Rule 5.35.

(8) Issues contained within a minority report must have been submitted as proposed Legislative Counsel amendments and distributed to the committee for possible consideration. The current version of a measure as submitted to the committee may be used as a minority report without it having to be resubmitted as an amendment.

(3) A motion to reconsider may be debated together with the main question if the subject of the main question is debatable and the vote on the main question was not ordered by a motion for the previous question. If the vote on the main question was ordered by the previous question, neither the motion to reconsider nor the main question is debatable. However, a debatable motion to refer shall be allowed if the vote on the main question is reconsidered.

(4) The motion to reconsider shall be voted on the first session day after that on which the vote to be reconsidered was taken. The motion for reconsideration has precedence over any other motion, subject to the provisions of Rule 5.10. However, if the measure subject to reconsideration was passed so late in the session that the Speaker has reasonable cause to believe that its retention will unnecessarily delay the orderly process of legislative business, the Speaker shall immediately lay the motion for reconsideration before the House.

(5) Thirty-one affirmative votes are required to reconsider the final vote on a measure.

(6) There shall be only one motion for reconsideration of any final vote even though the action of the House reverses its previous action.

Governor Kate Brown
Inaugural Address as Prepared
January 14, 2019

“Thank you all so much for being here.

“It’s an incredible honor to serve Oregon for four more years.

“Today is a little bittersweet for me, as this ceremony marks my final four years as governor. But, aside from how this feels for me, this is an important moment for our state.

“In many ways, Oregon is progressing on ground that many of our neighbors wish they could tread.

“And in November, Oregonians defeated ballot measures that would have moved us backwards. Together, we used our vote to affirm Oregon values.

“For years we have struggled to overcome the impacts of recession on our state revenue, to build up adequate funding for our education system, and stabilize access to health care.

“Our state is growing faster than at any point in our lifetimes. With growth comes a lot of really good things. More jobs. More ideas. And hopefully, more opportunities.

“At the same time, not everyone is experiencing this prosperity.

“Across Oregon, communities large and small are struggling with homelessness. This crisis is playing out daily on our streets — and on our sidewalks.

“For many families, the cost of housing, health care, child care, and higher education are all outpacing wage growth.

“And all of this is against the backdrop of a federal government that has never been in more disarray.

“The first step is to ensure that our democracy is strong. And fight every effort to undermine it.

“Voting is our country’s greatest collective responsibility, and we must vigorously safeguard the sanctity of our elections. While our elections institutions are amongst the best in the nation, we have more work to do to ensure that every single voice is heard.

“I will work for campaign finance reform, fight for paid postage on our ballots, and expand our automatic voter registration system.

“Vote by mail and Oregon’s motor voter have made it so that we have one of the highest voter participation rates in the country.

“But when it comes to campaign finance, we are still the wild wild west. This needs to end.

“No one should be able to buy a megaphone so loud that it drowns out all the other voices.

“Next, we are facing an affordability crisis in health care and housing that needs to be addressed immediately.

“Because of the work we’ve done to expand the Oregon Health Plan, today 94 percent of adults have access.

“And because of the work we did to pass Cover All Kids, every single one of our children has access.

“Let’s work together to make sure every Oregonian has the health care they need.

“My budget sets forth a consensus approach as to how we stabilize funding for the Oregon Health Plan. Let’s make it happen, and let’s move quickly.

“Families across Oregon need to know that they’ll be able to see a doctor when they’re sick. And that means giving them certainty as soon as we can this session.

“Also fundamental is that every Oregonian should have a warm, safe, dry place to call home. And it should be affordable and accessible.

“We have a housing crisis. We have to act quickly to help the chronically homeless and our children and families and our veterans.

“My budget makes a historic $400 million investment in housing.

“It’s an ambitious plan. But if we move now, we can get results quickly.

“We can’t keep doing the same thing expecting a different result, which is why I’m going to ask you to try something new.

“If you approve a $20 million bonding package early this session, we can speed up construction of 200 units of permanent housing for the chronically homeless.

“We also need to help Oregonians who have homes but are struggling with the high cost of rent. When problems arise, they need technical assistance to stay in their homes and not end up on the streets. We can help landlords and tenants navigate this tight housing market.

“Speaker Kotek and Senator Burdick have innovative proposals that will give renters some peace of mind.

“Oregon families are counting on us.

“They are counting on us so they don’t have to make a choice between paying the rent and staying home with their newborn.

“They are counting on us to make sure that their children are safe and that they can afford child care.

“Let’s work to take those worries off the table by working for paid family leave and affordable, accessible daycare.

“As elected officials we have to prioritize our resources while leading during trying times.

“I want to take a second to thank all of our state employees and volunteers who are working to keep federal facilities accessible to Oregonians during the government shutdown.

“Government should be working for the people.

“During my entire time as Governor, I have focused on spending every taxpayer dollar wisely. We worked together on this last session. We’re not going to get credit for that work, but that’s not the point. We still have to do it.

“I am focused on several important items this session. And I put them in my budget.

“First, adding internal auditors, who will ensure that every state agency is delivering the level of service that Oregonians expect while saving every penny they can along the way.

“Second, eliminating backlogs and decreasing wait times in critical areas, like child-care licensing and food safety inspections.

“Third, modernizing the way we deliver services and purchase goods. We can save taxpayer dollars if we streamline the way state government does business. Especially by implementing a new centralized procurement system.

“While we tackle today’s pressing fiscal challenges, we also must address the challenges of our future.

“Today, we stand at a turning point, with an opportunity to put Oregon on a better path forward.

“Our young people deserve to inherit an Oregon as beautiful and bountiful as the one we cherish today.

“And last year was the warmest year in Oregon since 1895.

“Wildfires have increased in intensity and severity in the past decade, threatening our culture, our communities, and our economy. Oregon must continue to pursue solutions that will reduce harmful emissions while creating good jobs and building a clean energy economy.

“A couple of weeks ago, I received a letter from Abner. He’s 10 years old.

“He wanted to make sure that I knew the consequences of inaction.

“On one side of the card he drew an Earth struggling from years of global warming. ‘Hot, hot, hot,’ read the caption. The Earth was frowning.

“On the other side was an image of an Earth in perfect health. A beaming smile stretched across the planet.

“What are you doing about climate change?” Abner wrote.

“Well Abner, I hope you’re listening. Because we’re on it.

“Twelve years ago, Governor Kulongoski set the limit on carbon emissions. And now, this session, we need to meet those goals.

“Thank you, Governor Kulongoski for your leadership, and thank you to the legislators—both Republican and Democrat—for the work you’re doing to lead the way.

“I look forward to signing our clean energy jobs bill this session.

“Just as our climate is changing, our economy is rapidly changing.

“We need to make sure that every single one of our students is Future Ready.

“That means each one of them graduates from high school with a plan for their future and the skills to compete in a global economy.

“Higher education also needs to be more affordable and more accessible to Oregon families.

“The good news is, our current strong economy gives us the best chance in a generation to address persistent, structural challenges in our education system. The time is now. If we wait, we’ll only fall further behind when the economy eventually falters.

“At one time, every Oregonian was proud of our education system. It was a promise that if you chose to put down roots in Oregon, your children would receive a world-class education and have the opportunity to achieve their dreams. But over the past couple of decades, we have failed to deliver on that promise.

“We have not significantly increased per pupil spending since the early 1990s. While other states were able to invest in schools and take advantage of economic recoveries, Oregon has had to rely on state funds to backfill local property taxes.

“How our state provides for the needs of our children is a marker of who we are as a community. After years of underinvestment, it’s going to take more than just additional funding to bring our schools back to a level we can be proud of.

“We have failed our students of color and we have left rural Oregon behind. Now is the time to close that opportunity gap.

“Our education system is in desperate need of repair, reform, and reinvestment. It’s like an old house that hasn’t been maintained. The longer we wait, the more it will cost to fix it.

“I will work with you, the business community, teachers, and parents to fund K-12 schools at a level that ensures our districts aren’t forced to make cuts.

“My budget also includes resources to stabilize PERS rates for schools. This is in addition to the dedicated investments we began last year.

“The unfunded liability in PERS is not going away. We must accelerate our work to stabilize PERS rates so that new dollars go directly into the classroom.

“Over the past year, we have worked with your Student Success Committee to build consensus on how to repair our schools.

“We agree that we need to prepare an additional 10,000 kids for kindergarten.

“We agree that we need to create a School Improvement Fund that invests in our students. And provides smaller class sizes and a longer school year.

“We agree that every single high school student must have the opportunity to participate in job training classes like CTE or hands-on learning.

“We agree that we need to attract, train, and retain the best teachers in the country.

“And we agree that we have to keep tuition affordable and open the doors to higher education.

“My expectation is that these investments we’re making in education will improve outcomes for all of our kids.

“Oregonians deserve transparency as to how their taxpayer dollars are being spent.

“As Superintendent of Schools, I will streamline my oversight of our education system and ensure greater accountability. The Chief Education Office will sunset next year and the majority of the functions will move directly into my office.

“We will hold school districts accountable by auditing the School Improvement Fund to ensure that new dollars are used to improve graduation rates, reduce class sizes, and provide a full school year.

“I was the oldest of four kids. My mom taught me to squeeze every single bit of toothpaste out of the tube.

“Oregonians need to know that state government is using every taxpayer dollar wisely.

“Health care, housing, protecting our environment, defending our democracy, and investing in our children. These are fundamentals. But solving the problems before us, turning the corner—it’s not going to be easy.

“That’s OK. We know how to do the tough stuff. We do it the Oregon way: Working across the aisle and around the state.

“Urban and rural, Democrat and Republican. We do what we’ve done time and again: put politics aside and serve the people of Oregon.

“And to the new members who are joining us this year, I offer you again my congratulations, and a word of advice: put on your metal underpants.

“Politics can be messy, and a term in the legislature is not for the faint of heart.

“But having the privilege to serve Oregon is an incredible honor.

“Thank you, Governor Roberts, for your advice and counsel and for opening the doors for women like me.

“I also want to say thank you to Governor Kulongoski for being my friend and mentor.

“I am truly standing on the shoulders of giants.

“Even if they are short giants.

“I started my career as an advocate for children and families and I intend to end it as one.

“In closing I want to share a little bit about Jacob Burris. We met this summer.

“Jacob is 17 years old. His mother paid for their basic needs by waiting tables. And Jacob’s health care was covered by the Oregon Health Plan because he has a chronic health condition.

“And thanks to the Affordable Care Act he’s had access to the medical care that he needs.

“His life decisions, including his profession, will be dictated by his ability to get health insurance.

“Because Jacob has a pre-existing condition.

“Fortunately, she just got a new job with health care coverage and can start saving and finally get ahead.

“Today we have a choice. Are we willing to do the work to make the dream of a better Oregon come true?

“We are. And Jacob’s story should serve as an inspiration to get this done.

“In talking to Jacob, his diagnosis changed everything. But living with a pre-existing condition fueled his creativity.

“He figured out how to communicate with the world in new ways, by designing shoes and sweatshirts that tell a story.

“He has figured out how to talk about living day-to-day with a medical condition that will stay with him his entire life.

“And in doing so, he has literally blazed a path for his future.

“The time is now. Our future is in front of us. We have to turn the corner and make it a reality. Together we can build a better Oregon.

“Thank you.”

The benediction was given by Armand Minthorn, Umatilla Tribal Member.

“Canta, Canta, Canta,” “Como Quien Pierde Una Estrella,” and “Guadalajara” were performed by the Woodburn High School Mariachi Band, directed by Brian Gingerich.

Guests were escorted from the House chamber.

Speaker Kotek declared the Joint Assembly adjourned.

 HB 2975 Ways and Means

HB 2010, 2040, 2069, 2070, 2090, 2691 – Read second time and passed to third reading.

HB 2512 – Read third time. Carried by Doherty. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 46; Nays, 11 – Bonham, Boshart Davis, McLane, Nearman, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Sprenger, Stark, Wilson, Zika; Excused, 3 – Barreto, Boles, Rayfield. Bill passed.

Reschke requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted NO today on HB 2512 because, upon further reflection, I do not believe it is good policy to have active teachers on the State Board of Education. I believe there is a good reason that the current statute does not allow active teachers to be State Board of Education members, primarily to maintain an independent perspective concerning our public education system.”

Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted NO on HB 2512 for the following reasons and more... requires that one member of the State Board of Education to be engaged in teaching as a licensed teacher and declares an emergency. As was discussed on the House Floor, there could be a potential conflict of interest on the legislation, there has already been issues on the board when expanded and there is no reason to declare an emergency and have an emergency clause on the legislation.”

HB 2397 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Post. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 57; Excused, 3 – Barreto, Boles, Rayfield. Bill passed.

Tuesday, February 19, 2019 -- Morning Session

House convened at 11:00 a.m. Speaker in Chair.

Opening ceremony presented by Representative Jeff Barker, Aloha.

Upon verification of quorum: All present except: Excused, 1 – Drazan.

Committee Report File No. 28 was distributed on February 18, 2019.

HB 2257 – Report by Committee on Health Care recommending passage with amendments and be printed A-Engrossed. Bill referred to Committee on Ways and Means by prior reference.

Helt moved that, in compliance with Article IV, Section 19 of the Oregon Constitution, and notwithstanding any provision of the Rules of the House of Representatives of the Eightieth Legislative Assembly, the requirement that on its final passage each bill shall be read section by section be suspended for today's third reading calendar and that they be read by title only. Motion carried on viva voce vote.

HB 2989, 2992, 2993, 2994, 2995, 2996, 2997, 2998, 2999, 3000, 3001, 3002, 3003 – Introduced, read and passed to Speaker's desk for referral.

HB 2090 – Read third time under Consent Calendar. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 59; Excused, 1 – Drazan. Bill passed.

HB 2010 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Nosse. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 44; Nays, 15 – Barreto, Bonham, Hayden, Leif, Lewis, McLane, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Sprenger, Stark, Wilson, Zika; Excused, 1 – Drazan. Bill passed.

Leif requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I would like to explain my ‘NO’ vote position on HB2010. Please don’t believe that in any way I don’t support Medicaid and Medicare for older adults, in fact I do. But rather I do not agree with the taxes it creates and the funding gap still left over by this bill without considering the amendments.

“I voted ‘NO’ because of rising costs to insurance and the funding gap that still exists, which may create new taxes that may hurt the lower income population.

“I voted ‘NO’ because several proposed amendments to create carve outs for schools and carve outs for employers that are not required to provide insurance, were not considered.

“I voted ‘NO’ because this legislation will have a negative impact on small businesses.

“Furthermore, I voted ‘NO’ because of the process that Vice Chair Hayden’s proposals would have benefited Oregonians and businesses were not considered, as he explained with his comments on the House Floor.”

Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted NO on HB 2010 for the following reasons and more... Vice Chair Hayden proposed multiple amendments to better the legislation; carve out for schools (-1) and carve out for employers not required to provide insurance(-2), that the majority party failed to consider. The legislation hurts small business. The legislation also will be impacted our lower income working families. As individual pay increases, many families are being kicked off state assisted health care, although they cannot afford private insurance. These Oregonians will be impacted financially, thus taking more dollars away from their ability to provide themselves and their family insurance.

“Further, Vice Chair Hayden proposed more amendments to HB 2864 (-1 & -2) that would have assisted small businesses in covering the costs associated with HB 2010.

“I encourage any interested to view the Floor Debate on this legislation, especially that from Committee Vice Chair, Representative Cedric Hayden’s comments on the floor.”

Wilson requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“To begin with, it is incredibly difficult to be successful in small business in Oregon; this bill will unfairly fall on small businesses.

“Furthermore, House Committee on Health Care Vice Chair Cedric Hayden proposed multiple amendments to better the legislation which were not considered by the majority party. The legislation also severely impacts our lower-income working families. As individual pay increases, many families are being kicked off state-assisted health care, although they cannot afford private insurance. These Oregonians will be impacted financially, thus taking more dollars away from their ability to provide themselves and their family insurance.

“Further, Vice Chair Hayden proposed more amendments to HB 2864 (-1 & -2) that would have assisted small businesses in covering the costs associated with HB 2010.

“I encourage any interested to view the Floor Debate on this legislation, especially that from Committee Vice Chair, Representative Cedric Hayden’s comments on the floor.”

HB 2191 – Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted NO on HB 2191 for the following reasons and more... there are already existing laws that cover this for students. I also feel strongly that the last situation a suicidal student needs is to be left alone at home. I lost a dear high school friend to suicide, while during the school year, while he was home alone.”

HB 2191 – Wallan requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“There is not a single person in my life, and likely none in my community, who has not been touched in some way by suicide. I was torn about how to vote on HB 2191, because I understand the need to address the mental health issues facing our students. My concern is that students who are suffering from depression and suicidal thoughts should not be left at home alone. Isolating a child in this condition only exacerbates the problem and presents an opportunity to act.”

HB 2406 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Bonham. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 60. Bill passed.

HB 2506 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Smith Warner. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 60. Bill passed.

SB 608 – Read third time. Carried by Meek.

Helt declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“I would like to declare a potential conflict of interest on Senate Bill 608 – Relating to residential tenancies; and declaring an emergency, because I own a rental property.”

SB 608 – On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 35; Nays, 25 – Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Boshart Davis, Drazan, Findley, Gomberg, Hayden, Helt, Leif, Lewis, McKeown, McLane, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Smith G, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Wilson, Witt, Zika. Bill passed.

SB 608 – Evans requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“Senate Bill 608 (SB 608) reflects a compromise between landlords and renters: it offers remedy to egregious price-gouging taking place throughout the State of Oregon, it attempts to stabilize rental prices through implementing a cap on future growth, and it ends the practice of ‘no-cause’ evictions except in very certain and specific circumstances. This bill is neither the perfect nor the awful, it is a negotiated instrument for bringing certainty to an uncertain housing dynamic. It provides sufficient wiggle-room for all vested parties and does so while still achieving a public good. Accordingly, I shall support the compromise because even though it does not do all things, it does do a few important things for those facing significant challenges.

“That being said, I believe this measure will not likely yield some of the results advocates hope for. We must find a path to incentives within the market for variety of housing – especially affordable housing – stock. SB 608 is as far as I am prepared to go in terms of caps and/or controls. It is now time for us to work collaboratively, cooperatively, and creatively in facilitating statewide investments in all types of housing reflecting our diversity of need. I still believe House Bill 2540 (HB 2540) which would create a housing stability commission, in each and every city under the population of 200,000, would yield more good, if given the opportunity. Local leadership must be assisted, it must not be overridden. We must find a path forward as a community of interests, we must step away from a false belief in a one-size fits all sized community strategy for long-term success.”

House adjourned until 11:00 a.m. Wednesday, February 27, 2019 on motion of Smith G.

Bynum requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

"In 2017, with a budget shortfall looming for the 2017-2019 biennium, the legislature passed a bill that allowed for the one-time diversion of 'Other Funds' into the 'General Fund.' As the biennium progressed, revenue increased and the state no longer needed to transfer those 'Other Funds.' Ordinarily, 'Other Funds' would not revert back to the 'General Fund,' but in this case, it would have because of the legislation passed in 2017. House Bill 2975 simply repeals that legislation so that those 'Other Funds,' most of which come out of outside settlements with the Oregon Department of Justice, can be carried over to the 2019-2021 biennium.

"I strongly believe that we must prioritize funding the critical needs of our state, like our schools. This hits home for me as a mother of four. With another budget shortfall looming and the prospect of a recession on the horizon, the $108 million that this legislation will transfer is vital to budget stability. It will help us ensure cuts across our state government are minimized and our schools have the resources they need to be successful. For those reasons, I voted in favor of House Bill 2975.

"Moving forward this session, I will be working hard to ensure that Oregon operates as efficiently as possible, while doing everything it can to invest in the critical needs of our state, both urban and rural."

Leif requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I would like to explain my 'NO' vote position on HB2975.

"I voted 'NO' on this so-called budget program rebalancing bill. HB 2975, which passed over bipartisan opposition, is a direct attack on the constitutionally protected kicker, returning dollars to Oregon taxpayers.

"It is another example of the lack of transparency that has plagued the current session. By shifting funds into the next biennium, it removes $108 million from the kicker, money that would have been returned to Oregonians. Fully $28 million came from income tax revenue. The delay in transferring funds past May 31, is neither honest nor truthful and represents a political shell game.

"The constitution has a process for us to go through to reduce the kicker requiring 40 member votes,' said Rep. Mike McLane (R-Powell Butte). 'We haven't followed the process.'"

HB 2975 (A-Engrossed) – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

It will help us ensure cuts across our state government are minimized and our schools have the resources they need to be successful. For those reasons, I voted in favor of House Bill 2975.

Leif requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I would like to explain my 'NO' vote position on HB2216. Please don't believe that in any way I don't support minorities and their rights!

"I voted 'NO' because My party was founded by abolitionists in the mid 1800's for the purpose of ending slavery, and I stand by the words of Rev. Martin Luther King , Jr., who said 'I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character.'

"To that end, today I voted no on HB 2216, which ends the sunset on the law that requires Oregon universities to interview designated minorities for coaching and athletic director positions.

"Furthermore, I voted 'NO' because we can do better as a state and as a society than designating carve-outs for minority interest groups. I think that all persons, regardless of color or ethnic origin, can compete for these positions. Let's make Oregon a state where all people are treated equally, regardless of race."

HB 2089, 2262, 2812, 3143, 3205 – Read second time and passed to third reading.

HB 2014 – Read third time. Carried by Piluso.

Rayfield declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“This letter serves notice that I am declaring a potential conflict of interest on HB 2014. An actual conflict may not exist due to attorneys being a large class. However, I am erring on the side of caution in making this declaration. This bill impacts the amount of damages Oregonians can assert in legal actions. As a result, my legal practice will be impacted.”

HB 2014 – On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 36; Nays, 22 – Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Boshart Davis, Drazan, Findley, Hayden, Helt, Leif, Lewis, McKeown, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Smith G, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Wilson, Zika; Excused, 2 – Clem, Wilde. Bill passed.

McKeown requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted against HB 2014 in its current form because I believe it falls short of thoughtfully balancing the need to ensure that victims of intentional acts are provided an adequate award within the judicial system with the needs of rural Oregonians and their ability to access health care practitioners.

“Removing the cap jeopardizes an already strained health care system in rural Oregon. Higher medical liability insurance costs have a greater impact to those practitioners in rural settings, which negatively impacts the availability and affordability of health care services in my district. The legislature understands this issue, as it has created and funded the Rural Medical Practitioners Insurance Subsidy Program to help subsidize the cost of liability insurance for physicians, nurse practitioners and others that provide care to our rural constituents.

“My colleagues in support of HB 2014 want to ensure that victims of crimes of sexual abuse and discrimination are fairly-recompensed for their ongoing recovery. I agree with them and hope that an amendment to exempt cases of intentional criminal conduct from the cap will be considered as the bill moves through the legislative process. I hope that the Senate will look to strike this much-needed balanced approach on an issue this important.”

HB 2014 – Stark requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2014 attempts to respond to the Oregon Supreme Court's ruling on the ‘Horton’ case that had the unfortunate consequence of removing caps on noneconomic damages in wrongful injury cases. I believe in the right to a jury trial and I also believe that a jury should have the ability to determine the value of the noneconomic damages an individual is entitled to receive in specific cases, such as intentional torts. The Horton ruling leaves us with the challenge of figuring out how we balance the need for insurance in rural areas while protecting victims at the same time. I believe the amendments that were being worked on would have been a good attempt to resolve this tension. Unfortunately, the bill moved forward and out of committee before the amendments were finalized. It is my hope that the amendments will be considered and adopted in the Senate so that I can support this bill.”

Wallan requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted ‘no’ on HB 2014. This bill doesn't limit attorney fees which will erode the amount of compensation the plaintiff is awarded. A bill that aims to fully indemnify plaintiffs should take into account the losses incurred by unconstrained attorney fees.”

Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“The Newberg Pool, a deep and narrow stretch of the beautiful Willamette River, forms the southern border of House District 26. Many people enjoy recreating and relaxing there. In recent years, wakes from wake boats have had noticeable impacts on the shoreline and ecosystem of the Willamette River. This has led certain areas of the shore to erode rapidly – beyond the natural and historic rate. Additionally, shorelines and property have been damaged.

“I believe we need to take reasonable measures to prevent further damage to property and acknowledge the role that wake sports has on our environment.

“The solution proposed by House Bill 2351 is reasonable, and my hope is that it will be part of an effective response. I support the companion bill, House Bill 2352, which complements this proposal by educating boaters about the impact of motorsports on aquatic ecosystems. Neither of these bills eliminates all opportunities for watersports in Oregon; they promote responsible use of the river.”

Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“The Oregon Innovation Council does important work for our state. The council is charged with helping create new jobs and companies, diversifying the state's economy and draw down federal research dollars. This work is vital to Oregon and the future of innovation and technology within our state.

“Unfortunately, I believe House Bill 2054-A needlessly alters the charge of the council and expands the scope of its investments into areas it should not. Namely, I do not believe the state should be buying equity in start-up companies. Equity is not an appropriate or effective way to provide many early stage companies with access to capital. Furthermore, I am concerned because the Oregon constitution prohibits the State of Oregon from being a shareholder in private companies.

“My ‘no’ vote is in no way a reflection of the way I feel about the council's role and important work. To the contrary, the Oregon Innovation Council is essential. My ‘no’ vote simply reflects my desire for the Oregon Innovation Council to maintain its successful course. It is my hope that when the Senate examines this bill, they find ways to amend it in a direction that preserves the overall intent of the Oregon Innovation Council to drive economic stimulation through entrepreneurship and new ideas, while maintaining a distance appropriate to the state's role in these matters.”

Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted NO on HB 3280 for the following reasons and more.... Adds six new board members to the current nine member governing board, thus adding issues of board efficiencies with less members. Also creates a conflict of interest with governing board members having a vote that could benefit themselves.”

Sollman requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“The Higher Education Coordinating Commission has, for years, been a high-functioning body with broad experience. As stated in testimony, and in many letters provided for the record, the group of voting and non-voting members have a history of consensus-building and a record of extremely high-quality, collaborative work.

“According to the Association of Governing Board of Universities and Colleges State Policy Brief, adding key internal stakeholders, namely faculty, staff and alumni is not recommended. It states that by doing so, it can fail to fully meet the test of true-citizen-based governance.

“As I reflect on my time as a school board member in the Hillsboro School District, I know we were prohibited from having employees, classified and certified, from serving as school board members due to state policy. Staff does have the ability to serve on councils at the school level and are part of many committees to provide perspective, knowledge and voice as vested stakeholders.

“I appreciate the intent of this bill, have had multiple conversations with the advocates and have been clear with my position on this bill. I continue to share the value that the interested parties mentioned in this bill have a seat at the table. Their voice and perspective must continue to be heard as part of the larger body of work being done by HECC.”

“I voted in opposition to HB 2454-A because it lacks important regulations for ensuring that the included occupations who may apply to work in Oregon have the necessary qualifications that are commensurate with Oregon regulations. Also, the bill doesn't extend the same application options to other regions of Oregon outside Eastern Oregon. Nurses, for example, are needed in rural areas across the state, not just in Eastern Oregon.

“I fully support the concept of this bill, but believe it could be improved with additional sideboards. While this bill includes provisions that are useful for expanding the number of medical providers who wish to practice in rural areas, I believe this legislation should include tighter regulations and it should be expanded to ensure the highest standard of care for all rural Oregonians.

“Moving forward this session, I will encourage my colleagues in the Oregon Senate to make those changes and pass this legislation for the benefit for all of Oregon.”

Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“The firefighters impacted by this issue are not at fault for the discrepancy between practice and statute. A promise was made to them that, in return for their service, we would guarantee them a PERS retirement. This bill would provide clarity and fair compensation for those firefighters who risked their lives to protect us. It will likely have no fiscal impact because the funds already have been, and would continue to be, paid to the recipients as PERS benefits. If we do not solve this problem now, these public servants would be required to return their hard-earned benefits due to no fault of their own. They should not have to pay for the State's mistakes. I am frustrated that this was an issue at all, and I encourage improved transparency and better oversight to prevent this in the future.”

Bill passed.

Helt requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I would like to submit my vote explanation in regards to my ‘Nay’ vote on HB 2408. My concern lays with the potential negative impacts the passing of this bill will have on House District 54.

“For a project to gain EZ status, the jobs they create must pay 150% or more of the average wage in the region; these are long term jobs. These jobs have a tremendous positive impact for long term residents and workers in our area, year after year.

“According to EDCO, there are 10 projects in EZs in Central Oregon that would have been negatively impacted by this requirement, representing over $387 million in investment, and over 500 permanent jobs. EDCO notes that ‘the Milken Institute ranked our overall wage growth over the past five years as #1 in the country (200+ small metros), so economic development that enterprise zones foster has the effect of raising all wages, particularly via new, well-paying permanent jobs.’”

HB 2408 (A-Engrossed) – McLain requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“This bill expands the current definition of public works to include projects located in enterprise zones where the business receives a property tax exemption and the total project cost is greater than $20 million. Already, any project receiving $750,000 or more in direct public contribution is required to pay all employees on the project a prevailing, family wage. This bill simply moves to treat tax credits as equivalent to direct contributions.

“In Washington County, I have seen the benefits and the drawbacks of Oregon’s recent rapid growth. In my district, we have had great growth in sectors like tech and medicine, but this growth has been accompanied by rapid increase in cost of living. This bill would help to address this problem. I believe that every person working should be paid a living, family wage. Public dollars and tax incentives should be going towards projects that advance that goal, helping create good jobs that pay a family wage, not undercutting the wages paid in the same area.

“My colleague, Representative Fahey, made some important points on the floor yesterday. Paying a prevailing wage does not increase the overall cost of a project, and can actually lead to more local Oregonians getting jobs. ‘75% of peer-reviewed studies showed that while paying prevailing wage rates may increase wages, the higher wages mean that more experienced, skilled workers can be hired. This leads to fewer cost overruns and overall project savings from increased efficiency, productivity, quality, safety and timeliness.’ Furthermore, ‘academic research indicates that when a project pays prevailing wage, it’s more likely that in-state contractors will be hired, keeping more of the economic benefit here at home.’

“I hope the Senate will look at the cap and see if there is room for movement. I think there is an opportunity to find more consensus on this issue.”

Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“After careful consideration I decided to vote ‘Yes’ on HB 2408-A. I understand some localities have concerns about prevailing wage and its impact on the cost of construction projects. Overall, there is significant, evidence-based consensus that construction costs are not affected by prevailing wages. For this reason, I voted in favor of HB 2408-A to ensure adequate pay for construction workers.”

Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Enterprise zones are created to encourage economic investments in certain areas of the state. In return for getting tax benefits, I believe that it is reasonable for us to require that contractors who utilize enterprise zones must adhere to certain standards, including paying their workers prevailing wages. Any potential increased expenses that this change may cause could be offset by more efficient, professional workers that come with fair-paying jobs. I believe the local economy will benefit from the combination of economic investment, development, and prevailing wages that this bill encourages. We must ensure that we are spending public money in ways that support Oregon’s values of strong labor protections and fair wages.”

HB 2415 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Barreto. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 43; Nays, 15 – Bonham, Boshart Davis, Drazan, Fahey, Hayden, Lewis, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Wallan, Wilson, Zika, Speaker Kotek; Excused for Business of the House, 2 – Findley, Rayfield. Bill passed.

Kotek requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“It is in the public’s interest to protect workers. I do not believe HB 2415 adequately protects workers. I believe holding retainage funds in an interest-bearing escrow account with limited and secured access is a better alternative to HB 2415.

“An escrow account allows a third party to be the arbiter of funds. An escrow account would allow an owner, vendor or contractor to access or leverage retainage funds for its intended purpose: when work is demonstrably incomplete, inadequate, or delayed. An escrow account would better prevent the abuse of these funds than a simple interest-bearing account and would ensure predictable payments to subcontractors. This requirement has been implemented in other states and those states show that a policy like this does equitably protect workers and owners.”

Bill passed.

Meek requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“Each of us has a personal responsibility to do our part to keep our environment clean, and I have supported efforts in the past to meaningfully reduce the proliferation of litter and promote a clean and healthy environment for all Oregonians. I voted no on HB 2883 A because I am concerned that banning common consumer products made with polystyrene will simply lead to other single-use containers being used in their place, while increasing costs on small businesses who already operate on thin margins.

“As a small business owner, I also worry that HB 2883 A sends the wrong message to entrepreneurs in Oregon. New technology, pioneered by innovators right here in our state, has now made it possible to fully recycle polystyrene in an eco-friendly manner. Companies like Agilyx in Tigard, Oregon are helping us to reduce waste – on their own dime – while creating jobs and economic growth. We should be promoting this kind of innovation and job creation in ‘green’ new technologies – not discouraging it.

“Finally, HB 2883 A fails to fully realize its policy objective of reducing polystyrene waste by lacking an enforcement mechanism to meaningfully penalize violators.”

Bill passed.

Boles requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted yes on House Bill 2013 because it simply provides a process for the collection of the weapons of someone who has received due process and has been prohibited by a court order to own them. This bill does not create a new restriction on the possession of firearms or any new reason to give up weapons.”

Noble requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2013 provides a statewide process for the dispossession or removal of firearms and/or ammunition when a person is already prohibited from possessing them due to court issued restraining orders and for convictions of qualifying misdemeanors (domestic violence), after being afforded due process.

“Current law, including Federal US Code and Oregon Revised Statute, prohibit the possession of firearms and/or ammunition in these circumstances. House Bill 2013 does not create any new or additional circumstances where a person is prohibited or restricted from the possession of firearms. It does, however provide a process for the dispossession of these prohibited items.

“Currently, thirty-one of the thirty-six counties in the state of Oregon have no process for ensuring these items are removed from individuals who cannot possess them.

“Domestic violence is a serious problem in our state. This bill doesn't stop it, but it does provide a basic level of safety and assurance that a person guilty of domestic violence or subject to a restraining order no longer possesses a firearm.”

“We need to take action to remove single use plastics from our environment, but we do not need to require retailers to implement a specific business model to make it work. Retailers should be able to choose to charge for bags or choose to provide bags at no charge – their choice.

“My hope is that the Senate will amend this bill accordingly.”

Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted YES on HB 2509 for the following reasons and more.... Rays Markets, throughout HD 01, implemented a plastic bag ban years ago. My speech on the floor insisted that an amendment is necessary in the Senate to remove the mandate of charging for a paper bag.”

Evans requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"HB 3427A provides us with a rational, reasonable, and responsible path toward stability as well as sustainability for our K-12 educational enterprise. This measure represents an opportunity: an opportunity for all of us keeping faith with our duty to ensure a future for our children – to help learn what they need to know in the 21st Century to continue our Oregon Story.

"Since the 1990 passage of Ballot Measure 5 and the subsequent passage of Ballot Measures 47/50, Oregon schools have struggled to provide even a sub-standard education for our students. Our local governments are a shadow of what they once were. Today we turn the page. Today we begin to rebuild our K-12 schools.

"As an educator, I believe a robust public education is the most important factor for our democratic institutions; as a retired military officer, I have witnessed the critical differences in lands where education is not prioritized; and as a legislator doing my best to serve the interests of the people of House District 20 – as well as the state of Oregon – I believe we have no time left to salvage our K-12 educational enterprise.

"HB 3427A is the result of over 15 months of collaboration: communities throughout the State of Oregon were engaged in rethinking K-12 programming and priorities. HB 3427A establishes the Fund for Student Success (FSS) to provide grants for early learning initiatives, decreasing class size, increasing learning time, expanding curriculum as well as technical learning opportunities, and investments in student health and safety. HB 3427A achieves this investment through establishing a new modified corporate activities tax.

"HB 3427A is the result of a two-year long series of negotiations including stakeholders across the ideological as well as political divide. And with all such endeavors, there are interests who favor it and those who oppose it.

"On the whole, most involved in the journey recognize this measure as a necessary compromise that will improve our schools throughout the State of Oregon. Many businesses are officially neutral, others are actively supporting passage, and a few businesses remain opposed on principle.

"I have long believed that good policy is good politics: seek to do what is right and the rest sorts itself out over time. This means that whatever the potential risks associated with supporting measures like HB 3427A, the only relevant factor is whether a policy proposal achieves the greatest good given the available alternatives.

"I support HB 3427A as the very best alternative available for beginning the hard work of rehabilitating our crumbling K-12 educational enterprise.

"I urge an 'aye' vote for our future."

Leif requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I would like to explain my 'NO' vote position on HB3427. I support schools and will support the upcoming student success legislation. However, HB3427 was not the student success legislation but rather a broad reaching sales tax measure. Fifteen times the Oregon Voters have rejected a sales tax and this legislature used the future of our children as a hostage to implement the first ever Oregon Sales Tax.

"I am also concerned that the large corporations who support so many of the elected officials were exempted from this tax. In addition, the actual implementation and impact of the new tax remains uncertain. The promise of a better education was used as a shield to promote this new tax initiative.

"During the debate we discussed the concept of tax pyramiding. This means that the tax will be applied over and over again as goods and services move from the manufacturers to the final consumers. Make no mistake, despite the rhetoric, this tax will ultimately be paid by the consumers in the form of higher prices and reduced job opportunities.

"Furthermore, I voted 'NO' because this tax is actually designed to continue funding the past PERS shortfalls. While the legislature promises to increase school funding, they will next increase the PERS past payment amounts and simply shift the money back into the state coffers. The legislature has simply played a shell game and created a non-voter supporter sales tax, time will show that little if any improvements in our schools come from this tax.

"Let's make our School System better, we have the money and resources and can do a bi-partisan bill, instead of this bill. Let's move the PERS shortfall to a line item on the general fund and stop trying to fix past mistakes on the backs of current employees. Let's stop creating new taxes in Salem that have clearly been rejected by the voters."

Bill passed.

Alonso Leon requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“My vote on this legislation was not an easy one. I spent weeks meeting with constituents and individuals on both sides of this issue. I am strongly pro-vaccine and know how important high vaccination rates are to the overall wellbeing of our communities. I also heard from parents who wanted to be able to make the choice to vaccinate their children as well as individuals with religious beliefs that prevented them from receiving vaccines.

“I have the utmost respect for individuals on both sides of this issue and do not diminish their positions. Ultimately, however, I realized that the only way to honor individual choice, would be to compromise public health.

“As an elected official, I believe every decision I make must be done with the greater good in mind. In this case, the greater good of my entire community, and the health and wellbeing of infants, pregnant women, individuals with compromised immune systems, seniors and those who medically cannot receive vaccines, outweighed my concerns for individual choice.

“My commitment as a legislator, now and in the future, is to continue working hard to ensure everyone in Oregon, regardless of their race, gender, sexual orientation or religious affiliation feels safe and welcome in our state.”

Evans requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“For much of my adult life I wore a uniform in defense of our ideals and idealism. As a public servant in elected as well as unelected roles, and as a teacher to young adults for the past two decades – I have struggled with finding the balance between our self-evident rights to both life as well as liberty – I believe this tension is at the heart of what makes our country distinct among all others. It is an irreconcilable conflict: it is a balance that cannot, that will not, exist. It is a balance we are nevertheless duty-bound to seek to build, knowing that a more perfect Union will never become A Perfect Union.

“Few measures have tugged at my conscience as much as House Bill 3063. The science is absolutely clear: vaccines save lives, vaccines prevent contagion with very little relative demonstrated consequences to those who receive them. And yet, we must recognize that the state abandoning exemptions from compliance for religious and/or philosophical beliefs – is no small thing. While I believe that all involved in the health care landscape seek to help, this measure puts significant authority in the hands of local health ‘experts.’ While the most recent amendments clarify greater authority for the healthcare provider of the child, and restrains the authority of the State of Oregon to question case exemptions made by providers, it remains an imperfect compact. We must recognize the hard work of all who improved the measure: unfortunately, the divide remains a little too far for my support today.

“The heartfelt anxiety of parents communicated with us over these past months warrants our attention: their passionate advocacy for what they believe – for their children – must be recognized as well as respected. Even though some of the tactics used in attempts to thwart this bill were (and remain) deplorable, I believe these isolated acts should be understood in context of the emotions involved and do not reflect the views of the many. And while we may disagree over the urgency of the problem addressed or even the best solution to remedy the problem, we must all agree on the fundamental impact of this measure upon the nature of family decision-making on matters of healthcare. I ask us all to pause and consider for a moment the precedent set today: that government may impose a required medical procedure (or perhaps in another instance, the absence of a medical procedure) to private or public schools because of the accepted ‘truth’ of its necessity for the safety and security of the community as a whole.

“For good or ill, reality demands at least a marginal surrender of certain liberties when an individual chooses to live within a community. We all make adjustments, and rightly so, to join a group. However, the force of law regarding medical interventions because of community benefit – must never be taken too lightly – ever. We must remain vigilant: on guard against tolerating intolerance in the name of community, or science. While there may be many parents currently choosing medical exemptions because of a lack of knowledge, or even acceptance of ‘alternative facts’ with regard to vaccination consequences, the principle at issue today is the limits on religious and/or philosophical values.

“When passed, as I suspect House Bill 3063 shall be, we are effectively putting the full force, power, and weight of the state squarely behind the requirement – requirement – of all who earnestly believe such an action is contradictory to the nature and/or will of God (as they know God to be), must accept medicine as a preventative action – or forfeit the right to a public education in schools paid for through taxes assessed on those who may hold those very same beliefs. For a few, this will quite literally be the subsidization of activities found to be against their entire framework of religious expression. It is upon this issue that I find myself stuck. Imagine what could or would result should this action become too easy, too justified for a greater accepted community benefit.

“History is replete with societies that traded one form of knowing the world with another: of nations determining the rights of individual expression were less important than community benefit. And, even though this measure is rational, reasonable, and responsible policy – it is simultaneously moving us toward a place where all beliefs are equal, but some beliefs are deemed to be ‘more equal.’ I believe this is treacherous ground for our people and place. In the end, our duties are to provide the security of the many, even at the cost of the few, or the one. It is my fervent hope that all who are newly empowered through this law – recognize the need for caution, and guard against overreach, along this path.

“It is our duty to serve the greatest good with the best information we have available. Sometimes the few must accept limitations upon absolute expression of liberties when the many require it: especially when lives hang in the balance. This is an insufficient policy for an impossible circumstance, it is a compromise that shall likely yield moderately more good than harm, but at what cost? This is the question that warrants our answer before supporting the bill as it appears before us today.”

HB 3063 (B-Engrossed) – Keny-Guyer requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted in support of HB 3063B, but I want to clarify my understanding and legislative intent with regard to several concerns that have been raised – some of which were clarified on the House floor.

“1) Question: Are medical exemptions still limited to the criteria put forward by the Centers for Disease Control / Advisory Council on Immunization Practices? We have heard concerns from parents who feel that these criteria are very strict and their child won’t qualify.

“Response from Sen. Steiner Hayward in a May 4, 2019 email sent to colleagues (which was reiterated by co-carrier Rep. Helt on the House floor on May 6, 2019):

“Section 3, subsection 3, states that the health licensing boards will determine if exemptions were granted ‘in compliance with a reasonable interpretation of recommendations by the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices.’

“This means that if a physician, nurse-practitioner or naturopathic physician makes a good faith determination that a child should not receive one or more immunizations, or that the immunization schedule should be altered, for a reason that fits under a ‘reasonable interpretation,’ that will be acceptable.

“We understand that especially for the first few years, as everyone is figuring out the new system, we expect that health care providers, OHA, and the licensing boards will take a more permissive stance.

“Second, the OHA budget will include a budget note that requires OHA to bring together stakeholders, including the relevant healthcare providers, the licensing boards, and experts on immunization policy & practice to develop some guidelines that will help the licensing boards as they move into this new role. These guidelines will not be prescriptive and will give boards the latitude to accept some medical exemptions that do not meet the strict CDC criteria.

“2) Question: Will students have to catch up on all their vaccines by the Aug 1, 2020 date stated in HB 3063B?

“I asked OHA about the tight time table within which students must catch up on all their immunizations in the original bill when it was heard in the House Health Care committee. I had hoped that the time table for compliance would be moved to August 1, 2021, to ensure plenty of time for compliance, with a requirement that the MMR vaccine series be completed sooner.

“Although the bill date is August 2020, I was assured by Health Care Committee Chair Salinas that the bill drafter and several education and health representatives (Laurie Wimmer, Dale Penn, Jessica Adamson) said more time would be allowed. While schools request documentation by August in statute, schools will continue their current practice (by rule) of allowing children to attend school until February 1 of the following year to comply. This means that students will be able to stay in school until Feb. 1, 2021 even if they haven’t completed the full vaccination series -- twenty months from the bill’s enactment to complete the series.

“If there is any question that children need more time to space out getting all of their vaccinations over the next 20 months, their health care providers should have discretion to grant an exemption, as stated above.

“My understanding from the discussions in my Health Care Committee and on the floor (via Rep. Nosse) is that OHA may list new diseases that pose a threat to public health by rule, but that OHA may only recommend new vaccines that are mandatory for school attendance to the Legislature, who must approve any new vaccinations that are mandatory for school attendance.

“4) Question: What equity concerns may result from Section 8, subsection 1(b), which requires that exemption documentation must be renewed and submitted to the administrator annually?

“Given that all low-income children now have health care coverage (thanks to Cover All Kids), I hope that the annual documentation requirement will motivate all parents to ensure that their children get an annual check-up. Annual check-ups are not only important for this exemption but also because of the benefits of a comprehensive primary health care exam – including the behavioral and oral health needs that CCO’s are trying hard to incorporate into primary health care.

“Regardless of those laudable goals, CCO’s may fall short on outreach to low income families. I encourage CCO’s to ensure that this provision does not become a barrier for low income families and that CCO’s double down on their preventative health outreach efforts to children from all backgrounds.

“In summary:

“I worked hard to amend the bill to ensure more flexibility in medical exemptions and to address equity issues. While the bill that emerged made some but not all of the changes I promoted, I voted Yes due to the public health importance of vaccination. However, I urge us to practice flexibility in implementation and to ensure outreach, particularly to low income populations, to remove barriers to vaccinations – and to exemptions when truly needed.

“Finally, I want to add my enormous disappointment in some of the comments made on the House floor yesterday that demeaned certain populations living in our state (i.e, calling out immigrant ‘aliens’) in the name of opposing this bill. In my view, those comments were not germane to the bill and are antithetical to our purpose of promoting the common good in Oregon.”

HB 3063 (B-Engrossed) – Leif requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I would like to explain my ‘NO’ vote position on HB3063. Let me be clear I am not opposed to vaccinations! I am opposed to taking our rights of citizens away. The First Amendment guarantees their right of choice. Mandatory vaccinations removes their right.

“The bill represents further efforts by the liberal legislature to replace our constitutional rights with government-controlled mandates. We remain a country founded on individual rights and liberties, but so many in our current government believe that regulations should replace liberties.

“Government has a responsibility but not an obligation to ensure peace, security, and domestic tranquility. Our constitution is clear that those responsibilities are balanced against individual freedoms and liberties. In this country, parents are responsible for the decisions made on behalf of their children.

“This is not a question of medical efficiency, but it is a question of parental rights. We are not a socialist country, just because the government believes citizens should behave in a certain manner does not give them the right to mandate behaviors.

“I continue to watch as the large metropolitan liberal politicians pass bills and regulations without seeking the will of all of the people. I fear this will be another case where the voice of rural Oregon will be ignored. I would like to see this and other regulations that raise taxes and alter our democratic rights be put to a constitutional level vote of the people.

“In America, we are blessed with an outstanding medical system that provides many options for disease prevention. It is the right of every citizen to choose which of those options they select for their personal situation. In America, we are a democracy and the government works for the people, we therefore have choices. If the government forces mandatory vaccinations against the will of some of the people then we move dangerously close to becoming a socialistic country.

“I believe that each individual American must balance their personal, religious, and family values in order to make the decisions that they deem in their best interest and the interest of their children. As Americans we must never accept the premise that the government has the best solution, and that the government has the right to force decisions upon the citizens. So, ‘NO’, I do not believe that the government has the right to force Americans to receive vaccinations to which they have personal, moral, or religious objections.”

HB 3063 (B-Engrossed) – McLain requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I want to begin with my firm affirmation that I think vaccines are safe and effective, and should continue to be an important public health tool to keep our communities healthy and thriving.

“Like many of my colleagues, I have received significant outreach both in support of and in opposition to HB 3063. On both sides of this issue there are parents, advocates and legislators striving to make sure that children have the opportunity to live happy and healthy lives. In listening to the input from my constituents, I heard from many parents who are concerned with the education of their children and how this bill dramatically changes their current educational opportunities and plans.

“While I believe in the ability of vaccines to prevent disease and promote healthy communities and schools, I have strong concerns regarding how HB 3063 would disrupt education for thousands of Oregon students. As a teacher of 42 years, I believe in ensuring access to quality education for all Oregon children. While I agree with its goal, it is my fear that HB 3063 overreaches and would not give Oregon students and parents necessary flexibility to accommodate complicated health and educational considerations.

“For example, if a child has a complicated medical history and a parent already has arranged for an Individualized Education Plan (IEP), this bill would nullify that child’s ability to continue with their IEP in a school setting they feel comfortable with if the student cannot get an exemption in one of the narrowly allowed circumstances.

“I think there are policy pathways to navigate these concerns and improve the vaccination rates in our schools and communities, without so severely limiting education opportunities of Oregon children. It is for these reasons and others that I cannot support HB 3063 in its current form.”

Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I initially chose to be a co-chief sponsor of HB 3063 because, like my colleagues, I was alarmed by the measles outbreak along Oregon’s northern border in Clark County, Washington. At roughly the same time, I became aware that Oregon’s non-medical exemption laws allow opt-outs for school for any and all recommended childhood vaccines, potentially endangering students and others with a medical reason for not being vaccinated themselves. Vaccines are the best tool to combat outbreaks of communicable disease. I supported this bill because it’s critical to protect children who are more susceptible to harmful and vaccine-preventable communicable diseases, and it’s important to protect them in school environments.

“Through the course of hearing testimony on the bill in the House Committee on Health Care and the communications I received from Oregon residents, I carefully weighed the testimony presented and ultimately decided to remain steadfast in my support of the bill. I voted ‘Yes’ on HB 3063-B because I believe that Oregon is on a dangerous trajectory toward reduced herd immunity, and that has the potential to impact everyone. Oregon has the highest rates of unvaccinated kindergarteners in the nation. Vaccination rates appear high when Oregon is examined in aggregate, but there are hot spots across the state where vaccination rates are lower, and as a result, those subpopulations are more vulnerable to experiencing an outbreak.

“I believe in choice and informed consent to a medical procedure. I also believe that preserving public health requires a collective responsibility for everyone, especially children in school, to be vaccinated against preventable illnesses. The decision a parent makes in whether they vaccinate their child impacts the entire community – and it especially impacts infants who are too young to be vaccinated, immunocompromised individuals, pregnant women, and the elderly. While Oregon luckily avoided a large measles outbreak this time, it’s important that we remain vigilant in maintaining herd immunity to avoid a public health crisis in the future when it comes to measles and other vaccine-preventable infectious diseases.

“HB 3063-B is a measured policy that preserves parental choice while also requiring families to contribute to our collective responsibility of preserving public health if they also choose to participate in public and private schools. For these reasons, I voted in favor of HB 3063-B to ensure the greatest health for the greatest number of Oregonians.”

HB 3063 (B-Engrossed) – Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“As a parent and educator, I believe in supporting healthy communities. I believe those who can get vaccinated have an obligation to their community to do so. My children are fully vaccinated because I know it is important to public health and we are able to do so. I am vaccinated. My husband recently prepared for his trip to another continent by updating all recommended vaccines for that part of the world. We know that vaccines stop the spread of terrible diseases and save lives. That said, my vote was not an easy decision.

“Over the past few months, I have heard from (and actively reached out to) health professionals and community members. While I value many aspects of the bill and the intention of the bill to preserve public health, I also believe that behaviors rooted in religious or philosophical differences are difficult, if not impossible, to legislate without robust education and a rebuilding of any eroded trust. I worry that families will not choose to change behaviors based on HB3063, and that we will therefore be excluding otherwise healthy children from our schools and activities and will effectively be removing them from our radar for their entire educational career.

“As a public-school teacher, I have always seen my role as one of keeping an eye on kids who might need emotional, nutritional, social, behavioral and skilled educational supports. I have never feared a student's presence in my classroom based on their vaccination status. When we remove students whose parents have chosen not to vaccinate, we are essentially removing oversight of their childhood experience – an oversight that I also see as essential to public health.

“When I learned of this bill, one of the first calls I made was to a dear friend of mine who, like me believes in sound science and supports vaccines, but unlike me has a child who is immunocompromised and is on a slower vaccine schedule. I asked her if this legislation would be a vote for her young son, or against him. We followed this legislation, and ultimately concluded that her son, despite being on an immunization schedule that works for him, would not be able to participate in the first half of his kindergarten year. There is just one of the many stories that exemplifies that there will be unintended consequences for many of our community members who are trying to make the best decisions they can for their children.

“Hundreds of concerned constituents reached out to me to tell me how this bill would directly impact their family. Like me, they prefer that the individual medical decisions of when and how to vaccinate are left up to parents and physicians. We have high vaccination rates in House District 26 and across much of the state. The vast majority of our families are choosing to vaccinate without the state getting involved. I certainly support vaccines and robust education around the efficacy and importance of vaccinations, but I could not ultimately support this sweeping legislation with a yes vote.”

HB 3063 (B-Engrossed) – Sollman requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I believe that the relationship between a person and their healthcare provider is a key component to the issue before us because when science, education and trusted relationships work together through a process, it is a winning combination. As a mom,

I chose to vaccinate my two boys. I was vaccinated as a child. My husband and I felt confident in our decision and still believe that vaccines are safe and effective and can keep people healthy. Even though I made those choices as a parent, I cannot support this bill for all of Oregon's school kids. I believe all students have a right to a quality education. I believe that there are too many barriers in this bill that would result in unintended consequences to our students and families in Oregon.

“Herd immunity ranges from 83%-94%, depending on the disease. The average percentage of students in all schools within my district is 96.11%. 95% of school-age students in all of Washington County are vaccinated. Of the 14 cases of Measles in Oregon in 2019, only 4 of those cases were confirmed to be linked to the Clark County outbreak and no cases were reported in Washington County.

“Every student does not learn the same way or can thrive in the same learning environment. On-line school, while a good option for some students, does not serve ALL students well. Students with special education needs, specifically critical are those with Individualized Education Plans (IEP), have the right to be concerned. Our English Language Learners (ELL) may not best be served in an on-line education setting.

“We need to remember that our schools are our community hubs. They provide meals to students that may not have access to hot, nutritious meals at home. They provide access to technology to students that don't have broadband or computers at home. They provide dental screenings, eye exams, hearing exams and more. Academics are taught, but students thrive in the caring, compassionate environments of our schools.

“Making it a requirement that all kids be completely vaccinated to attend public, private and even a certified childcare, concerns me greatly. Education is essential to our future as a state and a nation. I do think there are ways to address some of the concerns around this bill, but I am not comfortable supporting this bill in its current form. There is academic and social/emotional learning happening in our schools. Eliminating the options for education for children that this policy will do, is not the way to advance public health trust nor will it best prepare our students for their future.”

Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2456-B would allow counties that have established a review board to rezone lands within the Eastern Oregon Border Economic Development Region from exclusive farm use to allow the development of one residential unit per lot or parcel of two acres or more if they adhere to specified parameters.

“After careful consideration, I voted no on the bill. While I support efforts that promote the development of affordable housing, I do not believe that HB 2456-B would have accomplished that objective and would have ultimately been detrimental to Oregon’s agricultural land use policy. I am concerned by this carve out for agricultural lands in eastern Oregon because if signed into law, this bill potentially sets a dangerous precedent that might encourage similar actions that would further encroach on agricultural lands in other regions of the state, such as in coastal farming communities. I am also concerned about other counties seeking similar expansion that will lead to conflicts in land use when people might be accused of building homes just for a view, or neighbor conflicts relating to pesticide use on proximal farm properties.

“The support for this bill maintains that the land under consideration for housing was not valuable, and there were significant sideboards built into the bill. While I appreciate those efforts, there are other paths available in local county government to re-designate land if it absolutely can’t be used for agricultural purposes. I think it’s important for Malheur and Harney Counties to exhaust all other options before seeking a special carve-out exception from the Oregon Legislature, and it begs the question of whether there is actual agreement on the true value of that land for agricultural use. Without exhausting currently existing avenues to re-designate properties, I am hesitant to place value of needed housing over preserving our land use system.”

SB 411, 419, 421, 507, 582, 670, 695 – Read first time and passed to Speaker’s desk for referral.

SB 1008 (A-Engrossed) – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted for SB 1008 for a number of reasons—but most importantly, because Oregon should be a leader in progressive criminal justice policies that hold people accountable for wrongs against society, yet are also fair and structurally equitable.

“When Measure 11 was approved by voters in 1994, it was at the height of America’s ‘tough on crime’ paradigm, and many people felt that adult mandatory minimums being applied to youths was an important part of ensuring both justice and closure for the victims of crimes and their families, as well as serving as a deterrent for future crime. In hindsight, Measure 11 has not worked as intended—and that is why the legislature is working towards changing aspects of it, per the authority also bestowed upon them by voters in Measure 10 of the same year.

“The authority to charge a youth with a Measure 11 crime, which automatically throws a youth into the adult criminal justice system, rests solely with prosecutors. Upon sentencing of a Measure 11 crime, a youth is first remanded to the Oregon Youth Authority. There is a chasm of different approaches and treatment of youths at OYA when compared to the services offered in prison. OYA does valuable work to help incarcerated youth take accountability for their actions, and strives to rehabilitate youth in a way that can help them turn their lives around and become successful members of society upon release.

“Under Measure 11, when incarcerated youths serving sentences turn 25, they are immediately transferred into the adult system and lose access to all the services and support provided by OYA. All of that work, the public resources that are spent, and the future of those young people gets tossed out of the window when we automatically transfer youth to adult prison. Additionally, according to a 2007 Centers for Disease Control study, young people are 34% more likely to commit crimes and recidivate if they are treated like adults in the justice system. Consequently, not only do the policies under the status quo squander public dollars used to rehabilitate kids who will never get the opportunity to use those skills, but it actually makes society more dangerous when youth beaten down by the adult system are released at the end of their adult sentences and recommit crimes.

“SB 1008 is a small, but important change in criminal justice that has the potential to make a big impact. Firstly, it shifts the ability to try youths as adults to a judge, rather than prosecutors. This is a necessary change because, even though some district attorneys do try to resolve crimes outside of Measure 11, the status quo preserves a system in which district attorneys retain unfair leverage against youths when negotiating their pleas. By shifting this responsibility to a judge, discretion can be given based on the circumstances of the youth’s crimes and history. It doesn’t mean that a youth wouldn’t be charged as an adult, but that a judge has the ability to discern between a kid that just made a bad choice, and a kid who has committed a heinous act that warrants a harsher punishment.

“Most importantly, SB 1008 had imbedded within it the value of second chances denied to so many in our criminal justice system. Before being immediately shifted into the adult system at the age of 25, SB 1008 allows for youths still at OYA to have a ‘second look’ hearing. This second judicial review gives incarcerated persons who have gone through various services and therapies at OYA an opportunity to demonstrate how they have changed and been rehabilitated. A judge will then have the discretion to release them to community-based supervision, rather than to adult prison where all the progress they may have made would be entirely negated.

“The benefit of time is wisdom and growth. Unfortunately, time also reveals that our actions sometimes do not always yield the desired outcomes. What we know now about brain development in youths far exceeds what we knew then. We always knew that kids make impulsive decisions, but now we know that sometimes, especially when trauma is present or a youth lacks direction and mentorship, underdeveloped brains express themselves in ways many of us never would. SB 1008 holds at its core that while we should hold everyone accountable for their actions, our criminal justice policies should also reflect the values so many of us hold: an opportunity at redemption.”

SB 1008 (A-Engrossed) – Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I write to explain my vote on Senate Bill 1008.

“Twenty-five years ago, the voters of Oregon passed Ballot Measure 11, setting mandatory minimum sentences for a range of crimes – those sentences range from five years and ten months to 30 years to life. Included in this measure was the requirement that children 15 and older, charged with the listed felonies, be tried as adults.

“In the 25 years since this measure passed, we have learned a lot about brain science and chemistry, how children develop, and why the system is not currently working as intended. For instance, we now know that children’s brains are not fully developed until they are in their 20s. And science has noted the ability for significant change and growth during the developmental years. When we rehabilitate youth who have committed crimes, but then send them to DOC on their 25th birthday without a second look, we not only risk undoing our investments in them, but we also increase their chances of recidivism.

“This simple, common sense legislation is about making things more fair and equitable to ensure our system is focused on redemption and rehabilitation. This legislation repeals the unconstitutional portions of existing law, shifts the decision whether or not to charge a child as an adult to a judge instead of a prosecutor, and gives youth offenders the opportunity to be rehabilitated.

“I was 15-years-old when Measure 11 passed in 1994. I am grateful that when voters voted for those tough on crime policies, they also voted to give the legislature Measure 10, a tool to remedy problems if the policies are found not to work. With consensus among representatives that sending youth offenders to DOC facilities is not best practice to reduce reoffending, and that statistics show us that our juvenile offenders of color are disproportionately charged as adults with Measure 11 crimes as compared to white offenders who have committed the same crime, we know the system is broken.

“Senate Bill 1008 is about using the information we now have to better inform how we hold children accountable and ensure that the ones who can be are ultimately rehabilitated into productive members of society.”

SB 1008 (A-Engrossed) – Noble requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I believe our juvenile justice system needs to be reformed. What may have worked best in 1994 no longer serves the best interest of our youth or our public safety. I voted no on this legislation because I believe that this legislation should be referred to the voters (see minority report # 2 for SB 1008).

“The voters passed measure 11 in 1994 by a margin of 66% to 34%. Then in 2000, measure 94 attempted to release measure 11 and that failed by a margin of 73% to 27%. Measure 10, also passed in 1994, gives the legislature the ability to make changes to measure 11, however just because we can, doesn’t mean we should.

“Oregon’s juvenile justice system needs change, but the people need the opportunity to weigh-in on this important reform that affects our youth and our public safety.

“Senate Bill 1008 should be decided by the people.”

SB 1008 (A-Engrossed) – Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted YES on SB 1008 for the following reasons and more... I have long been an advocate for our youth and public safety. Having been a long time School Board Member as well as a County Commissioner and liaison to the Sheriff’s Dept., District Attorney’s Dept. and Juvenile Dept., I have been deeply involved in the areas of youth offenses. With that, I have also been a supporter of the need for Juvenile Justice Reforms.

“SB 1008 was unfortunately not a perfect bill, few are. I did support the two minority reports and would have preferred either of their passage. I also drafted a -10 amendment that would have removed aggravated murder, murder and rape from SB 1008 and made several attempts to move the bill to rules for the amendment’s consideration. The amendment reads:

“Requested by Representative SMITH DB

The unaggravated crime shall be considered a lesser included offense.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of ORS 161.605 or 137.010 (3) and except as otherwise provided in subsection (6) of this section, if a defendant is convicted of a felony having as an element the defendant's use or threatened use of a firearm during the commission of the crime, the court shall impose at least the minimum term of imprisonment as provided in subsection (4) of this section. (2) If the act giving rise to the obligation to report would constitute:

(a) A Class A or Class B felony sex crime if committed by an adult, the petition may be filed no sooner than two years after the termination of juvenile court jurisdiction over the person or, if the person is placed under the jurisdiction of the Psychiatric Security Review Board, no sooner than two years after the person is discharged from the jurisdiction of the board.

(b) A Class C felony sex crime if committed by an adult, the petition may be filed no sooner than 30 days before the termination of juvenile court jurisdiction over the person or, if the person is placed under the jurisdiction of the Psychiatric Security Review Board, no sooner than 30 days before the person is discharged from the jurisdiction of the board.

(3)(a) The juvenile court in which a petition under this section is filed may transfer the matter to the juvenile court of the county that last supervised the person if the court determines that the convenience of the parties, the victim and witnesses require the transfer.

(b) The juvenile court has exclusive original jurisdiction in any proceeding under this section.

(c) The person, the district attorney and the juvenile department are parties to a hearing on a petition filed under this section.

(4) The person filing the petition has the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that the person is rehabilitated and does not pose a threat to the safety of the public. In determining whether the person has met the burden of proof, the juvenile court may consider but need not be limited to considering:

As used in this subsection, 'relevant evidence' has the meaning given that term in ORS 40.150.

(6) When a petition is filed under this section, the state has the right to have a psychosexual evaluation of the person conducted. The state shall file notice with the juvenile court of its intention to have the person evaluated. If the person objects to the evaluator chosen by the state, the juvenile court for good cause shown may direct the state to select a different evaluator.

(7) As soon as practicable after a petition has been filed under this section, the district attorney or juvenile department shall make a reasonable effort to notify the victim of the crime that the person has filed a petition seeking relief under this section and, if the victim has requested, to inform the victim of the date, time and place of a hearing on the petition in advance of the hearing.

(B) Three years or more after the date the juvenile court or board jurisdiction is terminated, the court shall hold a hearing no sooner than 90 days and no later than 150 days after the date of filing.

(b) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this subsection, upon a showing of good cause, the court may extend the period of time in which a hearing on the petition must be held.

(9)(a) When the person proves by clear and convincing evidence that the person is rehabilitated and does not pose a threat to the safety of the public, the court shall grant the petition.

(b) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this subsection, the court may not grant a petition filed under this section before the date the juvenile court or board jurisdiction over the person is terminated.

(10) When a juvenile court enters an order relieving a person of the requirement to report under ORS 163A.025, the person shall send a certified copy of the juvenile court order to the Department of State Police.

(11) If a person commits an act that could be charged as [a sex crime listed in ORS 137.707] rape in the first degree as defined in ORS 163.375 (1)(a) or a sex crime for which the person could be waived under ORS 419C.349 (1)(a), and the person is 15, 16 or 17 years of age at the time the act is committed, the state and the person may stipulate that the person may not petition for relief under this section as part of an agreement that the person be subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court rather than being prosecuted as an adult under ORS 137.707, or that the state not file a motion requesting waiver under ORS 419C.349 (1)(a).

(12) When a petition is filed under subsection (2)(b) of this section before the termination of juvenile court or board jurisdiction, if the person, or the parent or guardian of the person if the person is less than 18 years of age, requests counsel and is without sufficient financial means to employ suitable counsel to represent the person, for purposes of the petition described in this section, the court shall appoint suitable counsel to represent the person.

Appointment of counsel under this subsection is subject to ORS 419C.200, 419C.203, 419C.206 and 419C.209.

SECTION 10. ORS 163A.135 is amended to read:

163A.135. (1) Except as provided in subsection (7) of this section, a person required to report under ORS 163A.025 (1)(d) may file a petition in the juvenile court for an order relieving the person of the duty to report. The person must pay the filing fee established under ORS 21.135. If the person resides:

(a) In this state and is required to report under ORS 163A.025 (2) or (3), the petition must be filed in the juvenile court of the county in which the person resides.

(b) In another state and is required to report under ORS 163A.025 (4), the petition must be filed in the juvenile court of the county in which the person attends school or works.

(2) If the act giving rise to the obligation to report would constitute:

(b) The dispositional report to the court;

(c) The order of adjudication or jurisdiction;

(d) Any other relevant court documents;

(e) The police report relating to the act for which reporting is required;

(f) The order terminating jurisdiction for the act for which reporting is required; and

(g) The evaluation and treatment records or reports of the person that are related to the act for which reporting is required.

(4) A person filing a petition under this section has the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that the person is rehabilitated and does not pose a threat to the safety of the public.

(5) Unless the court finds good cause for a continuance, the court shall hold a hearing on the petition no sooner than 90 days and no later than 150 days after the date the petition is filed.

(6) If a person who files a petition under this section is required to report as a sex offender for having committed an act that if committed in this state could have subjected the person to prosecution as an adult under ORS 137.707 or waiver under ORS 419C.349 (1)(a), the court may not grant the petition notwithstanding the fact that the person has met the burden of proof established in subsection (4) of this section unless the court determines that to do so is in the interest of public safety.

(7) This section does not apply to a person who is required to register as a sex offender for life in the jurisdiction in which the offense occurred.

(8) In a hearing under this section, the court may receive testimony, reports and other evidence without regard to whether the evidence is admissible under ORS 40.010 to 40.210 and 40.310 to 40.585 if the evidence is relevant to the determination and findings required under this section. As used in this subsection, 'relevant evidence' has the meaning given that term in ORS 40.150.

(9) If the court is satisfied by clear and convincing evidence that the person is rehabilitated and that the person does not pose a threat to the safety of the public, the court shall enter an order relieving the person of the duty to report. When the court enters an order under this subsection, the person shall send a certified copy of the court order to the Department of State Police.

If the juvenile court waives a youth to another court under ORS 419C.349 (1)(b) or[, 419C.355 and] 419C.370 for disposition as an adult, the juvenile court nevertheless may retain jurisdiction over the youth's parents or guardians under ORS 419C.570. However, if the court enters an order of waiver under ORS 419C.349 (1)(a) or 419C.364, jurisdiction over the parents or guardians under ORS 419C.570 shall terminate.

SECTION 12. ORS 419C.352 is amended to read:

419C.352. The juvenile court, after a hearing, except as provided in ORS 419C.364 or 419C.370, may waive a youth under 15 years of age at the time the act was committed to circuit court for prosecution as an adult if:

(2) The juvenile court makes the findings required under ORS 419C.349 [(3) and (4)] (2); and

(3) The youth is alleged to have committed an act or acts that if committed by an adult would constitute one or more of the following crimes:

(b) Rape in the first degree under ORS 163.375 (1)(a);

(c) Sodomy in the first degree under ORS 163.405 (1)(a); or

(d) Unlawful sexual penetration in the first degree under ORS 163.411

SECTION 13. ORS 419C.355 is amended to read:

419C.355. The juvenile court shall make a specific, detailed, written finding of fact to support [any determination] the findings made under ORS 419C.349 [(3) and (4)] (2).

SECTION 14. ORS 419C.358 is amended to read:

419C.358. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section and ORS 137.707 (6), when a person is waived for prosecution as an adult, the person shall be waived only on the actual charges justifying the waiver under ORS 419C.349 [(2)] or 419C.352, as the case may be.

(2) Any nonwaivable charges arising out of the same act or transaction as the waivable charge shall be consolidated with the waivable charge [for purposes of conducting the adjudicatory hearing on the nonwaivable charges].

SECTION 15. ORS 419C.361 is amended to read:

419C.361. (1)(a) Notwithstanding that the juvenile court has waived the case under ORS 419C.349, 419C.352, [419C.355, 419C.358,] 419C.364[, 419C.367 and] or 419C.370, the court of waiver shall return the case to the juvenile court unless an accusatory instrument is filed in the court of waiver alleging, in the case of a person under [16] 15 years of age, a crime listed in ORS 419C.352 or, in the case of any other person, a crime [listed in ORS 419C.349

(2). Also in the case of a waived person,] described in ORS 419C.349 (1).

(b) When a trial has been held in the court of waiver upon an accusatory instrument alleging a crime listed in ORS 419C.349 [(2)] (1)(b) or 419C.352, as the case may be, and the person is found guilty of any lesser included offense that is not itself a waivable offense, the trial court shall not sentence the defendant therein, but the trial court shall order a presentence report to be made in the case, shall set forth in a memorandum such observations as the court may make regarding the case and shall then return the case to the juvenile court in order that the juvenile court make disposition in the case based upon the guilty finding in the court of waiver. Disposition shall be as if the juvenile court itself had found the youth to be in its jurisdiction pursuant to ORS 419C.005. The records and consequences of the case shall, in all respects, be as if the juvenile court itself had found the youth to be in its jurisdiction pursuant to ORS 419C.005. When the person is found guilty of a nonwaivable charge that was consolidated with a waivable charge under ORS 419C.358, the case shall be returned to the juvenile court for disposition as provided in this subsection for lesser included offenses.

When the court imposes a sentence under this subsection, the person is eligible for a reduction in the sentence as provided in ORS 421.121 and any other statute and is eligible for a hearing and conditional release under ORS 420A.203 and 420A.206.

(e) If the conviction is for rape in the second degree, sodomy in the second degree or sexual abuse in the first degree:

(B) That the defendant does not have a prior conviction for a crime listed in subsection (4) of this section;

(C) That the defendant has not been previously found to be within the jurisdiction of a juvenile court for an act that would have been a felony sexual offense if the act had been committed by an adult;

(D) That the defendant was no more than five years older than the victim at the time of the offense;

(E) That the offense did not involve sexual contact with any minor other than the victim; and

(F) That the victim's lack of consent was due solely to incapacity to consent by reason of being under 18 years of age at the time of the offense.

(f) If the conviction is for unlawful sexual penetration in the second degree:

(A) That the victim was 12 years of age or older at the time of the offense;

(B) That the defendant does not have a prior conviction for a crime listed in subsection (4) of this section;

(3) In making the findings required by subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the court may consider any evidence presented at trial and may receive and consider any additional relevant information offered by either party at sentencing.

- (b) The person's family and community environment, history of trauma and prior involvement in the juvenile dependency system at the time of the offense.

- (i) Any other mitigating factors or circumstances presented by the person.

(3)(a) If the court is provided with a report of a mental health evaluation of the person, the court shall give the evaluation substantial weight in imposing the sentence if:

- (A) The evaluation was conducted by a psychiatrist or psychologist whose primary practice involves the treatment of adolescents; and
- (B) The report includes the assessment of the person's degree of insight, judgment, self-awareness, emotional regulation and impulse control.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this subsection does not constitute a requirement that a person obtain or submit an evaluation for sentencing.

(4) When sentencing a person who was under 18 years of age at the time of committing the offense, under no circumstances may the court consider the age of the person as an aggravating factor.

(5) When sentencing a person who was under 18 years of age at the time of committing an offense to a term of imprisonment, the court shall indicate in the judgment:

(a) The age of the person at the time of committing the offense; and

(b) That the person is eligible for a hearing and release under section 19 of this 2019 Act.

SECTION 19. (1)(a) A person convicted of an offense or offenses other than aggravated murder as defined in ORS 163.095, murder as defined in ORS 163.115 or rape in the first degree as defined in ORS 163.375 (1)(a), committed when the person was under 18 years of age, who is serving a sentence of imprisonment for the offense or offenses, is eligible for release on post-prison supervision as provided in this section after the person has served 15 years of imprisonment.

(b) Nothing in this section is intended to prevent a person from being released prior to serving 15 years of imprisonment under any other provision of law.

(c) As used in this subsection, 'served 15 years of imprisonment' means that 15 years have passed since the person began serving the sentence, including pretrial incarceration but not including any reduction in sentence under ORS 421.121 or any other statute.

(2) This section applies notwithstanding the fact that the person was:

(a) Sentenced to a mandatory minimum sentence for an offense other than aggravated murder as defined in ORS 163.095, murder as defined in ORS 163.115 or rape in the first degree as defined in ORS 163.375 (1)(a) under ORS 137.700 or 137.707, a determinate sentence under ORS 137.635 or a sentence required by 137.717 or any other provision of law.

(b) Sentenced to two or more consecutive sentences under ORS 137.123.

(3) When a person eligible for release on post-prison supervision as described in subsection (1) of this section has served 15 years of imprisonment, the State Board of Parole and Post-Prison Supervision shall hold a hearing. The hearing must provide the person a meaningful opportunity to be released on post-prison supervision.

(4) The board may require the person, before holding a hearing described in this section, to be examined by a psychiatrist or psychologist with expertise in adolescent development. Within 60 days of the evaluation, the examining psychiatrist or psychologist shall file a written report of the findings and conclusions of the examination with the board. A certified copy of the report shall be provided to the person and the person's attorney.

(5) During a hearing under this section, the board shall consider and give substantial weight to the fact that a person under 18 years of age is incapable of the same reasoning and impulse control as an adult and the diminished culpability of minors as compared to that of adults. The board shall also consider the following circumstances, if relevant to the specific person and offense:

(a) The age and immaturity of the person at the time of the offense.

(b) Whether and to what extent an adult was involved in the offense.

(c) The person's family and community circumstances at the time

(g) Any other mitigating factors or circumstances presented by the person.

(6) Under no circumstances may the board consider the age of the person as an aggravating factor.

(7) If the board finds that, based on the consideration of the age and immaturity of the person at the time of the offense and the person's behavior thereafter, the person has demonstrated maturity and rehabilitation, the board shall order the person to be released on post-prison supervision in accordance with ORS 144.096 and 144.098 within 60 days of the date of the hearing.

(8) If the board determines that the person has not demonstrated maturity and rehabilitation under subsection (7) of this section, the board may postpone a subsequent hearing to a date that is at least two years but no more than 10 years from the date of the hearing.

(9) The person may waive a hearing under this section. Notwithstanding waiver of the hearing, the board shall hold a hearing under this section upon the person's written request.

(10) The board shall provide notice of the hearing to:

(a) The district attorney of the county in which the person was convicted; and

(b) The victim of any offense for which the person is serving a sentence, if the victim requests to be notified and furnishes the board with a current address.

(11) A person has the right to counsel, including counsel appointed at board expense, at a hearing under this section.

The court shall conduct a sentencing proceeding to determine whether the defendant shall be sentenced to life imprisonment without the possibility of release or parole as described in subsection (4) of this section or to life imprisonment as described in subsection (5) of this section. If the defendant waives all rights to a jury sentencing proceeding, the court shall conduct the sentencing proceeding as the trier of fact. The procedure for the sentencing proceeding, whether before a court or a jury, shall follow the procedure of ORS 163.150 (1)(a), as modified by this section.

(2) Following the presentation of evidence and argument under subsection

(1) of this section, the court shall instruct the jury that the trial court shall sentence the defendant to life imprisonment without the possibility of release or parole as described in subsection (4) of this section, unless after considering all of the evidence submitted, 10 or more members of the jury find there are sufficient mitigating circumstances to warrant life imprisonment with the possibility of release or parole as described in subsection

(5) of this section. If 10 or more members of the jury do not find there are sufficient mitigating circumstances to warrant life imprisonment with the possibility of release or parole, the trial court shall sentence the defendant to life imprisonment without the possibility of release or parole as described in subsection (4) of this section. If 10 or more members of the jury find there are sufficient mitigating circumstances to warrant life imprisonment with the possibility of release or parole, the trial court shall sentence the defendant to life imprisonment as described in subsection (5) of this section.

(3) Nothing in this section precludes the court from sentencing the defendant to life imprisonment, as described in subsection (5) of this section, or life imprisonment without the possibility of release or parole, as described in subsection (4) of this section, pursuant to a stipulation of sentence or stipulation of sentencing facts agreed to and offered by both parties if the defendant waives all rights to a jury sentencing proceeding.

(4) A sentence of life imprisonment without the possibility of release or parole under this section may not be suspended, deferred or commuted by any judicial officer, and the State Board of Parole and Post-Prison Supervision may neither parole the prisoner nor reduce the period of confinement in any manner whatsoever. The Department of Corrections or any executive official may not permit the prisoner to participate in any sort of release or furlough program.

(5) If the defendant is sentenced to life imprisonment, the court shall order that the defendant be confined for a minimum of 30 years without possibility of parole, release to post-prison supervision, release on work release or any form of temporary leave or employment at a forest or work camp.

(6) At any time after completion of the minimum period of confinement pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, the board, upon the petition of a prisoner so confined, shall hold a hearing to determine if the prisoner is likely to be rehabilitated within a reasonable period of time. The sole issue shall be whether the prisoner is likely to be rehabilitated within a reasonable period of time. The proceeding shall be conducted in the manner prescribed for a contested case hearing under ORS chapter 183, except that:

(a) The prisoner has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence the likelihood of rehabilitation within a reasonable period of time;

(b) The prisoner has the right, if the prisoner is without sufficient funds to employ an attorney, to be represented by legal counsel, appointed by the board, at board expense; and

(c) The prisoner has the right to a subpoena upon a showing of the general relevance and reasonable scope of the evidence sought, provided that any subpoena issued on behalf of the prisoner must be issued by the board pursuant to rules adopted by the board.

(7) If, upon hearing all of the evidence, the board, upon a unanimous vote of three board members or, if the chairperson requires all voting members to participate, a unanimous vote of all voting members, finds that the prisoner is capable of rehabilitation and that the terms of the prisoner's confinement should be changed to life imprisonment with the possibility of parole, release on post-prison supervision or work release, it shall enter an order to that effect and the order shall convert the terms of the prisoner's confinement to life imprisonment with the possibility of parole, release on post-prison supervision or work release and may set a release date. Otherwise the board shall deny the relief sought in the petition.

(8) Not less than two years after the denial of the relief sought in a petition under this section, the prisoner may petition again for a change in the terms of confinement. Further petitions for a change may be filed at intervals of not less than two years thereafter.

VICTIM NOTIFICATION

SECTION 22. (1) The division of the Department of Justice providing victim and survivor services shall, in consultation with district attorney victim assistance programs and community-based victim service providers, develop model policies for providing notice to victims concerning waiver hearings under ORS 419C.349 (1)(a) and hearings conducted pursuant to ORS 420A.203. The policies must ensure that victim notification is provided in a trauma-informed and culturally specific manner.

(2) Prior to a waiver hearing under ORS 419C.349 (1)(a) or a hearing conducted pursuant to ORS 420A.203, notice of the hearing shall be provided to the victim of the offense by the district attorney's victim assistance program in accordance with the model policies described in subsection (1) of this section, and in a manner that informs the victim of the victim's rights. The district attorney's victim assistance program shall also provide to the victim accompaniment to court hearings and referrals to community-based victim services that are, where available, culturally specific.

“Unfortunately, that did not occur and the amendment I had drafted was not able to be heard or considered.

“Senate Bill 1008 – The Youth Justice Reform Bill, does the following:

- Eliminates the automatic waiver of kids into the adult justice system and requires a judge to make the determination whether a child should be tried and sentenced as a juvenile or an adult.
- Extends the eligibility for ‘second look’ hearings, which occur halfway through a youth sentence and allow a judge to order supervised release for a child if the judge determines that they have been significantly rehabilitated, do not pose a danger to the community and that the outcomes for that youth will be better served by release.
- Allows transfer hearings for children who are aging out of the Oregon Youth Authority and into adult prison with less than two years remaining on their sentence. A judge can order supervised release for the remainder of their sentence, if appropriate.
- Fixes the constitutional problem identified by the United States Supreme Court by eliminating automatic life without parole sentences for children and make them eligible for a parole hearing after serving 15 years of their sentence.
- Is not retroactive, applies only to sentences imposed after January 1, 2020, and no currently incarcerated youth offenders will be released by its passage. All provisions of Measure 11 that pertain to adults are left entirely intact.

“Senate Bill 1008 still allows the DA to seek the maximum penalties for youth offenders, and only transfers some authority from the DA’s to the Judges, whom are both elected by the citizens within their jurisdiction. This bill had a long bicameral bipartisan effort and body of work by key legislators in the areas of Judiciary and Juvenile Justice.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time as Special Order of Business. Carried by Holvey.

House stood at ease.

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 31; Nays, 29 – Barker, Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Boshart Davis, Clem, Doherty, Drazan, Evans, Findley, Gorsek, Hayden, Helt, Hernandez, Leif, Lewis, McLane, Nearman, Noble, Post, Prusak, Reschke, Smith DB, Smith G, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Wilson, Zika. Bill passed.

Alonso Leon requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“It was a difficult choice to vote yes on SB 1049. I believe in and fully support the dedicated public employees who work hard every day to strengthen our communities, and I care about passing legislation that helps support the hard-working families that keep us safe, teach our children, and make sure our state continues to run. I know that this choice will be felt by many, and I accept the anger and frustration that this will cause. All I can say was this was a difficult choice and provide you with an explanation that led me to my decision.

“As a state, we have seen the cost of our Public Employee Retirement System balloon since the recession. Employer rates have more than doubled in the last decade, forcing government employers to lay off staff and make program reductions. Even in the best of times, the spike in required contributions to pay down the $26 billion unfunded actuarial liability has led public employers to make painful cuts to teaching positions, school days and other critical services that Oregonians rely on.

“As I understand it, not addressing the PERS will cause a crisis where we are at risk of losing jobs across the state, please know that making sure that your jobs are intact is important to me. Not passing this bill would mean, employers would have to consider cutting jobs as they cannot afford to continue our current situation and SB 1049 is a hard bill that addresses this problem in a way that does not put our state at further financial peril. I spent time talking to many people on this topic. I read the governor's report and spoke to our union partners. Many suggestions surfaced from folks to try and approach this situation differently, but unfortunately, from what I have learned they are not viable solutions right now.

“It was a difficult choice, but I needed to ensure I was on the side of saving jobs and ensuring key issues like Driver License, Paid Family Leave, keeping tuition costs down and the Clean Energy Jobs continued to move forward.

“I voted in favor of Senate Bill 1049 because I believe it will help accomplish two important things. First, the bill includes system-wide cost savings that will protect critical services and ensure long-term stability in our retirement system. Second, I believe it will help head off corporate efforts to make even deeper cuts to employee benefits.

“To the first point, SB 1049 is the result of years of legislative and actuarial analysis to determine the best ways to reduce the costs of PERS. I believe these changes will reduce costs for public employers in a way that is legally permissible, actuarially sound, equitable, and system-wide.

“Every local government, school district, and public employer will see real savings from SB 1049 beginning in 2021. That year, we can expect savings of between $1.2 and $1.8 billion with increased savings in succeeding biennia.

“They have the potential to save the following to the schools in my district for the 21-23 biennium:

“Salem-Keizer School District: $30,859,363,

“Woodburn School District: $2,322,626.72

“Gervais School District: $80,000

“These numbers ensure they won’t have to make position cuts. As I mentioned, keeping state jobs is crucial to me.

“Thanks to the advocacy of public employees, this proposal was made stronger, by eliminating cuts to the Money Match and ensuring there were both one-time and ongoing resources dedicated to paying down the unfunded liability.

“To the second point, I believe inaction would have caused a much worse result for public employees and ultimately for communities across the state. Individuals and organizations are making genuine threats to put PERS reform on the ballot. One threatened ballot measure would create yet another retirement tier, denying future employees’ access to a pension entirely, and instead create a system where their retirement comes all together in the form of a ‘defined-contribution’ or 401K-style program. Such a ballot measure would have a good chance of passing, and thus, inaction could have disastrous impacts on PERS.

“Ultimately, I believe there will be long-term benefits for our entire state with this legislation, and I remain as committed as ever to ensuring our public employees are compensated in a way that they deserve.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Bynum requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“As a mother of four school-aged children, I ran for office because I believe every Oregon child deserves a world class education. From early childhood, through our K-12 system, to higher education, our state has fallen behind. The status quo is unacceptable. My vision for Oregon is one where a child’s access to opportunity is not limited by zip code.

“To achieve this vision, the Legislature needed to act by making significant investments and addressing stressors on the balance sheets of school districts. I voted for HB 3427 (the Student Success Act) earlier in the session as a part of that commitment. This bill assessed a new tax onto businesses like the one my family owns, in order to fund career and technical education, mental health supports, high school graduation success, and the needs of students of color. I was proud to vote yes and personally invest more in Oregon’s students. This was a game-changing investment in the success of our children.

“In addition to increasing funding, the Legislature also needed to address the rising percentage of budgets that school districts, state agencies and local governments were paying into the Public Employee Retirement System. In the last five years, the cost that public employers have had to pay to cover pension debt obligations has nearly doubled. If nothing is done, costs will rise, on average, to nearly 33% of payroll, and schools around the state will face dire choices, which will inevitably include job cuts. Senate Bill 1049 will increase stability and reduce the system-wide increases in employer rates in an equitable, comprehensive, and legal way. My kids have lived through the furlough days, teacher layoffs and classrooms of 30+ kids back in 2007. My commitment to my community is to do everything I can to ensure this never, ever happens again.

“My parents taught in public schools for over 30 years, so I know the direct impact furloughs, uncompetitive salaries, and difficult working environments can have in attracting and retaining a skilled workforce. It is my expectation that working Oregon out of this crisis will put us on a better track to pay more and offer our teachers, and other public employees, the type of careers they can continue to be proud of.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Keny-Guyer requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“THIS WAS A REALLY HARD VOTE.

“I highly value our public employees and their public service, and I recognize that our $27 billion unfunded actuarial liability (UAL) is not their fault. The biggest factors that led to this burden are: a) bad decisions by policy makers long ago that kicked the can down the road by creating unsustainable benefit plans; and b) the economic crash starting in 2008. In regard to concerns about investment policies and fees, our last two state treasurers have been scrutinizing this to ensure maximum return. We need to continue to watchdog that.

“In my view, YES. Employer rates have more than doubled in the last decade, forcing government employers to lay off staff and reduce programs. Even in the best of times, the spike in required contributions to pay down the UAL has led public employers to make painful cuts to teaching positions, school days, and other critical services.

“If nothing is done, costs will rise on average to nearly 33% of payroll. For the two school districts in my House district, Portland Public Schools would save $51.4 million and David Douglas School District would save $9.9 million in 2021-2023 with the passage of SB 1049. As chair of the House Committee on Human Services and Housing, I am constantly seeking more resources for the Department of Human Services, where we are 1100 FTE short in Child Welfare, under-pay our residential care for high needs foster kids, and under-pay our home care workers who support our people with disabilities. Yet every biennium, DHS (like all state and local agencies) must devote an increasing share of its budget to its pension costs.

“SB 1049 will reduce the costs of PERS and protect public services. The -8 amendment improved the original bill and limits the impact on frontline workers. Employees contribute roughly 20% to the savings achieved by this plan, 80% comes from means not borne by public employees.

“Positive aspects: SB 1049 -8 lengthens the time to pay off the unfunded liability from 20 to 22 years for Tier 1 and Tier 2, requires employers who rehire retirees to pay pension costs, caps final average salary at $195,000, appropriates $100 million to the Employer Incentive fund for a 25% match to an employer’s 75% contribution, adds 80% of lottery’s sports betting revenue to the Employer Incentive fund for a 25% match to an employer’s 75% contribution, and makes other adjustments. Note: I support extending the Tier 1 and 2 amortization to 22 years. I originally had pushed for it and for OPSRP amortization to be extended longer but learned how that is detrimental; see pages 107 and 108 in

<https://www.oregon.gov/pers/Documents/Board-Meetings/2019/Board-Packet-4-1-19.pdf>

“Controversial aspects: SB 1049 prospectively redirects a portion of the employee contribution away from one's IAP and into the pension account. Prior to 2004, public employees contributed to their own pension accounts, but Oregon is now one of only two states (with Utah) where employees don't contribute to their own defined benefits. To protect the solvency of the defined benefits, this plan will redirect a portion (.75% for OPSRP and 2.5% for Tier 1 and 2) of the current 6% payroll contribution from the Individual Account Program (IAP) to help pay for the defined pension benefit. When the pension fund reaches 90% funded status, the redirect will be suspended. Workers making less than $30,000/year will not redirect money from their IAP.

“3) Clarifying two misperceptions I've heard:

“Does this plan take between 7% and 12% of my retirement? NO! This percent reduction is the estimated impact on the IAP, NOT on a member's defined benefit pension. Legislators have worked hard to maintain that defined benefit. Depending on how long someone has already worked vs. how much longer they will work, they will see a slight reduction in their combined retirement accounts. It's an estimated 1-2% reduction for a 30-year employee, and less than that for employees who worked for many more years in the past than they will in the future. I understand that this amount is still a lot for people who didn't expect any reduction; but it is done to protect the long term solvency of the defined benefit system.

“If the unfunded liability dips below 90% in the future, will all employees have to pay 2.5% into their IAP's? NO! Tier 1 and 2 employees will pay 2.5%; OPSRP employees will pay .75%.

“4) Changes I had advocated for:

“a) While it is hard to ask any public employee to redirect funds from their IAP to the pension fund, I felt that OPSRP members especially should not redirect theirs. Their benefits were significantly slashed when this third tier was established in 2003, and seem to be sustainable unless the market tanks. If they pay any, it should be miniscule.

“b) The suspension of the redirect when the pension fund hits 90% funded should be separate for Tier 1, Tier 2, and OPSRP: Tier 1 and 2 should stop their IAP redirect when their portion of the UAL hits 90% funded, and OPSRP (if they have to pay anything) should stop their IAP redirect when their portion of the UAL hits 90% funded.

“c) Rather than have a 'cliff' at $30K/year (which is no longer a living wage in Oregon), we should phase this in between $36K-$48K/year: employees making less than $36K don't pay; those between $36K-$48K/year pay increasing amounts until they hit the required contribution at $48K/year and above.

“d) I support devoting a major part of the kicker and SAIF reserves to pay down the PERS UAL. Since SAIF reserves are off the table, I will continue to push for the kicker allocation. The sooner we can get the pension fund to 90% funded, the sooner we can suspend the IAP redirect. I would also lower the final salary cap from $195K/year to $160K/year, and I'd further reduce the COLA on the portion of benefits over $100K/year prospectively to make up for lost savings from my suggestions above.

“5) What would the short and long term impacts be if we didn't pass SB 1049?

“Although my changes were not incorporated and the bill is far from perfect, I appreciated the large majority of the bill that will preserve public budgets and services without major sacrifice.

“I truly felt that without SB 1049, public employees would risk layoffs and Oregonians would see cuts to critical services. Passing SB 1049 heads off Republican calls for deeper benefit cuts, reduces the likelihood of extremely unfair PERS reform ballot initiatives, and reduces the chance of repealing the Student Success Act at the ballot box by stakeholders who might fight it unless there is also cost containment. Our super majority in the legislature can't protect us from tax repeals at the ballot box.

“I have always been in favor of raising revenue from those who can most afford to contribute to the public good – corporations and high-income individuals, but this has not been politically feasible. My highest priority bill after passing Tenant Protections has been HB 3349, Mortgage Interest Deduction reform to raise $160 million/biennium by eliminating second homes used for vacation purposes and to pare back the MID for filers making over $200K/yr AGI, capping it at $250K/year AGI. That has no path this session but remains my top priority going forward. After passing $1 billion/year in business revenue for the Student Success Act, there was no path to raise taxes to cover PERS. We needed to tackle cost containment before we are able to pass further revenue raising measures.

“In future sessions, I will continue to advocate for some of my changes above, especially to raise the $30,000 exemption for the redirect. In this and every session, I will continue to advocate for more resources to pay down our UAL and to increase the staffing and support we so badly need in our schools, housing, human services, and other vital services.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – McLain requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I will start by saying this was an incredibly hard vote for me. As a former public school teacher of 42 years and a Tier 1, 2, and OPSRP recipient this issue is intensely personal for me. Yet, as a State Representative elected to serve Oregon, I cannot ignore the State's growing $27 billion unfunded liability.

“If the legislature does nothing, public employer rates are scheduled for another round of increases in the 2021-23 biennium. Every time this happens funds are redirected from services like schools and first responders to cover the cost. In the last five years, the cost that public employers have had to pay to cover pension debt obligations has nearly doubled. Like many of my colleagues I believe finding balanced cost-containment strategies that could help stabilize Oregon's PERS budget in the long-term is critical.

“Yet I must state I feel this is not the fault of our public employees in any way. The reality is that Oregon's budget challenges are more complicated than rising employee pension and health care costs alone. Our state faces a long-term, structural imbalance due to many choices legislators and voters have made over the years in addition to pension obligations.

“A major turning point occurred in 1990, when voters approved Ballot Measure 5, which shifted the responsibility for funding K-12 schools from local property taxes to the state general fund. Suddenly, the state had a huge new budget obligation for one of Oregon's top priorities – with no increase in revenue to pay for those costs.

“The Legislature has made significant reforms to reduce PERS costs in 1995, 2003 and 2013. After the Legislature passed additional PERS reforms in 2013, the Oregon Supreme Court ruled that amending benefits that workers already earned is unconstitutional, significantly limiting past ideas and thinking on ways to adjust the system to reduce the State's unfunded liability.

"SB 1049 represents several years of work and is the legislature's good faith effort to remedy the PERS liability in an ethical and legal way, while limiting the impact to public employees. Democrats have insisted that any changes to PERS must be balanced by a significant increase in revenues, particularly revenues coming from the corporate sector (which has seen its share of contribution to the General Fund reduce over the years at the expense of individual taxpayers).

"The challenge is that legislators are constitutionally required to have 3/5 majority votes in both chambers to raise revenue. While my colleagues and I have tried many times to find the votes to do this, we simply have not gotten bipartisan support for this proposal in the many years since Measure 5.

"SB 1049 represents a multipronged approach to decrease the State's PERS liabilities. The largest savings come from re-amortizing Tiers 1 and 2 of PERS liabilities, which is akin to refinancing a loan. This comes after much careful analysis and thought on the best way to manage risk within the retirement system. The rest of the savings come from redirecting a portion of worker's Individual Account Program (IAP) into a new account designed to fund 90% of the PERS liability within the next 10 years. Tier 1 & 2 employees will see a 2.5% redirect, and OPSRP or tier 3 employees (including all new employees) will see a 0.75% redirect. Those making under $30,000 annually will see no change. Furthermore, this bill does nothing to change a public employee's assured benefit through their pension, which is separate from their IAP.

"While it was difficult to vote to redirect any employee contributions, I believe inaction would have caused a much worse result for public employees and ultimately for communities across the state. Individuals and organizations are making very real threats to put PERS reform on the ballot. One threatened ballot measure would create yet another retirement tier, denying future employees access to a pension entirely, and instead create a system where their retirement comes entirely in the form of a 'defined-contribution' or 401K-style program. Such a ballot measure would have a good chance of passing and thus, inaction could have disastrous impacts on PERS and state employees.

"Again, I will reiterate how hard this vote was for me, and I sincerely wish legislators could have worked in a bipartisan fashion to find solutions that even further limited impacts to our public employees. I believe SB 1049 represents a balanced, ethical, and legal way to continue to manage Oregon's unfunded liability. Ultimately, I believe there will be long-term benefits for our entire state with this legislation, and I remain as committed as ever to ensuring our public employees are compensated in a way that they deserve."

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Meek requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"This was a difficult decision for me. Oregon's public employees help make our state a great place to live and raise a family. The services they provide to our citizens, however, are becoming harder and more expensive to deliver each year – leading to painful cuts to our schools, public safety and other crucial services. Failure to act now will result in deeper cuts to essential services and public worker benefits in the future.

"There are elements of SB 1049 A that I support, such as extending the time to pay off the unfunded liability for Tier 1 and Tier 2 employees from 20 to 22 years. There are also portions of the bill which I strongly oppose, including redirecting employee contributions to the pension account. Ultimately, my decision to support SB 1049 A is about preventing future cuts to public workers and ensuring greater long-term financial stability for our public employers.

"Every school district, local government and public employer will see meaningful savings as a result of SB 1049 A, with the Legislative Fiscal Office estimating $1.2 – 1.8 billion in total savings in 2021-23. In North Clackamas School District, this represents over $13.5 million which will go back into our classrooms and educational workforce. This is a big deal.

"I do not support everything in SB 1049 A, but the savings included in it are significant and will make a meaningful impact in our ability to provide the essential services that Oregonians rely on every single day."

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

"It is impossible for me to go into my vote explanation on SB 1049-A without giving a little background on myself. Before my election to serve as State Representative in 2018, I had a career in public service with the State of Oregon. Most recently, I worked in the Department of Human Services in Child Welfare and later in Self Sufficiency, both in Astoria. I'm a Tier 3 (OPSRP) public employee in PERS, and formerly an active member of the public employee labor union, SEIU. In 2018 I promised to stand up for working people, especially those in our North Coast communities. Many of those who supported my election came from those groups of people.

"As a former public employee, I am personally offended by the public attacks against public employees and their benefits. Public employees work just as hard as those in the private sector, often thanklessly, and on average make much less than private sector employees. As a result, the benefits package, including health insurance and retirement benefits, is an important piece of the compensation package that makes public service attractive and effective for retention. That, and my perspective as a state employee who sacrificed higher wages in exchange for long-term retirement security and a job that truly allowed me to help people, meant that when Democratic leadership in the legislature introduced SB 1049-A, a 'no' vote was all but a certainty for me.

"The insight I gained as a legislator into the actuarial issues surrounding PERS forced me to question my assumptions. Though PERS is one of the most well-funded, well-managed pension systems in the world by comparison—the unfunded actuarial liability is a much bigger issue than I had understood. Because of that unfunded liability—over $26 billion—rates paid by public employers into the pension system in the next biennium were estimated to exceed over 30% of payroll for many public employers (especially school districts). What this ultimately would mean is that, also within the next biennium—even in spite of the massive Student Success bill we passed earlier this session—vital services and public sector jobs would be at risk. Not only that, but the long-term viability of our pension system would be threatened if the Legislature didn't act.

"In addition to the actuarial threat to the future of the pension system, there was also a political one. Several ballot measures being proposed this year would have meant the destruction of our defined benefit pension system as we know it. It became clear that if the Legislature moved forward with a reform, those measures would either be dropped, or the urgency in the mind of the public for their passage would have been lessened through legislative action. I was not willing to gamble with the pension system and the retirement security of people I care so deeply about—public employees and my former colleagues in public service.

“Suddenly, my easy decision referred to earlier in this explanation became an impossible one: I, and my Democratic colleagues, believe that our public employees and teachers are invaluable, we don’t pay them enough, and we all ultimately believe that they shouldn’t have to be a part of the reform plan. And yet, if something didn’t happen, we would potentially sacrifice multiple other values.

“Student Success would potentially be at risk. Employer rates into PERS would go so high it would most certainly lead to cuts in vital public services and the loss of public sector jobs. And finally, failure to put forth and pass a bill on PERS would have made the likelihood of ballot measures that make draconian cuts to PERS all but certain.

“In coming to these conclusions, I have often likened this process to watching an asteroid on approach to Earth. You might not be able to stop the asteroid, but you might be able to do everything you can to minimize what would otherwise be a cataclysmic impact. All of the issues I have touched on were the asteroid, and SB 1049 was our effort to minimize harm.

“The initial proposals to solve this issue included the Governor’s plan, which involved a much higher employee redirect of IAP funds, preventing a money match, and no re-amortization of debt. The Senate bill at hand made significant changes on all of those fronts, including the option for employees to make their IAPs whole, and for the redirect to stop once the pension reaches the 90% funded rate. These changes are significant, and due in large part to the lobbying of constituents and the labor groups fighting for them.

“While I don’t expect these changes to necessarily make public employees feel fully comfortable about the end product—I do hope they know that great care was taken to try to come to the best possible plan: And I want to be clear that I utterly reject the idea that a reason to vote for this bill was because public employees should somehow have ‘skin in the game.’ My motivations in voting yes are entirely different.

“I also hope that people realize how deeply involved I made myself in the process of trying to find alternatives. Where colleagues I knew took a hard stance on wanting us to simply re-amortize the debt over a longer period of time, I took the initiative to contact the PERS board myself to find out why we couldn’t. What I found was that it would have destabilized and been potentially destructive to the system. I tried to find alternative sources of revenue that would have allowed us to avoid the 1.2% portion of the deal that the employee redirect comprises, either by using SAIF funds, or even ‘the kicker.’ As one of 90 legislators, I found those ideas to be untenable with enough of my colleagues to make it an impossible path.

“Despite all of my best efforts, I am confident in saying that there were no feasible options with a real ability to make it through the Capitol, even with a super majority. Those reasons are both political and practical—and for that, I am heartbroken.

“I fully believe in the power of labor and the value of our public employees. I know that it is probably impossible for those affected by this bill to see it now—but as someone who will also be impacted by these cuts (I am a Tier 3 employee), for me, it was of superior importance to make sure that we were able to have some control over the outcome on this issue. The redirect only impacts IAPs. And between an employee’s defined benefit amount and their IAP, the overall impact to individual retirements will only be about one to two percent.

“For those who are angered by my vote, I hope they know that I looked at this issue from every angle, thought about it, fought against it, and only arrived at the final outcome after significant deliberation and, from a human level, a lot of tears. This was an incredibly complex issue, and I made the hardest decision of my life knowing that there would be a lot of implications and consequences for it. I made the final decision because it was the right thing to do to protect the people I care about the most, even if it may not benefit me.

“In the end, without much in the way of alternatives, this was the most effective thing I could do to deliver on my promise to protect public employees and ensure a secure retirement for them. That is the responsibility I have as a servant of the people; to look out for them, even if I know it may be hard to see in the immediate.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Funding Schools is a priority for me. As a high school teacher, and mother of students in our public schools, nothing has motivated me more than the idea that it is time to stabilize and increase school funding. I see my vote on 1049 as a continuation of my support for schools. Without the passage of this imperfect bill, the Student Success Act dollars we have just created are at high risk of going straight to impending PERS rate increases, and not into classrooms.

“My vote is a reflection of my belief that, the ‘yes’ vote on the bill before me was essential to the stability of the entire PERS system right now. A ‘no’ vote, would risk inaction this session, and would have opened up PERS benefits to corporate efforts to make even deeper cuts to employee benefits. That is simply not a risk I was willing to take.

“Individuals and organizations are making very real threats to put PERS reform on the ballot. One threatened ballot measure would create yet another retirement tier, denying future employees access to a stable pension, and instead create a system where their retirement comes entirely in the form of a ‘defined-contribution’ or 401K-style program. Such a ballot measure would have a good chance of passing and thus, legislative inaction could have disastrous impacts on PERS.

“Public employees work hard every day to support and strengthen our communities. They dedicate their lives to serving the greater good and they deserve to be supported. It is painful to know that my only two options on this bill in the end would potentially change the PERS benefits for these dedicated workers, caregivers, first responders and teachers.

“Thanks to the advocacy of public employees, this proposal was made stronger, eliminating cuts to the Money Match and ensuring there were both one-time and ongoing resources dedicated to paying down the unfunded liability.

“When I first arrived at the legislature, a colleague said to me, ‘there are no new ideas, only an idea’s time.’ That said, the pros and cons of many of the ideas in this bill have been considered for a long time and many have been suggested in prior sessions. This is a culmination of years of efforts to ‘solve’ PERS.

“I cannot underscore enough that this was a difficult vote for me. I have seriously considered the ramifications of both a yes and a no vote. The dissonance I feel is real. Whether you agree with my vote, or you are upset with it, please know that I have listened, learned, deliberated. Along with many of you, I have searched for a better option.

“I am a Tier 2 PERS teacher, voting to cut my own benefits because it means tens of millions of dollars in savings for all of the school districts in the area I represent. I believe 1049 will provide cost savings that help us avoid extensive layoffs and that protect current critical services, while stabilizing our essential retirement system.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Piluso requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Senate Bill 1049 was brought forward in response to a serious problem. The cost of PERS has skyrocketed since the recession, with employer rates more than doubling in the last decade. When local governments and other public employers don't have stability in the rates they pay into the system, that leads to cuts and layoffs and takes money away from the services Oregonians rely on.

“At the same time, we can't lose sight of the fact that public employees are the teachers, firefighters, and police officers we depend on for those services. They deserve a fair and stable retirement.

“Ultimately, there is no perfect solution to this problem, but doing nothing is not an option. I believe SB 1049 strikes a good balance and will help ensure the long-term sustainability of the system, so that everyone who has earned a pension will be able to receive it.

“Local governments, school districts, and other public employers will see real savings from this bill. We expect to see between $1.2 and $1.8 billion in savings in 2021, with increased savings in future biennia. That translates to over $7 million in the Gresham-Barlow school district. As a school board member, I know those savings will make a real difference in our ability to serve our students.

“I also considered a threat looming on the horizon if we did not take action. Several individuals and organizations have taken steps to put PERS reform on the ballot. One potential ballot measure would create another retirement tier, consigning future public employees to a 401K-style program. That is not a policy I support, but I fear it would have a good chance of passage if it were to go forward.

“This was not an easy decision for me to make. I remain committed to ensuring our public employees get the compensation they deserve, and I will never stop serving the State of Oregon to the best of my ability.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Prusak requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Oregon would not be the place we all love without the dedicated public employees who work hard every day to support and strengthen our communities. I believe everyone recognizes that our unfunded actuarial liability is not their fault.

“There have been a handful of bills I have voted yes on over the past 18 weeks that I didn't think were perfect. I did this because I don't want to stop legislation from doing the most good just because it's not perfect. However, with this bill I feel differently. This time my issue with the bill is something I couldn't see past and therefore voted 'no.'

“For the record I support almost every part of this legislation. Most of this bill is a smart approach dealing with the unfunded liability and the debt owed. However, the stipulation that redirects a portion of the employee contribution to the pension account is too far out of step with my values and those whom I serve. Essentially this holds public employees accountable for the mistakes of Wall Street executives, executives who made a sizeable profit mishandling pensions. That is not something I can support. Our firefighters, correctional officers, caseworkers, 911 dispatchers, nurses, to name a few, work every day in service to Oregon. They were promised a secure retirement and should not be responsible for this debt.

“Bottom line, I stood by my values because my values are why I ran for office. I ran so working people would have a voice when there were opportunities to make their lives better, to save for their retirement, and to live with dignity. I ran because I'm a working person who lives paycheck to paycheck. I'm here because I felt we needed more working people representing us in this building. I ran because if we are going to truly have a citizen legislature then we need citizens who are not independently wealthy or retired. We need representation from people working and serving. This week, I stayed true to values that have gotten me to this day and why I voted, 'no.'”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Salinas requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Oregon's Public Employees Retirement System (PERS) is facing unprecedented funding shortfalls due to legacy decisions around defined benefit rate calculations as well as historic Wall Street market crashes. In fact, prior to the Great Recession in 2007, PERS was 110 percent funded. Now, local jurisdiction employers are being forced to direct an increasing portion of their budgets to fill the unfunded liability in workers' pensions, leading to painful cuts to teaching positions, school days and other critical services.

“Failure to enact SB 1049 would cause local government contribution rates to increase to over 35 cents of every dollar spent. SB 1049 will assist in lowering employer contribution rates and those public employers from needing to reduce staffing levels, vital services or essential programs. Estimates show that Portland Public Schools will see a net cost reduction of $52 million in the '21-23 biennium alone with enactment of SB 1049. Everyone agrees that the $26 billion unfunded actuarial liability (UAL) is a fiscal problem of monumental proportions that could cripple our state's budgets and economy. Where we disagree is how to solve the problem.

“Public workers did not cause the problem and I did not want to see a solution that requires them to pay for it. I would have preferred to have increased corporate income taxes given economic downturns, dictated by risk-taking Wall Street speculators, caused the housing and stock market crash, precipitating the PERS crisis. The legislature also could have considered to use state surplus State Accident Insurance Fund (SAIF) capital to address the UAL. We also could have considered decreasing the overall program funding requirement and lengthening the amortization rate. While all of these additional options may pose their own risk, they would have avoided touching the expected public employees' retirement returns. Sadly, I was given Hobson's choice—SB 1049 or nothing.

“I chose to take affirmative steps to protect public workers from loss of employment due to the inability of public employers to maintain public services and programs.

“The Legislature will place at least $100 million into an employer incentive funds account to encourage local governments to pay down their PERS UAL. I will advocate to direct additional funds into that account before the end of session.

“It saddens me to know that we cannot pass an additional revenue bill to address these PERS issues. We do not have the necessary votes to support such efforts and it was made clear by Senate leadership that public workers needed to be part of the solution. I won't pretend that this is a just solution.

“This was not an easy vote for me but based on all the factors presented, it was a necessary one to ensure that there would not be future harmful impacts on Oregon's public workforce or services to the public. I look forward to both chambers coming together to restore fairness and to provide additional compensation to workers to offset their redirected contributions.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Sanchez requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“As we know, the costs that public employers must pay into PERS to cover pension debt obligations have nearly doubled in the last 5 years, and are on a wholly unsustainable track.

“With this in mind, we know that doing nothing is not an option, especially if we wish to ensure that future state employees also have a fair chance at a meaningful retirement. It is also very important to note that this compromise on PERS reform is directly related to the Student Success Act, which passed only a few weeks ago and includes record investments in education. As a part of the negotiations on that bill, it was understood that a PERS reform bill would soon follow, so that the gains made by the Student Success Act could be preserved, and not be referred to the ballot by Oregon Business and Industry and others in the big-business community. Passing SB 1049 preserves that historic victory, and funds schools at a level we have needed to get to for years.

“In order to correct the current track of PERS in the most equitable, systemic, and legally permissible manner, Senate Bill 1049 will do several things: The largest chunk (80%) of the cost savings is created by re-amortizing the current unfunded actuarial liability of PERS, and dedicating 80% of anticipated lottery sports betting revenues to the Employer Incentive Fund. In short, the state will extend the current schedule to pay-off this $26 billion debt from 20 to 22 years, and use revenue from a soon-to-be established lottery program to offset costs. Current employees will also be required to contribute to their pension: 2.5% for Tier 1 and Tier 2 employees, and .75% for employees hired under the Oregon Public Service Retirement Plan (OPSRP). Those contributions are slated to make up most of the remaining 20% of the cost containment achieved with this bill.

“There were many proposals put forth to address this issue, but the current form of SB 1049 was the best compromise that this legislature could realistically achieve. I would have much preferred that the Kicker revenues that the state anticipates receiving be put forward to buy-down PERS debt, rather than shifting some of the burden to current employees. This idea was well-received by many advocates, but unfortunately we were not successful in persuading enough Members to agree.

“None of the legally permissible options put forth to solve this issue were desirable, and essentially created a situation of choosing between the lesser of several undesirable choices. Simply said, this was a very difficult bill to support, and considering the whole, it is the best we can do at this moment to avoid insolvency in the system.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Schouten requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“As a Tier I PERS retiree with over 35 years' service as a nurse, pension benefits for public employees are an issue of great personal concern to me. We must honor all contracts made and preserve all benefits already earned in the PERS system. But we also cannot turn a blind eye to the $26 billion unfunded actuarial liability and the corresponding unsustainable explosion in employer contribution rates.

“My vote in favor of SB 1049 was the most difficult decision I've been faced with in the Legislature. Ultimately, I feel this bill is necessary to fill the hole caused by investment losses in the Great Recession. Before the unprecedented private-sector market losses of 2007-2009, Oregon PERS had $1.10 in assets for every dollar in liabilities. The subprime mortgage meltdown and subsequent international financial crises wiped out that surplus.

“Now, our unfunded liability is enormous and growing. As a result, local governments (cities, counties and school districts) must put more and more money toward their PERS obligations instead of providing the critical services and programs Oregonians depend on.

“Not passing SB 1049 would have caused local government contribution rates to increase to over 35 cents of every budget dollar next year. SB 1049 will hold down employers' contribution rates and keep public employers from cutting necessary staff, services or programs.

“Without clear action, schools around the state will face dire choices and further cuts. On the other hand, initial estimates say the bill will free up more than $34 million to invest back in classrooms in the Beaverton School District, and over $51 million for Portland Public Schools.

“I would not support this bill if the savings came entirely on the backs of teachers, nurses, and firefighters. Only about 20% of the savings come from future benefit reductions. The bulk of the savings come from refinancing PERS system debt over a longer time horizon.

“I have been opposed to other PERS 'reform' schemes that violated the constitution and our promises to hardworking public employees. But we have a responsibility to maintain public budgets in a way that allows agencies to provide public services and adequate staffing.

“I am encouraged to see that we will be investing at least $100 million in an employer incentive fund to encourage local governments to make additional investments in paying down their PERS unfunded liabilities. Also, all the proceeds realized by the state in a new sports betting program will be dedicated to the PERS liability.

“Further, it is very unfortunate that we cannot pass an additional revenue bill beyond this to address the PERS issue once and for all. Lack of support in the State Senate and credible threats to send new revenue to the ballot corporate-funded ballot measures to overturn such legislation have prevented that from happening, to my great frustration.

“This was not an easy vote. I agonized long and hard over the choice. At the end of day, 'Yes' was the right choice to make for all Oregonians. It is a necessary but bitter pill we must swallow to avoid more devastating cuts to public workers in coming years.

“I remain a strong supporter of public workers and the labor movement more broadly. I look forward to working with my Union brothers and sisters to improve wages, ensure safe working conditions, and maintain the dignity of all labor.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Smith Warner requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I am a longtime labor advocate, education champion, and spouse of a PERS Tier 1 employee, and I voted yes on SB 1049A because I care about protecting the defined benefit pension of current and future public employees, and creating a more fair and stable revenue and fiscal structure for the state and for all Oregonians.

“The Modified Commercial Activity Tax that was passed in HB 3427 will provide dedicated funding for education that will track with the growth of our economy and fundamentally shift our state revenue system. SB 1049 complements this effort and will provide more stability by capping PERS contribution rates and establishing an ongoing revenue stream for the unfunded liability that does not balance the budget on the backs of public employees.

“I have always said that any PERS reform proposal must be fair, legal, and make a significant impact on our structural issues. There are dozens of PERS reform proposals introduced each session, and no other proposal met these standards. I have and will continue to oppose those unfair attempts to penalize current and future public employees for the short-sighted investment decisions and structural frameworks of the past. I will also continue to advocate for ways to strengthen and stabilize state and local budgets so public employees can count on a job and retirement, and the people of Oregon can count on services.

“SB 1049A largely achieves these three goals. 1) It does not change any existing benefits that have already been earned by current workers. 2) It achieves 80% of the benefit through amortization. The employee contribution redirect is proportional, with a larger amount coming from Tier 1 and Tier 2 employees, and there are no changes to any employee's defined benefit. 3) The bill will significantly stabilize and decrease PERS rates for the next decade for public employers, which means more money for services. In 2021-2023 alone, this proposal will mean a savings of over $51 million dollars just for Portland Public Schools. That is the equivalent of almost 600 teachers or education professionals. That's a game-changer, especially when it not only provides revenue to add back jobs that were lost over the last few budgets, but also protects the benefits of those public employees working in our schools.

“With this legislation, the direct impact to future retirement benefits - again, not benefits already earned - is projected to be 1-3%. For me, the ability to protect those defined benefits while helping reduce PERS related liability and debt and restore critical public funding for services like education, health care and public safety is an achievement that helps our entire state move forward.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Sollman requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“This has been a complicated issue and I have not taken my vote responsibility on Senate Bill 1049 lightly. I have researched, met with labor members, business owners, board members and yes, talked to my kids. As a mom to two teachers, this was not an easy decision to come to, but doing nothing was not an option.

“We are at a point in our public education system where the tipping point has tipped. Classrooms are bulging, there are increasing numbers of students with emotional, social and differing needs and staff members are feeling the effects of these layers every day. The reality is that many school districts are STILL recovering from the last recession. Since 2008, Hillsboro School District has cut $71,597,573 from their budget and that includes cuts in next year's budget. Our school districts are not the only ones that have felt their budgets squeezed and pulled. The dedicated public employees who work hard every day to support and strengthen our communities across this state have felt this in their jobs as well.

“I voted in favor of Senate Bill 1049 because I believe it will help accomplish two important things:

“First, the bill includes system-wide cost savings that will protect critical services and ensure long-term stability in our retirement system. Below are numbers from public employers in my district and the growing impacts of pension costs on their budgets.

“Washington County:
(2017) $13,949,118.59 (2018) $15,820,392.15 (2019) $28,200,000.00 (2020) $41,000,000.00

“City of Hillsboro:
(2017) $10,832,665.00 (2018) $12,144,165.00 (2019) $15,472,235.00 (2020) $15,859,041.00

“Beaverton School District:
(2017) $40,114,027.70 (2018) $58,437,205.20 (2019) $51,058,299.00 (2020) $76,949,120.00

“Hillsboro School District:
(2017) $26,055,461.00 (2018) $27,663,453.00 (2019) $34,562,292.00 (2020) $35,638,046.00

“Banks School District:
(2018) $1,340,703.00 (2019) $1,585,000.00 (2020) $1,861,000.00

“The projected numbers for pension costs for 2021-2023 are:

- Hillsboro School District $88,039,242
- Beaverton School District $218,093,947
- City of Hillsboro $20,319,396 (estimated)

“The cost containment efforts in SB 1049 turns the tide for these local public employers. For the Hillsboro School District, SB 1049 will save $7,813,067 and in Beaverton School District, the savings amount will be $34,103,676. These savings will protect jobs and days on the school calendars.

“The second key reason I voted yes on SB 1049 is that I believe it will help head off efforts to make even deeper cuts to employee benefits. Individuals and organizations are making very real threats to put PERS reform on the ballot which could have devastating results.

“I believe there will be long-term benefits for our entire state with this legislation, and I remain as committed as ever to ensuring our public employees are compensated in a way that they deserve.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Wilde requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“When I was young, I was drawn to stories of people who sacrificed for others. That led me to join the Army and to serve 25 years in the military. Despite the hardships, it was simple to be a soldier because I just had to love the service and my country. When I became a military leader, it became far more complex. It was no longer about my personal sacrifices and instead about inspiring others to make sacrifices that sometimes exceeded my own out of a shared love of our country. Similarly, the hardest part about being a legislator is not giving of myself to serve the public – it's asking others to bear burdens for the greater good.

“When I ask myself why people elected me over my opponents, who are both good people with some great ideas, I come back to that. They asked me to represent them because they trusted me to make a hard choice when it was the right choice. If I could pay down the PERS liability with my own money, I would do so. But I don't get that choice. My choice is between $1 billion more a year to educate Oregon's kids or 1-5% of the retirement for the people who educate them and keep them safe. Further, if we fail to address the underfunding of PERS this session, public employers will be forced with significant layoffs in every area other than PK-12 education. Put simply, moving forward with this bill does change retirement benefits going into the future, but it also keeps the people making this sacrifice in their jobs.

“I have advocated for our public employees and will continue to do so to reduce the impact this will have on them. Today, however, I did the job that the people of District 11 asked me to do. I voted for the greater good and to support our schools and our children.

“I will work to restore public employees' full benefits. We should repay them when we get through the PERS crisis. I will introduce legislation to do that this session, making this a loan from public employees, not a permanent reduction of their pensions.

“We must also continue to raise public employee pay gradually so we won't lose our brightest, most dedicated employees to our neighboring states, which pay better. I hear concerns that this is just the first step and that, having passed this legislation, the state will always look to public employees in the future. To be clear, I will not support any deal to reduce public employee pensions in the future and I will work against the initiative petitions filed to do so.

“I will also fight for our kids' safety at home and at school. That means fighting for schools where they won't get shot or get measles or polio. That means fighting to make sure that they aren't accidentally killed or commit suicide with a firearm that an adult should have stored safely. This year, we chose to compromise to stop cheating our children of their future. I will honor that agreement. And next session, I will continue the fight for their safety and for fair compensation for their teachers and the public employees who keep them safe and healthy.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Williams requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I strongly believe our state must support its public employees and work to encourage new workers to enter the public sector. Without the dedicated public employees who have committed themselves to bettering our communities, Oregon would not be the wonderful state that we all love.

“Since the last recession, the cost of our Public Employee Retirement System (PERS) has inflated massively, and vital public services have suffered as a result. The $26 billion unfunded actuarial liability in PERS has led to cuts to teaching positions and school days year after year, not to mention other critical services that Oregonians rely on every day.

“While I understand that Senate Bill 1049 may have a negative impact on public employees, I voted 'yes' for two reasons. First, I believe it will stabilize our retirement system, which will protect critical services that have been slashed in recent budget cuts. Efforts to reduce PERS costs began years before I was elected, and I believe Senate Bill 1049 is the most diverse, actuarially sound, fair, and legally permissible option available. Thanks to the efforts of my colleagues, I expect that every local government, school district, and public employer will see significant savings beginning in the next biennium. Legislative analysis suggests a savings of between $1.2 and $1.8 billion in 2021, with increasing savings in succeeding years. This will mean real savings for school districts in the communities I represent: for example, early estimates of savings for the Gresham-Barlow School District are over $7.1 million for the 2021-23 biennium. My hope is that individual districts' abilities to better fund teaching positions will offset the slight redirection of members' Individual Account Program contributions.

“The second reason for my 'yes' vote is that the legislature needs to be the source of a solution to the PERS problem. Without this bill, I fear that PERS reform would be put to Oregon's voters as a ballot measure. I take that threat seriously, because those ballot measures would make changes to PERS that will not serve public employees at all. One proposed ballot measure would create a fourth retirement tier, completely denying future employees a pension, and instead create a system where their retirement comes only in the form of a 'defined-contribution' or 401K-style program. Such a ballot measure would have a good chance of passing and thus, inaction could have had a disastrous impact on PERS.

“Oregon is one of only two states which does not require public employees to contribute to their own retirement accounts. This has led to calls to require individual contributions and a tendency for public employees to be blamed for the PERS problem. This problem was never their fault, and I am hopeful that SB 1049, which maintains the existing structure of the pension system while helping to reduce its unfunded liability, will end the attacks on PERS and public employees.

“In short, this was a difficult vote for me, but I believe it was the right thing to do. This legislation will be a net positive for our state, our public institutions, and the services that they provide. I remain as committed as ever to ensuring that our public employees are well-compensated and well-respected.”

SB 1049 (A-Engrossed) – Williamson requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I reluctantly voted yes on Senate Bill 1049A because I believe the implications of not acting now on our pension funding shortfall would simply be too damaging to critical services, Oregon's school children and our dedicated public workers.

“The Governor and the financial experts advising her informed the Legislature that if nothing is done, costs to cover pension debt obligations will rise, on average, to nearly 33% of payroll. That could lead to cuts to critical services like drug addiction treatment and mental health care and result in layoffs of public employees around the state. Acting now will allow Portland Public Schools to save $51 million on pension debt that could be reinvested back into our classrooms.

“Finally, I believe this bill is necessary to protect the defined pension benefits of thousands of Oregon workers and ensure that their pensions will be there in the future when these hardworking public servants are ready to retire.”

The following measure was referred from the desk of the Speaker and recorded on Committee Referral List No. 82 dated June 5, 2019.

SB 1025 Rules

SB 5541; SB 248, 320, 421, 670 – Read second time and passed to third reading.

SB 543 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Schouten. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 21; Nays, 38 – Barker, Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Boshart Davis, Bynum, Clem, Doherty, Drazan, Evans, Fahey, Findley, Gomberg, Gorsek, Hayden, Hernandez, Holvey, Lewis, Lively, McKeown, McLane, Nathanson, Nearman, Neron, Noble, Piluso, Post, Reardon, Reschke, Smith Warner, Sollman, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Williams, Wilson, Witt, Zika; Excused for Business of the House, 1 – Rayfield. Bill failed.

SB 543 (A-Engrossed) – Piluso requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Improving services for children and families has been a long-term priority of mine, and I strongly support the intent of Senate Bill 543. However, I have major concerns about new special districts' impacts on local revenue and the potential for inequitable tax burdens.

"If, for instance, Multnomah County voted to establish a children's special district as described in Senate Bill 543, there would be unintended consequences for the people of my district:

- Measure 5 compression would be triggered earlier and further compress the revenues that local governments rely on. I heard from representatives of my own City of Gresham that greater property tax compression would have an impact on their ability to provide essential services like police, fire, and emergency.

- Within the taxing district, the tax burden would be disproportionately borne by municipalities like Gresham, where permanent property tax rates are lower than in neighboring cities. We saw this happen in 2013, when voters approved a Multnomah County Library District; Gresham households saw a mean tax increase double that of Portland households, despite having lower incomes on average.

"I remain dedicated to fully funding services for children and families, and I look forward to working with advocates on solutions that will be equitable for all."

SB 543 (A-Engrossed) – Sollman requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

"I applaud the efforts of the sponsors of this bill and their continued advocacy in supporting out-of-school programs that benefit the children of Oregon. Though I am committed to working on this issue of access for programs and opportunities for kids and families, I felt strongly that this bill was not the most efficient and effective avenue to get there. I was a no vote on SB 543, but not without serious attempts to request that the bill language be improved to bring the communities of Hillsboro, Beaverton and Washington County to a place where they could be neutral or even supportive of the bill. In doing my research on this bill, I became concerned about several things.

- The growing concerns of compression issues for Washington County.
- That this is a permanent tax, once established. It would not go through a renewal process, much like libraries, police, fire and school levies do. I believe voters want to be assured and have proven results that their tax money is invested wisely and shows results.
- The ability to narrow a special district, under this bill, to a neighborhood is alarming in that more affluent neighborhoods may gain a disproportionate number of benefits, while low-income neighborhoods may not benefit.
- The potential dissolution of special districts under this bill would be disruptive to the community, as it encourages expensive and unnecessary litigation and uncertainty.
- The creation of new special districts could create competition and take funds away from those that are already working and helping our community kids.

- I am concerned that it places burden on an already broken property tax system that can lead to tax fatigue and jeopardize important community needs and services.

"Additional concerns were flagged by Hillsboro to me that even though we have well established that cities have to approve the formation of a children's service district within city territory before it can take effect, Hillsboro, and potentially other cities, have urban planning areas (urban reserves or areas inside the UGB that are not yet annexed). Cities do not have the ability approve the formation of a children's service district for those areas, and once established, cities would not be able to withdraw those areas from a children's service district when they are eventually annexed. This sets up an awkward phenomenon when one property may be subject to taxation from a children's service district and an adjacent property may not be, depending when properties are annexed. In House District 30 there is a significant amount of land in North Hillsboro that is inside the UGB but is not yet annexed – but will be annexed in the future. I think it is important to give cities the authority to approve the formation of a children's service district for those areas to avoid inequities between properties in taxation.

"I was hopeful to find a solution that never did present itself and there were too many concerns which regrettably prevented my support of SB 543."

SB 870 – Read third time. Carried by Mitchell. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 37; Nays, 22 – Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Boshart Davis, Drazan, Findley, Hayden, Helt, Leif, Lewis, McLane, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Smith G, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Wilson, Zika; Excused for Business of the House, 1 – Rayfield. Bill passed.

SB 870 – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

"I voted in favor of SB 870, which enters Oregon into the National Popular Vote Interstate Compact because I believe it is important for every vote to matter in presidential elections.

"Article II, Section I of the U.S. Constitution gives states the right to allocate electoral votes however each state wishes—and Oregon now has the opportunity to be the 16th state in the union to recognize that the most important thing we can do for our republic is to allow the people to truly have a voice in the election of our national executive branch's leadership.

"Entering the NPV compact is currently within the state's right to adopt, preserves the electoral college's structure and institutional value, and avoids the state-by-state 'winner take all' methodology of awarding its electoral votes, regardless, to a single candidate. The emergence of political parties, and the natural human tendency to hoard power, have caused the electoral college to contort into a system that preserves the power of a state's majority party, which, in my opinion, is far from fair. The moment many of our states adopted 'winner-take-all' statutes of awarding electoral votes, long after the death of our Founders, was the moment we deviated from our Founders' vision.

"With the National Popular Vote, because each person in the United States will count, candidates will not be able to isolate a handful of battleground states to determine the outcome of an entire election—they will have to fight for all of them. And if enough states sign on to the compact, it is truly possible that Oregon, and every other state, will finally be a battleground state. Additionally, while it makes sense for us to elect representatives and senators by state—it does not make sense to allow a truly national position that transcends state boundary lines, like the president and vice president, to be elected by ‘electors’ that never even have to campaign to the general electorate in order to win the opportunity to vote on behalf of their state. In a true republic, I would argue that the two truly nationwide elected positions—the president and vice president—should be elected directly in the same way that we elect our statewide officials: through direct democracy. The ‘republic’ piece is allowing and trusting those individuals to be the head of our executive branch.

“Finally, I voted ‘aye’ on SB 870 to empower voters. I myself have personal experience living in a state where I was the political minority and felt as if my vote didn’t matter. National Popular Vote is the best way to engage voters and ensure that their votes finally count.”

HB 3324 (A-Engrossed) – By unanimous consent, on request of Williamson, rules suspended to permit Sprenger to change her vote from "nay" to "yea" on passage of bill.

On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 35; Nays, 23 – Barker, Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Boshart Davis, Drazan, Findley, Hayden, Helt, Leif, Lewis, McLane, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Wilson, Witt, Zika; Excused, 2 – Greenlick, Marsh. Bill passed.

Smith DB requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I voted NO on HB 2714 for the following reasons and more..."

- HB 2714 unfairly advantages public employee unions by exempting small donor PACs, which unions are uniquely positioned to grow. The unions will be able to make unlimited contributions to candidates while other interest groups will be limited to $2,800.
- HB 2714 discriminates based on the content of a potential donor's message, creating winners and losers. As political power shifts, this law could be changed at the expense of whatever party is not in the majority.
- HB 2714, by exempting some groups based on their advocacy goals, will further exacerbate political polarization in Oregon, by enabling certain groups of activists, on both ends of the political spectrum, to have unlimited ability to influence elections, while others are subject to the limits.
- HB 2714 will increase the use of dark money in Oregon politics, by forcing organizations subject to the campaign limits to turn to the use of less regulated independent expenditures as a response to the unlimited campaign spending by those groups that are exempted.
- HB 2714 gives more power to political parties, by exempting contributions by organized political parties and party caucuses, diminishing the impact of independent voices in the electoral process."

Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I wish to file a vote explanation for my vote on HB 2437, because I have been contacted by a number of constituents in House District 32 who have approached me with concerns over how this bill will impact not just our district, but our state’s wetlands. I have also been approached by constituents in the district who are farmers that have enthusiastically advocated in opposition to this bill. When you hear from such a broad swath of constituents with differing opinions, and especially on an issue with such broad impacts, it’s especially important to ‘do your homework’ to make sure that decisions you make take into consideration all viewpoints.

“Agricultural ditches are used by farmers to allow for runoff from their crops and essentially as a ‘drain’ for that excess water. Over time, sediment and other waste can accumulate in the ditches. With that accumulation, if not maintained, the ditch can be rendered useless because the streamflow is impeded by that waste. So, farmers need the ability to periodically remove that accumulation from the ditch and dispose of the dredged material. While some ditches are wholly manmade, some are intermittent streams used for drainage purposes. Drainage channels that are streams are regulated by DSL. Farmers can remove up to 50 cubic yards without having to get a permit, but for amounts above that, they have to get a removal fill permit. Some farmers believe the permitting process is onerous, or they are unaware of the law, with the result being very few farmers actually apply for a permit and end up cleaning their ditches without authorization to remove more than the 50 cubic meters currently allowed by law.

“The need for a fix being clear, a workgroup was convened in the legislative interim to address the needs of farmers, while at the same time making sure that environmental considerations were also addressed in a process that inevitably will end up impacting the habitats of animals, birds, and fish that live in and along agricultural ditches. From what I have been told about this workgroup, and based on some of the documents I’ve seen that came out of the group, a great deal of thought and consideration around all of these issues was made—and a lot of progress was achieved. For example, this bill was intended to create sideboards and involved three different agencies (the Department of State Lands, Oregon Department of Agriculture, and Oregon Fish & Wildlife) to make the process more accessible to farmers but at the same time allow for environmental conditions to attach to this work.

“That said, while I feel this bill is the result of a long and deliberative process that truly tried to strike a balance between the need to protect our natural resources and environment, while also seeing to the needs of our farmers, I feel this bill falls a bit short of what I would have needed to see in order to feel fully comfortable in voting for it. For example, while the current 50 cubic yard exemption from DSL permitting is admittedly insufficient—the jump to 3,000 cubic yards per linear mile is quite large and is a blanket amount that doesn’t necessarily take into consideration the unique needs of the habitat that has cropped up around the waterway. Without additional protections around this process—it makes it difficult for me to be supportive of this particular approach.

“Secondly, the language of the bill indicates that the dredge spoils from irrigation ditches can be placed on wetlands, rather than limiting it to converted wetlands. Though I truly believe that most farmers endeavor to act responsibly and historically have simply used dredge spoils to spread on their fields for fertilizer, there is still some ambiguity for me in reviewing the language of the bill that wetlands will be protected, in spite of the bill’s assertion that any disturbance must be ‘temporary’ and not ‘materially change the depth or functionality of a wetland.’

“Additionally, the timeline in the bill that a notice of ‘go ahead’ or denial must be issued is 45 days. If the agencies are unable to complete their process within that time frame, the removal of up to 3,000 cubic yards can proceed—and potentially without any oversight. The responsibility of reviewing notifications and assessing the need for environmental conditions is ultimately shared between three different agencies in this bill, creating a bureaucracy that while it might be thorough, would also potentially be constrained by that timeline in such a way that we might not have the necessary oversight to ensure proper protection of wetlands.

“Finally, and most problematically for me, is the direction to DSL to establish by rule one or more general permits that allows for the removal of material from ‘waters of this state, including essential indigenous anadromous salmonid habitat’ during ‘channel conditions where flowing or standing water is present.’ The majority of this bill relates to a permitting exception process in channels where there is no standing or flowing water. Section 9, where this addition is made, potentially opens some dangerous pathways for areas to be impacted that probably should not. The permits referred to here will be created in rule, with no protections in statute that exist in the rest of the bill in dry ditches. Notably, current law allows for removal fill from wet waters for drainage activities with a cap of 100 cubic yards; this new section does not set a statutory cap.

“To its credit, Section 10 of this bill calls for Oregon State University to conduct ‘a study of benefits and impacts of maintenance activities’ referred to in the bill. Given some of the fairly large changes to the permitting process, however, I believe that this study should have been conducted before implementing such a large change. If this study had been done in conjunction with a pilot first, and then changes made afterward based on the results of the pilot, we would at least have a program based on data that could give a clearer idea of the impact of some of these major changes.

“I have to say that I feel this bill is about 90 percent of where it needs to be, which is a testament to the dedication of the participants in the workgroup to find a viable solution for our farmers that also respects the climate. Given some of the concerns I have outlined here, however, I feel that there would need to be a little more in the bill in order for me to be completely supportive of it. Obviously, this legislation passed without my vote—which does at least give our farmers a more accessible process. That said, I do hope that these concerns give rise to a desire by stakeholders to go back in the next legislative interim and undertake a similar process to resolve these remaining concerns.”

HB 2437 (B-Engrossed) – Neron requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted no on HB 2437 because it is overly broad and has the potential to have unintended consequences for wetlands and streams. I have concerns about increasing the debris removal exemption by such a significant amount (from the current 50 cubic yards per linear mile to the proposed 3,000), which is even more troubling when considered along with the federal efforts to roll back the ‘Waters of the United States’ protections.

“Although I am sympathetic to the intent of this bill and I appreciate the compromises made to improve it, my no vote represents my hope that we will vigilantly monitor its effects when it is implemented. I trust that, if needed, we can return to the conversation in the future to improve protections of both our agricultural drainage infrastructure processes and our protections of streams and wetlands.”

On parliamentary inquiry, Drazan questioned whether bill would require the affirmative vote of 31 members of the House or 36 members of the House in order to be declared passed.

Speaker ruled passage of the bill would require the affirmative vote of 31 members of the House, citing an opinion received from Legislative Counsel dated June 17, 2019 which stated:

“The Oregon Constitution requires bills for raising revenue to originate in the House of Representatives and to receive at least a three-fifths majority vote in favor of passage in each chamber. To determine whether a bill is a bill for raising revenue, the Oregon Supreme Court considers, first, whether the bill brings money into the treasury and, second, whether the bill possesses the essential features of a bill levying a tax. A bill that does not meet both requirements is not a bill for raising revenue. While it is likely that House Bill 2020 will bring money into the treasury, it is the opinion of Legislative Counsel that House Bill 2020 does not possess the essential features of a bill levying a tax. Under House Bill 2020, the state receives proceeds through the sale of allowances at auction. However, House Bill 2020 does not require a person to purchase allowances from the state. Rather, a person may choose to purchase allowances from the state, and receive a valuable, tradable asset in return, or the person may choose to purchase allowances from another source or comply with the program by other means. By contrast, a tax in this context would be a mandatory payment to the state. It is therefore the opinion of Legislative Counsel that House Bill 2020 does not require passage by a three-fifths majority.”

Based on the above opinion, Speaker ruled HB 2020 (B-Engrossed) would require the constitutional majority of 31 affirmative votes to be declared passed.

Drazan, joined by McLane, appealed the ruling of the Chair.

Evans requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2020 is the first-draft of an historic transformation of our economy from a dependency upon fossil fuels, and the impact it causes, toward a cleaner more carbon-neutral reality. This bill is far from perfect, but it is an impressive step forward. It provides the framework for the transition: it is, and shall remain for decades to come, a work ‘in-progress.’ For too long we have allowed the perfect to obstruct the good. House Bill 2020 is a critical measure for all who seek to be good stewards of our natural world as well as for all who believe we have a duty to defend our nation from all threats, foreign and domestic. Our relationship with fossil fuels has weakened us. This measure will begin our journey back to our ‘better angels.’ I am grateful for the hard work done, and enthusiastic about the future we shall create together.”

McKeown requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“After lengthy and careful consideration of House Bill 2020B, I was a ‘no’ vote today. I am left with a conflicted heart and feel compelled to explain.

“Before I explain my position, I want to sincerely commend the good and honorable Representative Karin Power for her thoughtful and tireless work on this bill.

“Global climate change is real. Future generations are looking to elected officials at the local, state, and federal levels of their government to do something, but I fear that if we do this now, and we do it wrong, the repercussions will be felt by all Oregonians. If Oregon’s economy is damaged, and we can’t afford to maintain our roads, we will be an example of why not to tackle climate issues with state policy. As much as I believe we have to do something, I even more strongly believe that we have to get it right. Unfortunately, I didn’t believe that HB 2020B, in its current form, got it right enough for me to vote yes.

“My beliefs about House Bill 2020B are nuanced but my underlying values are unwavering, and my background demonstrates those values.

“As a member of the Energy Trust Board, I represented rural communities for eight years ensuring that the public purpose charge that is the cornerstone of the energy trust revenue was equally distributed across the state and working toward investment in efficiency, conservation and renewable power projects in urban and rural communities. It was an honor to serve.

“During that same time, the City of Coos Bay built the first LEED certified public building on the coast, a new Fire Station. There were many doubters in the beginning in my community, including my husband who at the time was a City Councilor. With a great deal of education about the benefits of sustainability from the Energy Trust Staff, a lot of encouragement and cajoling, that building is now a source of pride in the community.

“As a Port Commissioner I traveled to three countries supporting a deep water, offshore wind project because I knew that some of the best wind on the planet lies a few miles offshore between Coos Bay and San Francisco. This was verified by the department of energy at the federal level, who was involved in the project as well. The project would have brought gigawatts of renewable power into Oregon. We failed at the first attempt, but we will one day tap that resource.

“On the subject of coastal renewable energy opportunities, I often joke about having a bone to pick with my friend from the House District to the north of mine, Representative Gomberg. My district also fought for the wave energy testing facility that now lies off the coast of House District 10 in Newport.

“I personally have 5.8 kw of solar power generation on my home. This is because I know and believe in the importance of the transition to solar and wind and geothermal and hydro and wave -- all sources of renewal power are critical to our future.

“In the 2017 Transportation package, which I played a large part in crafting as the Co-Chair of the Joint Committee on Transportation, we looked toward the future of not only Oregon's transportation infrastructure but the future of transportation fuels themselves. We made significant investments in transit, we tiered registration and title fees to differentiate between vehicles that are highly and efficient and those that are not. We incentivized, in a small way, Oregonians to purchase electric vehicles with the goal of driving down emissions.

“This is all to say that I am not a climate denier. In fact, I am deeply concerned about how to make the changes we will have to make as a state and as a society to combat climate change. However, I have two problems with House Bill 2020B.

“The Speaker trusted me with a gavel as the Co-Chair of the Joint Transportation Committee. I thank her for that honor. It is a responsibility that I take very seriously. I consider myself a steward of Oregon's transportation system and have spent much of this session following the interplay between House Bill 2020B and the 2017 Transportation Package; especially issues pertaining to the Highway Trust Fund, how we preserve, maintain and improve our entire transportation system. It leaves me deeply concerned.

“How do we keep our promise to improve the transportation system through the 8 years of gas tax increases and 10 years of implementation under HB 2017 when the Trust Fund will now be losing money? Some estimates are up to $18.5 billion in revenue over a 30-year period. It is unclear how we mitigate that loss.

“How can the cost increases to motorists and freight movers not have a significant negative impact on the economy of the state as these costs will trickle down to every Oregonian?

“How do we meet and maintain cost responsibility, our constitutional charge, in a changing system and move toward road usage fees, which must be part of our path forward as we electrify? What are the possible constraints on the state's ability to bond beyond the planned projects called out in HB 2017 as we move forward?

“There are also unresolved, constitutional questions regarding the HTF, and the Common School Fund.

“In the 2017 Transportation Package, we raised the gas tax 10 cents, and Oregonians trusted us to do that knowing we weren't going to hit them again for 10 years. That was our pledge. It's a pledge I can't, with a good conscience, break.

“Most importantly, how do we actually lower emissions in the transportation sector when there is no clear path to electrification infrastructure or fleet conversion on a large enough scale to be on target to meet the stated 2035 and 2050 goals?

“I see many unresolved transportation issues in HB 2020B. Telling our constituents to trust us and that we'll fix it later is not very comforting, I fear.

“We have been in a recession on the south coast for 40 years now. We have not recovered the way that much of the rest of Oregon has; a case in point, the closure of the Georgia Pacific mill just down the road from my house. This is personal for me. It is why I run for this office: to protect my communities who have been struggling for quite some time. I fear for my constituents who struggle, and I fear for my businesses who struggle.

“House District 9 is far away from any urban centers. This means that my constituents drive more. They will have higher costs as fuel prices increase with few transportation alternatives. Businesses in my district have increased costs well. It costs more to move goods to or from the south coast.

“We have done good and important work in the past several legislative sessions: a minimum wage increase, paid sick leave, pay equity, the Transportation Package, the Student Success Act, and the potential for a paid family leave bill later this session. However, all of these are cost drivers. I fear we are in danger of hitting critical mass for our constituents and for our businesses, particularly in poor and rural communities. We have accomplished a great deal, but for rural coastal Oregonians and the businesses on our coast how much is too much?

“I honestly don't know how I can go home and look my 65,000 constituents in the eye, individuals and business owners alike, and tell them 'It's going to be okay. Yes, your fuel prices are going to go up again, your home heating and natural gas costs are going to go up, and the costs of your goods and services are going to go up.' How do I tell them that it's going to be okay, when I don't believe it myself? At what point does this burden become too great to bear for my rural constituents?

“I believe that climate change must be responded to, but 2020B is not a plan of action that generates climate improvements significant enough to justify the price that rural businesses and low-income Oregonians will be asked to bear. Ultimately, I don't believe that it is a plan of action that improves the lives of the rural constituents in places like House District 9, and so I voted no.”

HB 2020 (B-Engrossed) Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I have heard passionate arguments from sections of my community who very much support the bill, and those who vehemently oppose it. I want to ensure my statement is on record.

“HB 2020 is the product of years of climate policy analysis, research, and reports that predate my time in this Legislature. While there was much debate on the House floor on the bill, nearly all of my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle recognized the issue of global warming. Over 10 years since my formal introduction to the concept of climate change, we are confronted with even more dire and imminent threats from climate change. In fact, the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change has issued a warning that we as a planet will face unprecedented and devastating consequences such as widespread famine, flooding, and drought if we don't take bold action to reduce greenhouse emissions by 2030. Locally, within our own community, we face multiple climate threats that are affecting our local economies.

“These impacts, if left unchecked, have the potential to be catastrophic for our community. As the representative of a district that includes the most state-owned forestland in the state, we are at risk for significant fire danger as our summers grow hotter—even with responsible management of our lands. As temperatures rise, many tree species we harvest, like the Western hemlock, are unlikely to be able to adapt. This risks the investments of not only larger timber operations, but also small woodland owners who rely on that investment income both in the short term and as a generationally-bestowed asset. Many jobs in my district are still resource or tourism based, particularly those engaged in commercial and recreational fishing. Many of the cities and towns in House District 32 run along the Pacific Ocean or line rivers like the Columbia, and these population centers could be significantly impacted by sea level rise.

“Rather than inaction, I chose to fight hard to make this bill better for our district. I asked the House committee co-chair to meet with me and representatives from one of our largest mills to hear firsthand their concerns, and I advocated for improvements to protect our state’s energy-intensive, trade-exposed companies, called EITEs. Through these changes in the bill, EITEs like ‘Pulp, Paper, and Paperboard Mills,’ ‘Sawmills and Wood Preservation,’ ‘Veneer, Plywood, and Engineered Wood Product Manufacturing’ are now specifically protected. I pushed to ensure that the bill recognized the best-in-class technology that our companies have already invested in, and the final version of the bill now gives these EITEs 100% direct allowances through 2025. Six years from now, EITEs will then be evaluated to continue to ensure that they are recognized for all they can do to improve energy efficiency – and if they are continuing to meet these standards, they will receive 95% direct allowances for a subsequent nine years. Minor allowance purchases will be partially returned in the form of grants to these businesses to help afford equipment upgrades. The bill gives EITEs the ability to continue to operate competitively—and acknowledges how important they are to our communities.

“House Bill 2020 will also make sure that projects under the program pay living wages and produce good jobs, which is why the Oregon State Building and Construction Trades Council and other unions have endorsed the bill. I am heartened by their testimony in the final days of committee hearings, where their Executive Secretary said ‘climate change is a reality that must be addressed by state and national governments sooner or later. HB 2020 has the potential to push Oregon to the front of the pack in terms of innovation, worker training, and economic transition, ensuring our industries are competitive for decades to come.’

“I am grateful that colleagues listened to public testimony that talked about the way that higher gas prices disproportionately affect our coastal and rural communities, and I look forward to voting yes on Senate Bill 1051 as well. SB 1051 will provide a credit back for any gas price impacts attributable to the program for low- and moderate-income households in Oregon, as well as a credit for certain diesel fuel costs used in farm and forestry activities. The Committee also sought to mitigate and avoid energy bill impacts to low income households altogether, and crafted the bill to provide for a gradual transition away from fossil fuels. After months of work, our state’s largest utilities – Pacific Power, PGE, and NW Natural – have all determined that they can now support HB 2020. I imagine that was no easy feat.

“While this vote explanation will disappoint my constituents who wanted me to vote no, I intend to continue to engage in the cap and trade program implementation to ensure that the benefits promised by advocates are delivered to our rural and coastal communities.”

Evans requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2015 is a necessary measure. It aligns us with the rest of the nation. Since passage of the REAL ID Act by Congress in the early 2000s in the wake of the 9/11 Terrorist Attacks upon our country, we have been working towards an integrated identification process: in simplest terms, a federal program managed through the states. HB 2015 is required for us to comply with the higher standards of presence proofs established through the REAL ID Act. Absent passage, many Oregonians would be inconvenienced at the airport, entering federal installations, and/or at the border when seeking to return from travels abroad.

“What the bill does is this: established an ‘enhanced’ Oregon Driver’s License eligible for recognition by the federal government. Those unable to meet the criteria required by the REAL ID Act may be eligible, with passage of written and driving demonstration tests, for a driver’s license. This is necessary for all Oregonians either unable, or unwilling, to show proof of citizenship. Many aged, at-risk, and homeless members of our community cannot demonstrate the proofs now required by the federal government. Accordingly, a standard (as in not ‘enhanced’) card will be only good in Oregon for purposes of driving privileges and/or identification proofs.

“Here’s the bottom line: HB 2015 is a necessary step for Oregon to take. It makes our state safer more secure, through better management of residency; it complies with new federal requirements that will ensure our people aren’t unnecessarily inconvenienced when interacting with the federal government. I believe passage of this measure is a critical need; it is about national security and individual liberties, nothing less or more.”

HB 2015 (A-Engrossed) – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Driving is an essential part of everyday life in many parts of Oregon for many Oregonians. That includes the North Coast where I myself have spent many hours driving up and down Highway 101 to visit constituents throughout our large district. In our community, local advocacy groups often highlight how important the ability to drive is to so many hardworking members of our community, including those who work on farms, in seafood processing facilities, and in the hospitality industry. Without driver’s licenses, people are often out in lose-lose scenarios where commute times are so long that it becomes impossible to get by.

“Under the new standards, the state will offer two different types of driver’s licenses: the new, enhanced federal Real ID-compliant license, that can be used for air travel, access to federal buildings, among other things; and the standard license which will only be a license to drive. To get the enhanced license, Oregonians must submit additional identification documents and proof of citizenship. The standard license would be available to all Oregon residents who pass written and driving tests, pay necessary fees, provide proof of insurance, and provide proof of identity and residency, regardless of citizenship status. This ensures that every Oregonian including those who may not have access to the necessary documentation required to receive a Real ID, like the elderly, domestic violence survivors, victims of natural disasters, houseless individuals and immigrants, are still able to obtain a driver’s license.

“This legislation also ensures that Oregon’s roads are safer. Having a driver’s license means drivers know traffic laws and are required to have the minimum amount of car insurance. That is good for every other driver on the road.

“House Bill 2015 makes sure that we do right by the most vulnerable people in our communities, who just want to be able to get to school, work, and church like the rest of us.”

HB 2015 (A-Engrossed) – Noble requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“Why I voted in favor of HB 2015 – Regardless of HB 2015, and with the implementation of Real ID, Oregon will have two distinct driver’s license cards beginning July 2020. This is different from SB

833 (Measure 88) which would have required the creation of a new card. HB 2015 simply makes use of the standard driver’s license that does not meet the requirements of legal presence for the purposes of federal identification.

“Although HB 2015 does not require a person to prove legal presence for the standard driver’s license, it still requires a person to prove their identity and Oregon residency, and requires the collection of biometric data consistent with current practice. Additionally, HB 2015 preserves the Real ID driver’s license requirement that a person prove legal presence in the United States, and it complies with federal identification requirements.

“My public safety background provides me with an orientation towards traffic safety. Although nothing is guaranteed, I believe we are better off with having people on the road who have demonstrated a basic proficiency in knowledge of the rules of the road and practical skills in operating a motor vehicle. Additionally, with the proof of identity and residency requirements in the bill, law enforcement officers will have better information regarding who’s behind the wheel in the event of a traffic violation, traffic crash, or any other situation when the identity of the operator is important.

“Although anyone can insure a car, insurance companies almost always will deny a claim in situations where the vehicle is not operated legally, including circumstances where the driver’s license is revoked or suspended, or the driver simply does not have an operator’s license. I believe HB 2015 removes a barrier for the purchase of motor vehicle insurance by allowing a path for the legal operation of a vehicle. This benefits us all.

“In weighing my vote on HB 2015, I carefully considered all of the background information presented below. I’m also very aware that this bill has been seen and referred to as a pro or anti undocumented/illegal immigration bill. Many will no doubt disagree with me, but I refuse to see it that way. For me, this was a traffic safety vote. I believe HB 2015 will take some of the unknown, unlicensed, untrained drivers who don’t know the rules of the road, and provide for proof of identity, proof of proficiency, proof of knowledge, and the ability to be insured. I see this as a benefit.

“Some background information - The Real ID Act was passed by Congress in 2005, based on recommendations from the 9/11 Commission that the federal government ‘set standards for the issuance of sources of identification, such as driver’s licenses.’ It establishes standards that state-issued driver’s licenses and identification cards must meet in order to be accepted as identification for certain federal purposes.

“The federal government has been granting Oregon an exemption from Real ID requirements; however, the current exemption expires October 2019. ODOT is optimistic that Oregon will receive additional extensions that will take us through October 2020. As ODOT’s recent computer overhaul wraps up, Oregon will begin issuing Real ID driver’s licenses in July 2020. Real ID licenses will be optional, and Oregonians who do not wish to get one can keep their standard driver’s license or ID card.

“So what’s the difference? The difference is access. Starting Oct. 1, 2020, the federal government will require Real ID compliant identification from Oregonians wishing to board a domestic commercial flight or enter a secure federal building or military base, so you will not be able to use a standard Oregon Driver’s License or ID Card for these purposes.

“Why does this matter? Beginning in July 2020, Oregon DMV will issue two types of cards. A Real ID driver’s license that grants driving privileges and shows Oregon residency and meets the federal requirements of legal presence in the United States, and the standard Oregon driver's license that grants driving privileges and maintains our current identification and residency requirements.

“So what does HB 2015 do? - HB 2015 allows Oregon residents to obtain a non-commercial driver's license without showing proof of legal presence, provided the person has a valid social security number or provides a signed written statement that the person has not been assigned a Social Security number.

“HB 2015 requires several things for the issuance of a driver's license:

(1) A person must submit to collection of biometric data related to the identity of the person.

(2) A person must show proof that they are an Oregon resident.

(3) A person must pass the knowledge test and driving test, and

(4) they must pay the appropriate fee for the license.

“Also, in order to prove identity, a person must present one of the following:

(1) An unexpired valid passport from the person's country of citizenship;

(2) An unexpired valid consular identification document

(3) A driver license, driver permit, or identification card issued by this state

(4) A driver license, driver permit, or identification card issued by another state

“What about voting? HB 2015 also adds language to ORS 247.107 which deals with providing records to the Secretary of State for voter registration. The language clarifies the development of rules to ensure that only US citizens are registered to vote, in compliance with the voter registration provisions of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993. This legislation does not increase the possibility of a non-citizen being registered to vote. US citizenship is still a requirement to vote or register to vote.

“What about Measure 88? - Yes, my vote on HB 2015 did conflict with the people's vote on Measure 88. Yes, I have spoken on the floor of the House of Representatives that too many times during this legislative session we have ignored the will of the people. That is exactly why I voted no on HB 3427, a bill to raise your taxes and take money out of your pocket in direct conflict with measure 97. And I voted no on SB 1008, a bill making changes to minimum sentencing in direct conflict with measures 11 and 94. And that is why I proposed an amendment to HB 2015 to remove the emergency clause and refer the bill to the voters. Unfortunately, my amendment was not adopted.”

SB 1013 (B-Engrossed) – Meek requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

“For decades, Oregonians have debated whether the death penalty is appropriate and for which crimes, if any, it should apply. This is a necessary debate – but it is one in which all Oregon voters should have the opportunity to weigh-in on the ballot. I cannot support SB 1013 B because the changes it would make to the death penalty warrant greater consideration and debate among Oregon’s voters.

“Furthermore, I remain concerned with how SB 1013 B will impact ongoing and future criminal matters – including the trial of Jeremy Kyle Christian, who murdered two people on a MAX train in Portland in May 2017. One of the victims – Ricky John Best – has a son who testified in opposition to SB 1013 B and how it will restrict the jury’s ability to enforce justice in his father’s death. These are compelling arguments.

“Criminal justice is a complex issue. As a State Representative I have supported legislation to reform youth sentencing laws and direct more resources towards rehabilitation programs that would reduce incarceration. I will continue to support Oregon’s Justice Reinvestment Initiative and its goals of reducing recidivism and prison use while protecting the public and ensuring justice is served.”

SB 1013 (B-Engrossed) – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I do not support the use of the death penalty in Oregon’s justice system for a number of reasons. From ethical considerations, to the real lack of justice provided to the families of victims who go through the process, to its ineffectiveness as a deterrent, to the cost, to even potentially executing innocent people—I simply feel justice is better served by life incarceration, where offenders cannot recommit crimes and cause additional pain to others.

“My ‘no’ vote on this issue rests primarily on a few key points. Firstly, the death penalty—even though it is currently not in use because of a moratorium on the death penalty imposed by the Governor—is still in place. This particular bill only narrows the application of the death penalty by modifying the definition of aggravated murder. I would prefer to see the death penalty repealed entirely.

“Secondly, if the death penalty is going to remain in place, and if aggravated murder is the charge used to apply it, I believe it should include other heinous crimes. Most notably for me, the crime of murdering someone as a result of maiming or torture was removed from the definition.

“I do not support the death penalty, and wish to make that abundantly clear. That said, I truly believe that Oregon should fully abolish the practice, rather than tip-toe around it in a technical fix that artificially narrows the definition. I hope that the issue of the practice is one that appears some day on the ballot—and that Oregon voters move to end the practice. In the end, however, I appreciate that the passage of this bill opens the door for Oregon to see the additional benefits of seeing fewer people being charged with crimes that warrant the exploration of the highest punishment.”

SB 1051 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Power. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 45; Nays, 13 – Barreto, Findley, Leif, Lewis, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith G, Sprenger, Wallan, Wilde, Wilson; Excused for Business of the House, 2 – McLane, Rayfield. Bill passed.

Nearman requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I voted no on HB 5024, the budget bill for the Higher Education Coordinating Commission, which funds Higher Education in Oregon. My no vote was based on two principled objections.

"First, most Oregonians do not attend college, and therefore do not get the lifetime benefit of increased wages. I question the morality of having the taxpayers – including many taxpayers who do not have the benefit of a college degree -- subsidize that education. I get it that almost no one can finance their own education. I continue to support a system in which the financing of the education comes from the increased incremental value of the future earnings, by the person who gets the benefit. This could take shape in the form of a 'pay it forward' program in which a former student pays, say, 15% of their wage earnings for the next 10 years.

"Second, I am privileged to have earned a degree from one of Oregon's public universities. My experience was that the institution, from top to bottom, was one of the least diverse and least tolerant places on planet earth – and I don't mean skin color or sexual preference. There was almost no diversity or tolerance of ideas that did not share the politically correct view of the world held by the university. Until this is remedied, I have a hard time demanding that taxpayers – including those whose ideas are not truly welcomed on campus – foot the bill."

"Madam Speaker and colleagues, for the last 22 years I have been a member of a limited liability company that does economic and business development privately throughout Oregon. Quite often, the individuals that my company works with utilize Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) services.

"In my capacity as the Malheur County Economic Development Director, I oversee a reload facility project that Senator Bentz implemented. I also serve as a project manager in Linn County for the Mid-Willamette Valley Reload Center, which Representative Andy Olson and Senator Sara Gelser put into the transportation package. Lastly, my company serves as the economic development lead for the Columbia Development Authority, which received $6.5 Million for valuable infrastructure improvements."

HB 2005 (B-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Williamson. On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 43; Nays, 15 – Barreto, Boshart Davis, Findley, Leif, McKeown, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith DB, Sprenger, Stark, Wallan, Wilson, Zika; Excused, 2 – McLane, Smith G. Bill passed.

McKeown requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“This was a difficult decision for me. Supporting paid leave for workers needing to care for an aging and ailing family member or escape a domestic violence situation is easy. What makes this vote difficult is the added cost that it will place on the working population and businesses in my district.

“Many of my constituents are already struggling to make ends meet and will feel a .60% payroll deduction from their paychecks. In addition, the financial burden placed on large and small employers will not go unnoticed. While it is comforting that the premium in Oregon under HB 2005 will be lower than other states, at .40% of an employee’s payroll, businesses will still be faced with the extra costs of training a replacement worker for up to 16 weeks – if they can find one at all.

“However, I very much appreciate that it is the product of a negotiated bi-partisan agreement. HB 2005 includes meaningful provisions that aim to protect both workers and employers. In addition, the support from labor, family advocate groups, and business entities like the Oregon Restaurant Association, NW Grocery Association, and Food Processors show that this bill addressed both worker and employer concerns.

“The final proposal offers crucial components for Oregon’s large and small job creators, including:

- A program that is affordable for employers and workers and requires investment from both sides of the equation
- A program that covers all workers, both full-time and part-time, and allows self-employed workers to opt in
- A portable program so employees can take it from job to job and not lose coverage if forced to find new work
- Provides a meaningful wage replacement while on paid leave, including 100% for our lowest wage workers
- Protections for small employers
- Alignment with existing family leave programs
- Protection for employers when hiring temporary or replacement workers when their workers choose to take their leave
- Reasonable leave time that allows workers, especially our expecting parents the time to bond with their new babies and adopted family members
- A statewide policy that ensures consistency and predictability for Oregon employers
- Program flexibility that allows for employers to access or utilize existing marketplace insurance products
- Accurate cost accountability for the State and the workers and employers paying into the system

“It is for these reasons that I offered my YES vote today in support of an Oregon Paid Family, Medical and Safe Leave program.”

"I voted YES on HB 2257 for the following reasons and more.... It was an honor to be appointed by the Governor and serve on the Opioid Task Force. Some key points I brought up through that work and subsequent language put into the bill:

"The most frequent concern with the CCO system expressed in listening tours and the Governors number one recommendation was to improve behavioral health.

"HB 2257 sets a standard and addresses some of those concerns by requiring the CCO's provide the same agents for treatment that federal legislation stipulates should be equally available: methadone, buprenorphine, and injectable naltrexone for the first thirty days of treatment.

"This will help Oregonians move on with their lives at the critical moment when they are ready to start treatment without allowing unnecessary delays to drag them back into addiction."

Wilde requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"I do not speak for the Department of the Air Force or the US Government on this bill, but I do serve as a colonel in the Air National Guard, and I have served at the strategic level. Moreover, I have studied modern military history for the last quarter century. That's what I'd like to address in my vote explanation.

"To be clear, I am only opposed to the provisions of the memorial relating to opposition to the modernization of our nuclear weapons. I support the remainder of the memorial, oppose any offensive use of nuclear weapons, and hope that we will eliminate nuclear weapons entirely, worldwide.

"It's important to consider how we got here to consider how we might get to the point where no country has nuclear weapons. After WWII, we engaged in an escalatory cycle with the Soviet Union. As one country built more nuclear weapons, the other built to match them. We hit a peak and then began to decommission them, including with a very successful program to help retire them after the breakup of the Soviet Union. We were in a de-escalatory cycle with the end goal of zero weapons worldwide, as we had agreed to in the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, which states, 'Each of the Parties to the Treaty undertakes to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures relating to cessation of the nuclear arms race at an early date and to nuclear disarmament, and on a treaty on general and complete disarmament.' And then it stopped. We have not had a successful reduction in the number of nuclear weapons since the Putin regime came to power and the number of nuclear weapons is largely static at this point.

"How are we to move forward to the goal we all want – a world with no nuclear weapons? Right now, we have a nuclear weapons program that has a number of older, more dangerous weapons that are no longer reliable. The goal of our nuclear modernization program is to create an arsenal that will be safer and more reliable and, hopefully, smaller because of it. By achieving safety and reliability, we can reduce the number of nuclear weapons necessary to counter the threats we see. When we can reduce our number, we are in a better position to ask others to reduce theirs. So, while I appreciate the efforts of the proponents to achieve the goal of zero nuclear weapons, I can't agree with the path they suggest to get there. I will be a no vote today."

Tuesday, June 25, 2019 -- Afternoon Session

House reconvened at 2:00 p.m. Speaker Pro Tempore in Chair.

Upon verification of quorum: All present except: Absent, 4 – Keny-Guyer, Smith DB, Wallan, Zika; Excused, 2 – Clem, Evans.

Having recessed under the order of business Third Reading of House Bills, the House continued under that order of business.

HB 2007 (B-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Power.

Boshart Davis declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“Just last year I became part owner of my family's trucking company. While my business is not located within the tri-counties and directly regulated, House Bill 2007 directly regulates diesel engines that my business uses.”

HB 2007 (B-Engrossed) – On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 44; Nays, 15 – Barreto, Boles, Bonham, Drazan, Hayden, Lewis, Nearman, Noble, Post, Reschke, Smith G, Sprenger, Stark, Wilson, Zika; Excused, 1 – Clem. Bill passed.

McKeown requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“House Bill 2007 is the result of a long and collaborative process between transportation stakeholders and the environmental community. The bi-partisan work by Representatives Power and Boshart-Davis should be commended and resulted in a well-balanced piece of legislation that I am happy to support.

“I particularly appreciate that HB 2007 restricts its impact to the tri-county metro area - where the highest levels of pollution are occurring - and that the bill exempts all farm trucks, log trucks, and small fleets.

“HB 2007 creates an incentive-based program that focuses the investment of Volkswagen Settlement dollars exclusively in the metro area to assist truckers in upgrading their aging diesel fleets. These upgrades are an important step in the transition toward lowering transportation emissions and accomplishes the objective without significant negative impacts to our economy and the industry that moves it. The combination of direct investments and deadlines in House Bill 2007 reflects an appropriately measured and targeted approach.

“Because this bill's impact is limited exclusively to the metro area, it does not impact log trucks, and it does not impact the south coast or rural Oregon, I was a yes vote.”

HB 2007 (B-Engrossed) – Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Originally, I was concerned about how this bill would impact our rural communities and governments. For example, there are counties in my district on the North Coast that conduct government road maintenance and other work using a fleet of vehicles largely run on diesel. County officials indicated to me that they do not have the resources to convert their fleet within the timelines laid out in the bill, and I absolutely believe that to be the case for most of our rural communities. We also have a significant timber industry in my district, which relies on diesel log trucks. The impacts to jobs that would potentially have occurred because of this bill was a primary concern for me.

“I took these concerns to the primary sponsors of the bill and advocated for changes alongside my constituents. Ultimately, there was broad, bipartisan agreement that this bill would be particularly cumbersome to our rural areas. Changes were made, and the bill will not impact businesses in our communities, nor does it require retooling of trucks or other vehicles on the North Coast. Additionally, changes included exemptions to log trucks. The only trucks and vehicles it will impact are those registered in Multnomah, Clackamas, and Washington Counties.

“As a result, I feel comfortable joining Republicans and Democrats in taking this initial step to start reducing pollution from diesel engines. I understand that in the future, rural communities will also need to work towards similar changes but believe that our rural truckers are already working towards this end as existing trucks naturally age out of use. As the primary cause of carbon pollution in Oregon is in the metro area, I appreciate that this bill brings attention to that works towards the goal of just transition by exempting rural areas.

“I also supported the bill because it directs the Department of Environmental Quality to use the Volkswagen Settlement to provide grants that will provide much needed financial assistance to those who need it in achieving the goals of reducing pollution from diesel engines.”

SB 770 Ways and Means

By unanimous consent, on request of Speaker, rules suspended to temporarily advance to the order of business Third Reading of House Bills.

HB 5050 (A-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Rayfield.

Smith G declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“Madam Speaker and colleagues, for the last 22 years I have been a member of a limited liability company that does economic and business development work in Eastern Oregon therefore I may have a potential conflict of interest on this bill.”

Hayden declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“Chief Clerk and colleagues, I have a potential conflict of interest on HB 5050 because I am an owner of an LLC that has had and may have contract services for the Oregon Department of Forestry and Oregon Department of Fish and wildlife including air services and ground wildfire suppression.”

HB 5050 (A-Engrossed) – On passage of the bill the vote was: Yeas, 51; Nays, 4 – Helm, Nearman, Post, Reschke; Excused, 4 – Clem, Noble, Sprenger, Wallan. Bill passed.

Keny-Guyer requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted AYE on HB 5050 due to the many excellent initiatives in it, including:

- Funding and increased bonding capacity for affordable housing, like LIFT, Permanent Supportive Housing and Housing Stabilization Program (although I voted NO on HB 3050 since I believe we should provide more than $25 million in lottery fund bonding for preservation, given we are leaving $30 mil lottery bonding capacity on the table)
- $2 mil for Hacienda CDC ‘Las Adelinas’ Housing Project
- $300K to Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon runaway youth
- $1.5 mil mental and behavioral health pilot project
- $6 mil for community mental health programs
- $43 mil for the One Integrated Eligibility and Medicaid eligibility

“HOWEVER, there are many items in this bill that I believe do NOT serve the public good as much as HB 3180,

SB 745, and HB 2258, which our House Committee on Human Services and Housing advocated strongly for. Some of those questionable allocations include:

- $5.4 mil Oregon State Fair (OSF, which was privatized in part to reduce state funding dependency) + $3 mil for OSF Horse Barn + $2 mil for OSF Poultry Barn
- $.5 mil Oregon Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association
- $15 mil to Eugene YMCA
- $5 mil Columbia Willamette Beaverton Hoop YMCA

“I do not believe that these expenditures provide as much ‘public good’ as HB 3180, SB 745, and HB 2258, which address Oregon’s public health crisis in child abuse, child welfare, and addictions.

“HB 3180, Child Abuse Omnibus bill

“HB 3180 ranked the highest of all bills with fiscals scored by the House Committee on Human Services and Housing; was among the top priority funding requests for all legislators who signed a support letter; and was my top personal bill request.

“HB 3180 is the combination of HB 3178 ($6 million for Child Abuse Intervention Centers), HB 3179 ($1 million for Oregon Child Abuse Prevalence Study), and HB 3180 ($100K for Implementation of Erin’s Law), totaling $7.1 million/biennium.

“This trio of bills emerged from a bipartisan, bicameral workgroup which met monthly from July 2018 through January 2019 to examine the gaps in our child abuse system. We examined the many good bills being developed last summer and fall, such as the behavioral health components of the Student Success bill, new requirements for TSPC, and violence prevention. The concepts developed by our workgroup would fill remaining gaps.

“We sent Ways & Means 173 letters (just a portion of the over 200 letters sent directly to people’s individual legislators) in support of $7.1 million from the Criminal Fines Account (CFA) or General Fund. This investment would save heartache and millions of dollars in future decades by reducing mental health and addictions, lost productivity, and the myriad of consequences that result from childhood trauma.

“SB 745, Independent Living Program for older foster youth

“SB 745 would have expanded the age of foster youth aging or nearly aging out of foster care and would have provided more monthly cash assistance, housing assistance, and other support services as they enter adulthood without parental support. As in the 4 past biennia, this was the top priority of foster youth who gathered for a multi-day workshop held a few months before the long session. In all past years, their bills have passed with unanimous or near unanimous support. This is the first year their bill failed. Many of my committee members agreed that not only are these investments so important for this population, but that we should listen to what they say they most need. The foster youth reduced their request from $8.4 million to $4 million, but it still failed.

“HB 2258, Family Dependency Treatment Court

“Human Services and Housing Vice Chair Sanchez has been passionate about stemming the flow of kids into foster care by providing more treatment for behavioral health and addictions. This bill, requiring nearly $15 million in General Fund, would have set up pilots in certain counties to end parents to treatment as opposed to jail, where their kids are removed from them and placed in foster care.

“I also supported HB 3300 Family Preservation Project, HB 2570 CASA expansion, HB 2802 Home Ownership Repair, HB 2228 Local Government capacity building for housing, and other bills that support our most vulnerable populations. Because our funding is limited and will never meet all the needs, we need to prioritize the funding for the causes that most need public support and that will most provide a humane and economic return on investment.”

HB 5050 (A-Engrossed) – Sanchez requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“I voted AYE on HB 5050 due to the many excellent initiatives in it, including:

- Funding and increased bonding capacity for affordable housing, like LIFT, Permanent Supportive Housing and Housing Stabilization Program
- $2 mil for Hacienda CDC ‘Las Adelinas’ Housing Project
- $300K to Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon runaway youth
- $1.5 mil to a mental and behavioral health pilot project
- $6 mil for community mental health programs
- $43 mil for the One Integrated Eligibility and Medicaid eligibility

“HOWEVER, there are many items in this bill that I believe do NOT serve the public good as much as HB 3180, HB 2627, HB 2639, SB 745, and HB 2258 would have. Our House Committee on Human Services and Housing advocated strongly for these bills and are left to question how funding $5.4 mil for the Oregon State Fair (OSF, which was privatized in part to reduce state funding dependency) + $3 mil for OSF Horse Barn + $2 mil for OSF Poultry Barn, are in the best interests of the State. Not to mention $.5 mil to the Oregon Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association, $15 mil to Eugene YMCA, and $5 mil Columbia Willamette Beaverton Hoop YMCA.

“I struggle to believe that these expenditures provide as much ‘public good’ as HB 3180, SB 745, HB 2627, HB 2639 and HB 2258, which addressed Oregon’s public health crisis in child abuse, child welfare, and addictions, respectively.

“HB 3180 – Child Abuse Omnibus bill

“HB 3180 ranked the highest of all bills with fiscals scored by the House Committee on Human Services and Housing; HB 3180 is the combination of HB 3178 ($6 million for Child Abuse Intervention Centers), HB 3179 ($1 million for Oregon Child Abuse Prevalence Study), and HB 3180 ($100K for Implementation of Erin’s Law), totaling $7.1 million/biennium.

“This trio of bills emerged from a bipartisan, bicameral workgroup which met monthly from July 2018 through January 2019 to examine the gaps in our child abuse system. We examined the many good bills being developed last summer and fall, such as the behavioral health components of the Student Success bill, new requirements for TSPC, and violence prevention. The concepts developed by our workgroup would fill remaining gaps.

“We sent Ways & Means 173 letters (just a portion of the over 200 letters sent directly to people’s individual legislators) in support of $7.1 million from the Criminal Fines Account (CFA) or

General Fund. This investment would save heartache and millions of dollars in future decades by reducing mental health and addictions, lost productivity, and the myriad of consequences that result from childhood trauma.

“SB 745 – Independent Living Program for older foster youth

“SB 745 would have expanded the age range of foster youth from the current 16-21 to 14-23 and would have provided more monthly cash assistance, housing assistance, and other support services as they enter adulthood without parental support. As in the 4 past biennia, this was the top priority of foster youth who gathered for a multi-day workshop held in the summer before the long session. In all past years, their bills have passed with unanimous or near unanimous support. This is the first year their bill failed. Many of my committee members agreed that not only are these investments so important for this population, but that we should listen to what they say they most need. The foster youth reduced their request from $8.4 million to $4 million sacrificing the supports for the older youth to extend service to youth starting at age 14. The older foster youth and those already aged out recognized for themselves that they would have been better served if they had the support of ILP services when they were younger rather than older, but it still failed.

“HB 2627 – Rural Alcohol and Drug Recovery Centers

“HB 2627 would require OHA to fund and site Alcohol and Drug Recovery Centers in rural parts of the state to support Oregonians in early recovery. Our foster care system is struggling under the weight of overwhelming caseloads. Case workers cannot be hired or trained fast enough to replace those who are leaving due to unmanageable workloads. We must work to stem the tide of entry in to the foster care system. The Department of Human Services is clear that the majority of children in the system are there because of addictions. If we do not support families to recover from addictions particularly in the rural areas where resources are the most limited, we will never reduce the numbers of children in our system.

“Every child who enters the child welfare system is traumatized not only by what they have experienced, but by the state’s intervention. We must work harder to keep children in their homes by supporting parents to access recovery resources.

“HB 2639 – Women Infant and Children (WIC) 2K

“HB 2639 would have continued the Federal WIC food supplemental program to young Oregonians through age 5 or until they enter kindergarten. Currently the federal WIC program stops at age 5. If a child turns 5 after the cut off age to enter kindergarten in September, they no longer have access to additional nutrition services until they enter kindergarten the following year. We know that good nutrition is a building block to a good education, leaving some children upwards of a year without those additional resources can be detrimental to their capacity to enter school ready to learn and thrive.

“HB 2258 – Family Dependency Treatment Court

“As mentioned before, with regard to HB 2627, I believe it is crucial that we stem the flow of kids into foster care by providing more treatment for behavioral health and addictions. This bill, requiring nearly $15 million in General Fund, would have set up pilots in certain counties to send parents to treatment as opposed to jail. Very often when a parent goes to jail their kids are removed from them and placed in foster care. Treatment and recovery supports are vital to reducing the numbers of children in foster care.”

HB 2377 (B-Engrossed) – Read third time. Carried by Rayfield.

McLane declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“In just a couple of weeks I will become a circuit court judge. Part of this bill is raising the salaries of circuit court judges, so I want to announce the potential of a conflict of interest.”

Schouten declared a potential conflict of interest and submitted the following statement:

“I would like to declare a potential conflict of interest regarding HB 2377B, which increases the salaries of Circuit Court Judges in the state of Oregon. My husband, Washington County Commissioner Dick Schouten's salary, pursuant to the Washington County Charter, is linked to the salaries of Circuit Court judges serving in Washington County, and therefore my husband's salary will be increased should HB 2377B be enrolled.”

Bill passed.

Mitchell requested the following explanation of her vote be entered in the Journal:

“Before becoming a state legislator, I participated in an Indivisible group in my local community—and more specifically, a ‘sub-team’ called ‘Vote the Future.’ The purpose of this group was to increase the enfranchisement of all voters to participate in our democratic process. I helped spearhead an effort in Clatsop County to reinstate the printing of a voter pamphlet in odd-year elections, and voted as a legislator on SB 861 to have postage-paid envelopes for Oregon's mail-in ballot system.

“As SB 761A has been interpreted by some to be a form of voter suppression, this bill was initially very concerning to me. It goes without saying that I want to make it easier to participate in our process. Not harder. That said, after reviewing the bill and the arguments both for and against, I believe that the calls of voter suppression is a misinterpretation. To the contrary, I believe this bill will ultimately help to reduce fraud within our system and have no material impact one way or another on voter accessibility to participate in the process.

“HB 2082 in 2007 strengthened the procedures to be followed when traditional, multiple-signature petition sheets are signed by voters to qualify measures for the ballot. Part of that strength came from requiring circulators of multiple-signature petition sheets to adhere to requirements like circulators registering with the state and receiving training if they are paid for efforts to collect signatures. Part of those requirements also required that circulators sign the bottom of each multiple-signature petition sheet before submitting—which essentially serves as verification that requirements were followed. Some of those rules include ensuring that the circulator made the text of the measure available to signers, and that they personally witnessed each signature.

“HB 2082 also established the e-sheet process, which would allow supporters of an initiative petition to download a single-signer petition, sign it themselves, and submit. This 2007 change made participating in our initiative process much easier for voters—particularly for those who wouldn't ordinarily be canvassed for a signature, such as those who are homebound or live in rural areas. The e-sheet process is incredibly important to increasing accessibility for these voters.

“Unfortunately, HB 2082 also created an unintended loophole. Whereas there are incredibly high standards for petition circulation, there is reason to believe that the intention of this process has or could be circumvented to serve less-than-honorable aims that potentially compromise the integrity of our initiative process. The purpose of the e-sheet process is for single filers to be able to print an e-sheet, sign it, and submit it themselves. Due to the lack of oversight, however—including formal complaints regarding the circulation of petitions with a mention of e-sheets—there are multiple anecdotal instances of this process being abused. Instances I have heard myself include experiences where e-sheets are simply placed on the counters of farmers markets or small businesses, or distributed at events—effectively creating passive signature-gathering opportunities that go beyond what I believe the legislative intent of HB 2082 ever was. The text of the initiative often does not accompany e-sheets used in this fashion, and so those signing the e-sheets may not even know what they are signing beyond what someone tells them. In comparison to our petition process—which I broadly support—it appears our current e-sheet process does merit some legitimate need for reevaluation. Clearer rules are needed.

“SB 761 does not eliminate the ability of voters to participate in the process. Single individuals can still print an e-sheet for themselves, sign it, and send it into the elections officer. It retains and changes nothing about our multiple-signature petition process. The conflation of these two separate processes has been at the root of the misunderstanding around this bill. The only thing SB 761 does is aligns, to the extent that it can be, standards for e-sheets to mirror the high standards that the multiple-signature petition process requires. Whereas a petition circulator must attach the text of an initiative to a petition, witness signatures, and attest to the validity of the signatures—the new e-sheet process under SB 761 simply adds a similar level of accountability to single voters by asking them to not only sign the e-sheet, but to also sign a document attesting that they have reviewed the text of the petition.

“I want as many voters as possible to participate in our processes. I do not want those with potentially nefarious intentions to take advantage of Oregonians' willingness and eagerness to participate in the democratic process. There are already a number of potential ways to exploit a process that is essentially tied to an honor system—SB 761 merely tightens up requirements that keeps the process accessible, but at the same time, ensures more accountability and the integrity of our system.”
