In 2001, the Oregon State Legislature passed Senate Bill 770, Section I through Section IV, requiring state agencies within the State of Oregon to report to the Governor activities pertaining to the relationship between the State Government and Tribal Governments. The following constitutes that report from the Department of State Police.

Attached with this report is a copy of Chapter 500.11 of the Oregon State Police Policies Rules and Procedures Manual titled, State-Tribal Government-to-Government Relations. This policy set out to formalize the government-to-government relationship that exists between Oregon Indian tribes and the Oregon State Police. The policy also establishes a process to assist in the resolution of potential conflicts, maximizes key inter-governmental relations, and enhances an exchange of ideas and resources for the greater good of all of Oregon's citizens, whether tribal members or not.

The above-referenced policy identifies 'key' contacts within the Department by position and provides an additional key contact list that contains names and telephone numbers of these individuals.

The following is a summary of the various interactions between Tribal Governments and the representatives of the Oregon State Police.

Tribal Gaming Section

The Tribal Gaming Section has regular daily interactions with all gaming tribes in Oregon. Personnel also actively participate in monthly Oregon Association of Indian Gaming Commissions (OAIGC) meetings. Due to the nature of the Section's mission, they have had numerous occasions to increase their awareness of the cultures, beliefs, and governmental systems of Oregon's Native American Tribes. Some of those opportunities are listed below:

Fish and Wildlife Division

The role of the Fish and Wildlife Division in relation to the Tribal Governments is to investigate violations of Native American archaeological laws and coordinate with State and Federal prosecutors and magistrates to bring defendants of archaeological crimes to justice, provide a staff trained on the Endangered Species Act and Tribal treaty rights, Tribal sovereignty issues, and a foundational knowledge of Tribal sovereignty. This division must also coordinate with Tribal Representatives, the Oregon Fish and Wildlife Commission, and the Oregon State Legislature on issues relating to Fish and Wildlife and coordinate with the Columbia River Treaty Tribes on enforcement issues related to the Columbia River.

During 2010, members of the Fish and Wildlife Division attended two meetings with the Fish and Wildlife Committee of the Confederated Tribes of the Grand Ronde.

Lieutenant Randy Scorby participates as a voting member of the Lower Deschutes River Managers Group, which oversees management of the lower 100 miles of the Deschutes River scenic waterway. Other voting members include members of the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Indian Reservation, Bureau of Land Management, Oregon Parks and Recreation Department, Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife, Oregon State Marine Board, and representatives from the local governments.

Successful implementation of the Lower Deschutes River Management Plan requires coordination and cooperation between all of the managing agencies. Senior Trooper Chuck Lindberg also participates as a member of the Lower Deschutes River Working Group, which provides recommendations to the managers' group for approval.

Lieutenant Scorby and Sergeant Katzenstein participate in the Columbia River Law Enforcement Council, which is comprised of natural resource enforcement agencies from Washington, Oregon, Montana, and Idaho as well as the four Columbia River treaty tribes (Warm Springs, Umatilla, Yakama and Nez Perce), Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fisheries Enforcement, NOAA Fisheries, and the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service. This group meets quarterly to discuss enforcement concerns on the Columbia River and tributaries, and to plan and implement action plans on high priority issues. The group is currently undertaking the task of trying to make the various laws between all entities more consistent.

Oregon State Police Command Areas

Oregon State Police Divisions throughout the State of Oregon have regular contact with the Tribal Governments to assist in enforcement roles. The fishery protection efforts along the Columbia River are a constantly maintained relationship. In addition, the command areas offer patrol assistance to the tribes with crash investigation, traffic safety, criminal investigations, and marijuana eradication. The members of these command areas offer assistance with major crimes, the service of warrants, and archeological-based crimes.

East Region:

The Burns-Paiute Tribe, the Confederated Tribes of Umatilla, and the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs are within the East Region Command area.

The Oregon State Police Madras Worksite, in cooperation with the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, Madras Police Department, Warm Springs Police Department, and the Jefferson County District Attorney's Office work cooperatively together to respond to emergency calls for service. Meetings are held throughout the year with the involved agencies to enhance communication and partnerships.

Throughout 2010, the members of the Madras Worksite have dedicated a significant amount of patrol time to enforcing state laws on the highways that cross the Warm Springs Reservation.

Members from the OSP Bend Area Command assisted in the investigation of a shooting incident that involved both the Madras and the Warm Springs Police Departments. OSP Patrol, Fish and Wildlife, and SWAT assisted in the attempted apprehension of the suspects immediately following the incident and subsequent manhunt. The suspects crashed into a patrol vehicle driven by a Warm Springs police officer, causing serious injuries to him and four fatalities in the vehicle.

OSP assisted in the reconstruction of several fatal motor vehicle crashes that occurred on the Warm Springs Reservation, at the request of the Warm Springs Police Department and the FBI.

Additionally, OSP helped provide assistance for the Traveling Wall Memorial/Tribute to Heroes, coordinating with the Warm Springs PD for a two and a half hour stop-over at the Warm Springs Reservation.

The OSP Pendleton Area Command is part of a Major Crime Team Agreement between the Umatilla Tribal Police Department, Umatilla County Sheriff's Office and the Oregon State Police. This agreement is separate from the Major Crime Team Agreement with all other law enforcement agencies in Umatilla and Morrow Counties. The development of this agreement was established due to the unique jurisdictional issues that occur involving felony crimes on Tribal lands with both Tribal and non-Tribal members.

The OSP Pendleton Area Command is part of a policy and procedures agreement with the CTUIR that defines the working relationships between the CTUIR and the Oregon State Police with regards to Native American Ancestral Remains which are discovered either intentionally or accidentally. The policy and procedure, revised in 1994, offers a basic definition of the cooperative working relationship between the Department and the CTUIR when remains are located off the reservation. This resolution was established within the mandates of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act.

OSP and the CTUIR have developed a Deputization Agreement for sworn Department personnel to become deputized by the CTUIR Tribal Police in order to have authority on Tribal lands. OSP and the Umatilla Tribal Police Department are also part of the Intergovernmental Agreement for Mutual Aid and Interagency Cooperation among Law Enforcement Agencies located in Umatilla County.

The CTUIR, the Governor's Office, Department of Justice, the Union County District Attorney's Office, and OSP have developed and signed an updated Fresh Pursuit Agreement. In this agreement, the definition of fresh pursuit language is included and the Extradition Agreement from 1981 was determined to remain in effect.

The Umatilla Tribal Police Department and OSP continue to be part of the Umatilla/Morrow County Cooperative Policing Agreement and continue to participate in the Umatilla/Morrow County Law Enforcement Administrator's meetings.

The OSP Pendleton Area Command assists the Umatilla Tribal Police Department by providing Drug Recognition Experts (DRE) and Crash Reconstruction Experts whenever needed. The Umatilla Tribal Police and OSP are members of the Blue Mountain Enforcement Narcotics Team (BENT) Board of Directors and usually meet on a monthly basis. Throughout the year, officers of the Umatilla Tribal Police Department have assisted Troopers with crash investigations on Interstate 84.

September 2010

Umatilla Tribal Police Chief Tim Addleman and their Public Safety Director, Ray Denny, met with local law enforcement to finalize the policing plan for the Pendleton Round-Up.

Southwest Region:

There are two recognized Oregon Indian Tribes in the Coos Bay Area. They are the Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Tribes and the Coquille Tribe, with the majority of the contacts being with the Coquille Tribe.

The OSP Coos Bay Area Command and the Coquille Tribal Police provide reciprocal assistance during times when backup is needed. During emergencies, OSP Troopers respond to the Tribal housing area until one of the Tribal officers can arrive.

The Coquille Tribe has timber holdings on Hwy. 42, east of Myrtle Point. OSP Fish and Wildlife Troopers have responded to this location at the request of Coquille Tribal Police to investigate Fish and Wildlife crimes.

The Coquille Tribal Police Chief has offered their office building to the OSP Troopers for their use. This office is near Charleston in a high activity area and is used as a place for officers to do reports or take a break.

The opportunity to train with OSP has been extended to the Coquille Tribal Police members. Tribal Officers have participated in this training.

A Detective from the Coos Bay Area Command serves on an interagency Major Crime Response Team and attends investigator meetings with Tribal Police officers, sharing information that may be pertinent to ongoing criminal investigations.

Coos Bay Area Command Lieutenant Steve Smartt attends Local Area Chief's, that include the Coquille Tribal Police Chief and other Chiefs of the local jurisdictions.

Law Enforcement Data System Division

The Law Enforcement Data System Division conducted Law Enforcement Data System audits in cooperation with the nine recognized Tribes within the State of Oregon. This audit not only encourages compliance in the use of the Law Enforcement Data System, but also instructs the users of the Law Enforcement Data System on proper use and protocol of this system.

LEDS supports the following tribes for access to services:

Burns Paiute Tribal Police
Klamath Tribes Regulatory Gaming Commission
Coquille Tribal Police
Confederated Tribes of the Coos, Lower Umpqua
Grande Ronde Tribal Gaming Commission
Columbia River Intertribal Fisheries Enforcement
Siletz Tribal Gaming Commission
Umatilla Tribal Police
Warm Springs Tribal Police
Warm Springs Tribal Court

Warm Springs Indian Gaming Commission
Warm Springs Bureau of Indian Affairs
Cow Creek Gaming Commission

Identification Services Section

The Identification Services Section is divided into four functional Units. Three of these Units have had intermittent contacts with the tribes in the last year. In general, ID Services provides fingerprint based services to the Tribal Gaming Commissions and Tribal Police agencies. Contacts with them are intermittent and generally deal with problem or error resolution, or answering questions they may have.

Regulatory Unit:

The Regulatory Unit processes fingerprint based background checks for employment purposes. Many of these background checks are being submitted electronically through a livescan device. During the past year, the Unit has had limited direct contact with the Tribal Gaming Commissions. Typical contact would be returning rejected fingerprints and calling the livescan operators with questions or errors. This contact would be on an as-needed basis.

In May 2010, a joint ID Services and Tribal Gaming Unit letter was sent to each of the Commissions explaining the process for direct submit fingerprint transmissions and the information needed to send the card correctly. Follow up calls are ongoing as ID Services moves forward with the Direct Submit process.

Livescan Coordinator:

The Livescan Coordinator assists agencies who are transitioning from the submission of inked fingerprints to an electronic fingerprint submission via a livescan device. These intermittent contacts include both Tribal Gaming Commissions and Tribal Police agencies. The Livescan Coordinator also acts to assist any agency, including the tribes, in helping to resolve issues with livescan vendors, as well as assisting with issues involving submissions of fingerprint transactions. These contacts are on an as needed basis.

There are intermittent contacts throughout the year to send out updated tables used on both the livescans and records management systems. These contacts are made quarterly. There are also twice annual contacts made to update contact information, as well as intermittent notifications of system down times.

Computerized Criminal History Unit:

The CCH Unit is responsible for ensuring that information received on a criminal arrest card or CJIS Security applicant card is correct. The information on these cards is used to populate the criminal history files in both LEDS and NCIC. The CCH Unit has as-needed contacts with both Tribal Police agencies and Tribal Gaming Commissions to correct any errors that are seen.

Automated Fingerprint Identification System Unit:

The AFIS Unit receives incoming fingerprint cards and is responsible for determining, through fingerprint identification, whether the subject has a prior Oregon Criminal History record. The AFIS Unit has as-needed contacts with both the Tribal Gaming Commissions and Tribal Police agencies when errors are noted on the incoming cards, or when the Tribal agency is having difficulty transmitting a card to ID Services.

State Medical Examiners Office

In 2010, the State Medical Examiners Office completed a survey of all the county medical examiner's offices and sheriff's offices that respond to gather skeletal Indian remains, with the goal of repatriating to the proper tribes. If it is unknown where the remains came from, the State Medical Examiner's Office will work with the Tribes to find a suitable final resting place on park or Tribal lands. Dr. Veronica Vance, forensic anthropologist and forensic scientist from the Portland Forensic Lab, is assisting with this project.

POLICY

There are nine federally recognized Indian tribal governments located in the State of Oregon. These Indian tribes have a unique legal status as sovereign governments. The importance of recognizing the relationship that exists between the tribes and State government agencies cannot be underestimated. As sovereigns, the tribes and the State must work together to develop mutual respect and trust for the sovereign interests of both parties.

The purpose of this policy is to formalize the government-to-government relationship that exists between Oregon Indian tribes and the State and to establish a process which can assist in resolving potential conflicts, maximize key inter-governmental relations and enhance an exchange of ideas and resources for the greater good of all of Oregon's citizens, whether tribal members or not.

The State recognizes the sovereign status of Oregon Indian tribes and in furtherance of this, the Department of State Police establishes the following policy statement which:

1. Recognizes Oregon Indian tribal governments are interested in development of State policy that affects tribal interests and recognizes the desirability of dialogue between tribal governments, the federal government as trustee, where appropriate, and the State, with regard to those State policies;
2. Identifies key personnel of the Department as "key contacts" responsible for coordination with tribal governments;
3. Establishes a process for the identification of those Department policies by designated tribal representatives and key contacts;
4. Promotes dialogue between the Department and tribal governments on those state policies; and
5. That advances the government-to-government relationship by notifying Department members of Executive Order #96-30.

The Department of State Police will work cooperatively with other State agencies to accomplish the goals of Executive Order #96-30.

This policy is not intended to create a forum for resolution of all issues between the tribes and the Department, nor is it meant to replace presently existing lines of communications.
