Speaker Fahey Releases Statement on Steady June Revenue Forecast

SALEM, Ore. – Today, Oregon House Speaker Julie Fahey issued the following statement on the June Revenue Forecast released this morning by the Oregon Office of Economic Analysis:

“The revenue forecast issued today indicates that, statewide, Oregon’s economy is stable and growing. Our state will have the funding we need to continue paying for the critical ongoing programs that Oregonians rely on, thanks to prudent budgeting and strong leadership. It’s also encouraging to see steady productivity and solid labor market gains, as well as job growth in the semiconductor industry, both in the near- and long-term, due to jobs-boosting bills like the CHIPS Act,” said Speaker Julie Fahey (D-West Eugene & Veneta).

“In recent sessions we’ve made key investments in housing and wrap-around services, childcare and early learning, mental health care and addiction treatment, and job creation opportunities. Our work this interim leading up to the 2025 session must be focused on protecting programs that working families depend on – making sure they’re implemented well, demonstrate success, and are sustainable into the future.”
