Rep. Annessa Hartman Secures Over $55 Million for Infrastructure and Support Services in Clackamas County

SALEM, Ore.— Representative Annessa Hartman (D-Gladstone and Oregon City) delivered results for the people of Oregon City, Gladstone, and unincorporated North Clackamas County during her second session in office, securing over $55 million for projects in the district.

“My constituents have been clear. Our community needs urgent investments for these interconnected issues: get all Oregonians into shelter and homes, help Oregonians suffering from addiction or mental health crises recover, and make sure every working family has what they need to thrive,” said Representative Annessa Hartman (D-Oregon City and Gladstone). “These projects make Clackamas County stronger, healthier, and more connected. It’s a privilege to serve and see the tangible benefits of our collaborative efforts come to life.”

- Preventing and decreasing homelessness in Clackamas County with
 - $2 million for the construction of the Oregon City Resource Center, which will centralize the County’s homeless services and offer shelter, behavioral health services, showers, job training, and pathways to permanent housing.
 - $720,000 for Free on the Outside, Inc. to purchase a re-entry home in Clackamas County to support people leaving jail or prison, and other destabilizing situations.
- Getting more people into treatment
 - $4 million to construct a crisis stabilization center in Clackamas County.
 - $4 million to Parrott Creek Child and Family Services for the construction of a youth residential treatment campus, creating 40 new beds.
 - $1.5 million to Bridges to Change for housing and operational support to help participants on their recovery journeys through community-based housing, peer-delivered services, and behavioral health treatment.
 - $20.7 million for Clackamas County law enforcement to set up a deferment program and build partnerships with behavioral healthcare providers so people struggling with addiction can connect to recovery services.
- Protecting families from future water rate increases with $3 million to the Oak Lodge Water Services Authority for wastewater treatment facility upgrades.
- $15 million to Clackamas County for the construction of the new Clackamas County Courthouse on the Red Soils campus in Oregon City.

Representative Hartman also supported key efforts to help victims of domestic and sexual violence, protect Oregon family farms, and address the water needs of Oregon’s most vulnerable communities.
