

2022 Update to 2021 Oregon Revised Statutes

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING 2022 OREGON LAWS

Use the 2021 second special session and 2022 Oregon Laws with Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition). Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition) does not include new statutes or amendments to statutes enacted by the 2021 second special session and 2022 regular session of the Legislative Assembly. Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition) also does not reflect the repeal of existing statutes by the 2022 regular session. Changes to statutes by the 2021 second special session and 2022 regular session will be reflected in the 2023 Edition of Oregon Revised Statutes.

Because the Acts of the 2021 second special session and the 2022 regular session are not incorporated into Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition), you will need to use the 2021 Edition and the 2021 second special session and 2022 Oregon Laws to determine the current state of the law. The table of ORS Sections Amended, Repealed or “Added To” shows you which statutes published in Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition) are affected by Acts of the 2022 regular session. When working with a statute, use this table to determine whether that statute is affected by 2022 Oregon Laws. If the table indicates that the statute is affected, refer to the chapter of 2022 Oregon Laws that is cited and then find the section or sections listed as affecting that statute. Remember that a statute may be affected by one or more sections of a single session law chapter and that a statute also may be affected by one or more sections of other session law chapters.

Use the 2021 second special session and 2022 Oregon Laws with uncodified laws from prior legislative sessions. The tables of Sections in Uncodified Law Amended, Repealed or “Added To” show you which sections of uncodified law from prior legislative sessions are affected by Acts of the 2021 second special session and the 2022 regular session. When working with a section of uncodified law, use these tables to determine whether that section is affected by one or more sections of session law. Remember that a section of uncodified law may be affected by one or more sections of a single session law chapter and that a section of uncodified law also may be affected by one or more sections of other session law chapters.

Note that some uncodified laws from prior legislative sessions are printed as notes in Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition). To determine whether a section of uncodified law is printed as a note in ORS, see the Comparative Section Tables in volume 22 of Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition).

Use the 2022 Oregon Laws Index to identify by subject new sections and changes to existing sections.

Each chapter of Oregon Revised Statutes (2021 Edition) posted on the legislative website that is affected by an Act of the 2021 second special session or the 2022 regular session contains a notice (below the chapter number) describing how the chapter is affected and, for new sections, linking to any applicable 2021 second special session or 2022 Oregon Laws chapter.
