

SB 217 moves “board” authority from the HECC to what seems an appropriate agency in the name of public health. The same public health system that has failed miserably since March 13, 2020. A better shift would be government deregulation. A better move would be to reduce the authority of the Health Licensing Office. It is very likely these so called ‘public health’ agencies will not be held accountable until a new generation of prosecutors comes of age in 10-15 years. History will not treat them well.
