Oregon Coast Economic Summit

THE VOICES OF COASTAL AND RURAL OREGONIANS: BUILDING ON COLLABORATIVE PATHWAYS TO ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND PROSPERITY

Welcome to the 5th Annual Oregon Coast Economic Summit (OCES)!

As an active participant in Oregon's Rural-Coast Economic Development, the Oregon Coastal Caucus is pleased to extend a personal "thank you" to all our speakers, sponsors, attendees and Taste of the Oregon Coast presenters for taking the time from their busy schedules to visit us on the Oregon Coast. We greatly appreciate your support in helping us develop a collaborative pathway to address issues common to rural-coastal communities.

Special thanks to this year's primary partners: the Coquille Indian Tribe and The Mill Casino, Oregon State University, University of Oregon, Business Oregon, Oregon Department of Transportation and Association of Oregon Counties.

We hope that you will find this to be a memorable two-day event packed with informative panels to address our coastal and rural economic development needs. This year's theme, The Voices of Coastal and Rural Oregonians: Building on Collaborative Pathways to Economic Development and Prosperity, is aimed at continuing and enhancing previously established collaborations – across sectors and disciplines – in support of regional economic development solutions, particularly as we prepare for the 2017 Legislative Session.

OCES again will feature informative panel discussions on a wide range of topics that recognize the unique economic diversity of our coastal and rural communities. In addition to our focus on economic diversification, infrastructure needs, management of natural resource industries, healthcare, housing and Oregon land use goals, we will feature a unique collaboration with representatives from the Oregon Business Plan Summit for a broader engagement in the promotion of regional economic development.

Therefore, our community's successful economic development is dependent in good part on your attendance, involvement and participation at this year's Summit. You have a vital role to play in sustaining and contributing to the very constructive discussions, dialogues and developments that have become a hallmark of the OCES.

We are grateful for your attendance, support and continued interest in helping us to address the challenges and chart the future of a more economically diverse and robust Oregon Coast.

United States Senator, Ron Wyden

Oregonians in every part of the state know Ron as a senator who always listens. Since his election to the Senate in 1996 he has thrown open the doors of government for Oregonians by holding open-to-all town hall meetings in every one of Oregon's 36 counties each year. Thus far, he has held more than 780 meetings throughout the state.

Although Senator Wyden's home is in Portland; he takes pride in saying that he is "not the senator from the state of Portland, but the senator from the entire state of Oregon." And all of us up and down the Coast know that's the case, as he has fought along with us to keep our Coast Guard station in Newport, to help our coastal fisheries and to grow our recreation and tourism sectors.

Senator Wyden came to Oregon more than four decades ago – after earning his bachelor's degree from Stanford – to attend the University of Oregon School of Law. He earned his law degree from the U of O in 1974 and went on to teach gerontology and co-found the Oregon chapter of the Gray Panthers, an advocacy group for the elderly. He also served as the director of Oregon Legal Services for the Elderly from 1977 to 1979 and was a member of the Oregon State Board of Examiners of Nursing Home Administrators before his election to represent Oregon's Third Congressional District in 1980.

In the Senate, he is the ranking member of the Finance Committee and serves on the Budget and Energy and Natural Resources Committees as well as the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence.

United States Congresswoman, Suzanne Bonamici, Oregon's First Congressional District

Suzanne first moved to Oregon from Michigan in the mid-1970s. She attended Lane Community College prior to earning a Bachelor of Science from the School of Journalism at the University of Oregon and a J.D. from the University of Oregon School of Law. After law school, Suzanne was an attorney for the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, D.C., where she was in the Credit Practices Division of the Bureau of Consumer Protection. She met her husband, Michael H. Simon, in Washington and in 1986 they settled in Portland.

In 2007, Suzanne was elected to her first term in the Oregon House of Representatives, representing House District 34 in Washington County. A year later, Suzanne was appointed to the Oregon Senate to represent District 17. Suzanne was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in a special election on January 31, 2012. She represents the First Congressional District of Oregon, which comprises the Northwest portion of the state.

Congresswoman Bonamici serves on the U.S. House Education and the Workforce Committee and is a member of the Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Elementary and Secondary Education. In her role on the committee, Congresswoman Bonamici has proposed legislation to improve the use of assessments in schools, expand opportunities for low-income college students and align career and technical education programs with workforce needs in the community. Last year Congresswoman Bonamici visited at least one school in every school district in the First Congressional District. Her conversations with students, teachers, and administrators continue to inform her work to make sure every student receives a well-rounded education. As part of that effort, Congresswoman Bonamici founded the bipartisan Congressional STEAM Caucus, which promotes integrating arts and design into STEM learning. STEAM education not only fosters creative thinking and innovation; it helps engage students who are traditionally underrepresented in STEM fields. Congresswoman Bonamici also serves on Science, Space and Technology Committee, where she is a champion for environmental research, ocean health and tsunami preparedness.

Kozinski was born in Bucharest, Romania, in July 1950. In 1962, his parents, both Holocaust survivors, brought him to the United States. The family settled in the Los Feliz neighborhood of Los Angeles, California, where his father, Moses, ran a small grocery store.

Kozinski graduated from the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1972 and in 1975 received a J.D. degree from the UCLA School of Law. Kozinski clerked for future Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy on the Ninth Circuit from 1975 to 1976, and then for Chief Justice of the United States Warren E. Burger from 1976 to 1977.

From June 5, 1981, to August 1982, Kozinski served as the first U.S. Special Counsel appointed by President Ronald Reagan. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit by President Reagan, making him the youngest federal appeals court judge at the time of appointment.

Notable Cases:

United States v. Ramirez-Lopez

The majority found the due process rights of a man accused of smuggling illegal immigrants across the border were not violated despite the fact that witnesses who could have exonerated him were deported before they could be deposed. Kozinski dissented. Federal prosecutors, however, dropped all charges and released the defendant.

Persistent population loss is a challenge for many rural communities, where young people leave to continue their education, find a better paying job or simply to gain life experiences in larger urban centers.
In 2014, Oregon State Economist Mark McMullen observed that young people are leaving rural areas because employment options are limited. This, coupled with companies failing to be established in the rural areas due to a lack of workers locally, is creating a destructive "negative, perpetuating cycle."

Panelists will discuss the recent economic forecast for coastal and rural regions and the unique challenges associated with maintaining an educated and healthy workforce in these areas. - Does the American Criminal Justice System Need an Overhaul?
 - From Communist Romania to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, with love.
- Discussion of Important Cases*
- Cetacean Research v. Sea Shepherd Conservation Soc'y, (9th Cir.2013)

The family settled in Los Angeles, California, where his father, Moses, ran a small grocery store.
