Senate Majority Leader Says Our Strongest Future Has All Oregonians Sharing in Rising Prosperity

SALEM, Ore. – Oregon’s Office of Economic Analysis this morning presented an economic and revenue forecast for the state. Senate Majority Leader Kayse Jama (D – E Portland, Damascus & Boring) responds with the following statement:

“Oregon working families are resilient, with more people able to keep their jobs as the economy regains ground lost to Trump's costly war and damaging tariff taxes. But many of our families are hanging on under serious pressure, with gas and utility prices way too high, and 35,000 families already losing food assistance to Trump cuts.

“Senate Democrats are fighting to bring down costs on life's essentials and to boost the kinds of Oregon businesses that create good jobs with better incomes. A growing economy is a good sign, but if the gains flow only to corporations and people at the top, simple growth isn't enough.

“Our strongest future is one where every Oregonian shares in our state's prosperity, and I believe we can get there together.”
