Revenue forecast tremendous news for Oregon

SALEM, Ore.-Senate Republican Leader Ted Ferrioli, of John Day, expressed optimism following the release of the revenue forecast released today.

Ferrioli said:

"The sky is not falling. Today's released revenue forecast is one of the greatest forecasts in recent memory.

"Oregon's economy is performing exceptionally well because of our small business tax reform and while other's have struggled, we have achieved sustained growth.

"Now, we can move forward with clear vision to provide the resources needed for our educators and students to reach their fullest potential, transform our transportation system, and fix our broken public pension system to protect current and future retirees."
